MOVE FOR WAR DEBTS SESSION GAINS HEADWAY

British Leaders to Visit Berlin After July 13 Geneva Meeting.

MELLON TALKS WITH NORMAN, MACDONALD

London Paper Says England Privately Invited Visit to Plan Revision.

London, June 18 (U.P.).—The movement for a conference of European statesmen to consider proposals for revision of war debts, particularly German reparations, appeared to be going ahead today with announcement that Prime Minister MacDonald and Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson would visit Berlin July 17.

Simultaneously it was reported in Geneva that Henderson had requested all European foreign ministers to meet there July 13, date of the scheduled meeting of the coordination committee of the European union commission.

The Journal de Geneve said the Henderson request was a result of the recent conference of German government officials with British officials at Chequers, when Chancellor Heinrich Bruening urged action to alleviate the German reparations burden.

Moratorium Seen in July.

Germany has been working toward conversations with various European government representatives with a view toward a reparations conference, and recent advices from Berlin said the government was considering a possible reparations moratorium in July, rather than August.

German representatives hope to discuss the situation with Andrew W. Mellon, United States Secretary of the Treasury, and Henry L. Stimson, United States Secretary of State, on their European tours.

Meanwhile, Mellon continued his conferences here with Government and financial leaders. He said his conversations were merely visits with old friends and not in any way official, but it was understood that measures for financial relief were discussed.

Mellon and Norman Confer.

Mellon met Montagu Norman for their second conference at Claridges. They talked for 90 minutes. Later Mellon paid another visit to MacDonald and Henderson at the House of Commons. Norman accompanied the American Secretary and they conferred for an hour.

It was understood Mellon will see Sir Josiah Stamp and other leading bankers on the question of gold distribution as well as war debts, continuing the conversations started by Owen D. Young on his last visit.

Mellon also will meet French and German diplomatic representatives in London before going on his Continental tour, on which he will study the European situation so as to inform President Hoover concerning conditions.

France Believed Involved.

It was understood tonight that Mellon's conferences with British officials were terminated for the time being.

At the same time observers were convinced that the American Secretary's visit was not "purely personal," as he insisted. The Daily Express, for instance, said the Government had privately invited Mellon to London for the purpose of discussing revision of war debts. It said a representative of the Bank of France was understood to have participated in the Mellon-Norman conversations and that Mellon was willing to discuss revision only on the condition that Britain immediately begins reduction of armaments and "joins an international boycott of Russia."

The questions of debt revision and arms reduction have been closely linked recently, with many observers convinced that only an agreement assuring the success of the forthcoming disarmament conference at Geneva would open the way for debt readjustment

Berlin Elated Over Visit.

Berlin, June 18 (A.P.).—The forthcoming visit to Berlin of the British statesmen, Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson, was the center of lively interest in the press and official circles today when it was learned they will arrive July 17.

At the foreign office much gratification was expressed that the British officials will repay the recent visit of Chancellor Heinrich Bruening and Foreign Minister Curtius to Chequers at this early date. In some circles it had not been expected MacDonald and Henderson would reach Berlin until autumn.

It was stressed, however, that the public must be guarded against expecting too much from the visit of the Englishmen. None the less, the approaching conferences are considered significant in that they will offer an opportunity to continue the frank and friendly discussions started two weeks ago at Chequers.

Franklin Fort Urges Combines Be Legalized

St. Louis, June 18 (U.P.).—Modification of the antitrust laws to eliminate the iron rigor of the prohibition of combinations "in restraint of trade" was proposed today by former Representative Franklin Fort, of New Jersey, a close friend of President Hoover, before the National Retail Credit Association.

Mr. Fort said that such combinations should be permitted if they are shown to be in the public interest, even if they do raise prices temporarily. "They should where industry is being conducted at a loss," he said.

Banks Cited to Show Rheem Deposit Data

Three Institutions Ordered to Produce Records at Hearing in Firm's Bankruptcy; Fourth Asked for Files Covering Howar's Affairs.

Subpenas yesterday requiring officials of three banks to produce ledger cards and deposit slips bearing on personal finances of Edmund D. Rheem, vice president of bankrupt Swartzell, Rheem & Hensey Co., at creditors' hearing resuming at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, were issued yesterday.

A fourth subpena ordered officers of another bank to bring before Referee in Bankruptcy Fred J. Eden, ledger cards for A. Joseph Howar, local builder, associated with Rheem in a number of real estate transactions.

All four were drawn at the request of Marcus Borchardt, attorney, after Rheem withdrew objections to the introduction of his personal financial status into creditors' hearings, through his counsel, Leon Tobriner. Both Mr. Borchardt and George L. Sullivan, representing another group of noteholders, had appealed to the District Supreme Court from a ruling of the referee that, as Rheem was not personally in bankruptcy, questions put at the creditors' inquiry must not bear on his finances as an individual.

The subpenas call for data on both Rheem and Howar, from the Riggs National Bank, covering a period from January 1, 1927, to the present day. The Security Savings & Commercial Bank and the Federal-American National Bank & Trust Co. are required to produce Rheem's personal record covering the same period, while the fourth subpena asks similar information on Howar from the Metropolitan National Bank. The subpenas were issued by the referee.

A formal petition was still pending before Justice Jennings Bailey in District Supreme Court yesterday, when Mr. Tobriner announced that he would withdraw his objections and permit creditors to delve into Rheem's finances. The way was thus opened for introduction of the bank records.

The creditors' phase of the investigation has been held up for several weeks pending a ruling on the point. Referee Eden said that in the absence of objections he would permit a wider range of questions at the hearings.

LEGATION RUM THEFT SUSPECT HELD BY POLICE

J. J. "Pud" Simonds, Long Sought, Is Arrested in Capital.

TO BE VIEWED TODAY BY FOREIGN ATTACHE

Brief Questioning Fails to Throw Much Light on Hijacking Case.

Police last night were holding for investigation John Joseph Simonds, alias "Pud" Simonds, whom they admit they have been seeking ever since the attempted theft of a quantity of liquor from the El Salvadorean Legation more than a month ago.

Simonds was arrested in downtown Washington late yesterday afternoon by Detective Sergeants Waldron, Ogle and O'Dea.

Capt. Edward Kelly, chief of the homicide squad, said the man was questioned at length yesterday, but little information was elicited.

Capt. Kelly said Simonds will be grilled again this morning, when Senor Dr. Don Carlos Leiva, head of the El Salvadorean Legation, will be brought to see the man.

Surprised Hijackers at Work.

Dr. Leiva surprised a quartet of hijackers removing cases of liquor from the legation early in the morning of May 13, and grappled with one of the men, whose finger he bit in the struggle.

Two men were arrested two days later, but were released when police failed to connect them in any way with the case.

Another Arrest Looms.

It was intimated last night at police headquarters that another arrest may be made in connection with the case.

No address was given by Simonds, who told police he was a mechanic. He was locked up last night at the Twelfth Precinct Station, where a charge of "investigation" still stood against his name.

FRANCE DELAYS FUNDS TO BUILD SUPER-CRUISER

APPROVE PRINCIPLE, AWAIT ARMS PARLEY

Proposal Will Be Studied in Interim; Construction Is Held Imperative.

Paris, June 18 (A.P.).—Following the advice of the Socialist deputy Paul Boncour, chairman of its foreign affairs committee, the Chamber of Deputies today voted to defer the proposal of the minister of marine to lay down a 23,333-ton battle cruiser to outclass Germany's recently constructed "pocket battleship" Deutschland.

The chamber, however, approved the principle of constructing such craft, as urged by Minister of Marine Dumont, and referred the question back to its naval affairs committee and technical experts for further study.

Boncour urged his colleagues not to commence the construction of large navy units on the eve of the 1932 world disarmament conference at Geneva. He hoped, he said, France would take the lead in a general reduction of navy costs before the conference is held.

Appropriation Is Halved.

The amendment which was adopted was proposed by Louis Loucheur, war-time minister of munitions and post-war minister of finance, commerce and public works.

By adopting the Loucheur amendment the chamber authorized the minister of marine to spend $20,000,000 during the 1931-32 budgetary period and up to 1935 instead of nearly $44,000,000 as originally demanded. This appropriation allows funds for the study of the problems of constructing the 23,333-ton ship, but it was stipulated that fixing the tonnage for those ships and awarding contracts must be submitted anew for parliament's approval.

The rest of the program, including two 7,500-ton cruisers and some auxiliary craft, was approved

Minister of Marine Dumont, pleading for the 23,333-ton ship, said that the German ship, Deutschland, has an immense cruising radius which would permit her to go and come between Rio De Janeiro and Brest. He conjured up a spectacle of six such ships rushing back and forth across the Atlantic and capable of cutting communications between Brest, Dakar and Fort De France.

Urged to Protect Convoys.

"Our 10,000-ton and 8,000-ton cruisers," Dumont said, "could not protect our convoys against the attacks of a Deutschland or a Leipsic. France wishes only to maintain the security of her faraway communications. That is vitally necessary; that's why we demand the principle of 23,000-ton ships and we in no wise reduce the possibility of discussion and initiative at the disarmament conference."

Dumont was vigorously supported by former Premier and former Minister of Marine Georges Leygues, who

Mexican State Sets Priest Number Limit

Papal Nuncio Defies New Vera Cruz Law Passed Overnight; One Cleric to Each 100,000 People Is Ruling.

Mexico City, June 18 (A.P.).—The State of Vera Cruz today put into effect a law adopted last night to restrict the number of priests to one for each 100,000 inhabitants.

Archbishop Leopoldo Ruiz y Flores, papal nuncio, immediately announced he would refuse to name eleven priests allowed to officiate in Vera Cruz under the measure. He added that the priests had been ordered to remain at their churches and continue services, despite the new law, enforcement of which would mean the "virtual closing of churches in Vera Cruz, so far as priests are concerned."

The opinion is expressed that the priests will be ejected from the churches by state authorities and will then apply to the courts for injunctions. The law provides for fines of $500 for each violation.

At present there are more than 2,000 churches in Vera Cruz. The state has a population of about 1,100,000, mostly Catholic, which would permit 11 priests. Since there are three bishops, only eight other priests would be allowed.

The papal nuncio's attitude was announced today after his conference with Bishop Rafael Guizar y Valencia of Vera Cruz, and Bishop Genaro Mendez of Tehuantepec. Ruiz said he might appeal to President Ortiz Rubio for federal action against the law. He previously protested to the president before passage of the measure.

The archbishop also said he had received confirmation of reports that Jose de Jesus Cano, a Catholic priest of Huatusco, Vera Cruz, had been ambushed and seriously wounded Tuesday. It was reported the priest was shot as he was riding home after giving last religious rites to a dying person in a nearby village.

Ruiz also said he had been informed the parish house at Huatusco was besieged by Communists and was defended by armed Agrarians who, he declared, had taken a stand favorable to the church.

HATLESS TRIO HOLDUPS LAID TO 2 CAPTIVES

Third Suspect Is Hunted as Victim Identifies Youths in Jail.

CAR WRECK LEADS TO VIRGINIA ARREST

Prisoners Are Alleged by Police to Have Made Confessions.

Washington's "hatless bandit" mystery, which for two weeks has kept police on their toes as store after store was visited by three elusive robbers, appeared solved last night following arrest of two men and their alleged confession to five hold-ups. A third man is being sought.

Those held are Nicholas Vasilion, 22, and Peter Sala, 23, both of Newark, N. J.

The men were turned over to Washington police by Alexandria authorities, after their car turned over on Hunting Creek road near Hardbower's place. The car they were driving, listed in the name of Charles B. Miller, of 421 Cumming lane, Chevy Chase, Md., was stolen from Fifteenth and I streets northwest, Tuesday night.

Fled After Alleged Holdup Attempt.

According to Capt. Edward Kelly, who returned to police headquarters from his home to question the men, both admit fleeing the city for Richmond, Va., Tuesday night following the hold-up of the delicatessan store operated by Leon Goodwin, at 1039 Bladensburg road northeast.

Goodwin's cries for help when one of the men poked a gun in his ribs and grappled with him attracted the attention of his wife, who set their dog on them.

A motorcycle policeman gave chase, but was quickly outdistanced. Vasilion and Sala were returning to Washington yesterday in the same car when the accident occurred. Their car rolled over several times, but the two managed to extricate themselves unhurt. Policeman Smoots, of the Alexandria force, took them into custody on charges of investigation.

Victim Identifies Pair.

It was when their luggage was examined by Washington detectives and two money bags were discovered which, it is said, were associated at once with the hold-up of a drug store on Wisconsin avenue June 8, that the men were connected with the "hatless trio" series of robberies.

At the 7 o'clock line-up at headquarters Dr. Edwin Cockey, proprietor of the pharmacy at 1506 Wisconsin avenue, identified the two as part of the trio that participated in the hold-up of his store, police said.

Other hold-ups which police say the two men admit they are connected with are:

Robbery of the store of Leon Bauman, at 1452 D street northeast, on the night of May 30.

The drug store of Dr. Ray H. Behler, 3936 Georgia avenue northwest, June 15.

Vasilion told police he was a former enlisted man in the Army and was stationed here at Walter Reed Hospital about a year ago. He said he was mustered out of the service March 29 and for a month worked for his brother in Newark. He said he had been here a little more than two weeks.

"Must Have Been Crazy."

Asked by Capt. Kelly what his motive was in the robberies, he said: "I must have been crazy." He said he met Sala in Washington.

Charles E. Miller, owner of the stolen car, said he parked his automobile on I street near Fifteenth street northwest shortly after 7 o'clock Tuesday night. He was in a hurry, he said, to get to his office at 1000 Connecticut avenue northwest, and in his haste neglected to lock the machine.

Returning at 9:30, he found the car missing. A report was made to police and yesterday he was notified that the machine had been demolished in an accident.

4 FLIERS GROUNDED FOR MARION AFFAIR

Definite Ruling Expected Today Against Airmen Who Vexed Hoover.

Columbus, Ohio, Jue 18 (A.P.).—Licenses of four Columbus aviators were temporarily suspended late today by Department of Commerce Aeronautics Inspector H. F. Rough, of Detroit, in connection with the flight of airplanes last Tuesday during the Harding Memorial dedication at Marion, Ohio, which it was claimed interfered with the addresses.

Aviators affected are Harry Distlehorst, John Corrodi, and Joseph Mackey, of the Curtiss-Wright Flying Service, and Grant Melvin, a private pilot, Curtiss-Wright officials here said. Orders came by telephone from Washington.

The flying service said Inspector Rough previously had said he saw no violation of flying rules by any of the four pilots during the addresses of President Hoover and other speakers at the memorial.

The pilots for the flying service were carrying news pictures from Marion to various points in Ohio.

(Associated Press.)

Secretary Lamont will decide today the Commerce Department's attitude toward the aviators who, President Hoover complained, disturbed the Harding Memorial dedication ceremonies Tuesday at Marion.

A report on the incident was received late yesterday from the Detroit office of the aviation branch. While it was closely guarded pending scrutiny and decision by Lamont, indications were given that disciplinary action had been recommended against some of the fliers.

President Hoover demanded that the aviation branch "make an example" of the fliers, whose motors virtually drowned out the voice of former President Coolidge and interfered with the Chief Executive's speech. Mr. Hoover was similarly disturbed during his address at Valley Forge on Memorial Day.

If the findings of Inspector H. F. Rough, of Detroit, who yesterday ordered the four men temporarily suspended, are upheld by Secretary Lamont, the penalty may be revocation of the pilots' licenses for varying periods, a fine of $500, or both.

Hit-Run Driver Is Sought.

The hit-and-run driver who struck Policeman G. R. Browning early yesterday at Georgia and Colorado avenues northwest, inflicting minor injuries, is being sought by police. Browning was talking to a group of tourists, when the car, containing four persons, sped by. He was able to give a description of the automobile.

CARDINAL INFORMED OF OFFICIAL OUSTER

Spain, by Letter, Notifies Primate of Exile to Preserve Order.

Madrid, June 18 (A.P.).—In a letter directed to Cardinal Primate Pedro Segura, now in exile in France, President Alcala Zamora tonight informed the cardinal he was expelled from Spain "to preserve the public order."

President Alcala Zamora's letter, which was in reply to a letter the cardinal wrote to him before his expulsion from the country, was written after a five-hour session of the cabinet tonight. It was understood to represent the attitude of the other members of the cabinet.

While insisting that he lamented the cardinal's expulsion, the president said he hoped the prelate would "voluntarily stay outside of Spain for some time."

Replying to the Primate's protest that while he was a prisoner at Guadalajara, the governor of that place failed to visit him, the president said:

"This ought not to surprise you, since you on your return to Spain did not visit the governor of Toledo.

"I am happy to know that you found all those comforts which, you first said, were denied you while you were en route to France, and I am glad that you are alive and in such good health in spite of rpports of your illness while you were detained."

The government did not reveal what steps it would take in reply to the formal protest of the Holy See against Cardinal Segura's expulsion, although it was believed that the cabinet discussed this also. The president held a long conference during the day with Papal Nuncio Tedeschini.

In his reply to Cardinal Segura the president said that he was sorry he was unable to maintain the same friendship with the cardinal as with the majority of other Spanish prelates. When the cardinal left Spain the first time, the president said, he was not expelled, "nevertheless the government understood from a papal nuncio that the cardinal's stay in Rome would be prolonged while the government was negotiating with the Vatican for his successor."

The cardinal, he said, returned secretly to Spain while negotiations were still in progress.

Employe of Navy Yard Stricken at Work, Dies

Joseph M. Keefe, 54 years old, of 816 K street northwest, collapsed while at work in the gun carriage shop at the navy yard yesterday, and died a few moments later.

The man was taken to the navy yard dispensary, but medical officers pronounced him dead on arrival. His death was due to heart disease, according to navy yard officials.

Police Fight Mob At Dublin Prison

Dublin, Irish Free State, June 18 (A.P.).—A dozen persons were injured tonight as police fought with a group of demonstrators protesting against the treatment of political prisoners at Mount Joy Prison here. A number of arrests were made.

After holding a public meeting under auspices of the Prisoners Defense League the large crowd of men and women marched to the prison and started a disturbance. A cordon of police was drawn around the structure and those who tried to force a way through were thrown back.

Speakers attempted to address the crowd from motor trucks, but they were pulled down by the police. Chairs and sticks were used as weapons and a free-for-all fight ensued.

Freight Rate Appeal Protested, Defended

(Associated Press.)

Opposition to the proposed 15 per cent increase in freight rates developed yesterday in letters to President Hoover and the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Several communications urging quick, favorable action on the petition of the roads also were received.

Representative Evans, (Democrat), Montana, Senator Shipstead, (Farmer-Labor), Minnesota, Carl Williams, cotton member of the Federal Farm Board, the North Dakota Railroad Commission and the Wyoming Stock Dealers Association protested. From merchants, manufacturers, securities dealers and private citizens came further opposition.

Many of the protests asserted that rates, especially on farm products, were already too high. Some predicted disaster both to business generally and the railroads if the Commission grants the increase.

Williams, speaking as an individual, said any increase in freight rates on farm products would be most "unpopular." The farmer believes rates too high now, he continued, adding that there was justification for this attitude.

Representative Evans expressed the opinion an increase would be destructive to shippers, suicidal for the railroads, and plunge the whole country into greater distress.

"A general increase in railroad rates at any time is an attack on the income of commerce and agriculture," wrote Senator Shipstead. He suggested that the commission tell the railroads to "be patient" and "in the meantime take their losses with the rest of us."

The Wyoming Stock Dealers Association in convention at Lander, on June 3, adopted a resolution protesting any increase.

The North Dakota Railroad Commission opposed the increase on the ground that higher rates would impose an undue burden on agriculture.

William E. Bird, of New York, urged granting the increase speedily. Such action, he said, would give jobs to many men and improve business conditions.

Suggestions for betterment of the railroad situation took several forms. Some protestants wanted railroad wages reduced. The United States Fisheries Association suggested that instead of a rate raise railroad taxes be reduced and assessed against motor trucks. Others thought the commission and the railroads should find means of reducing railroad overhead expense.

The National Grange plans to file a brief with the commission in opposition to the increase.

Methods of procedure in handling the application of the railroads for a 15 per cent rate increase will be discussed at a meeting tomorrow of members of the Interstate Commerce Commission and the committee on cooperation of the National Association of Railroad and Utilities Commissioners.

John E. Benton, general solicitor of the organization, said the confer-

Rumor of Woman in Ranks Perplexes Foreign Legion

Officers Order Soldiers to Showers as Systematic Search Is Made; German Girl's Masquerade Was Successful for Six Months.

Sidi Bel Abbes, Algeria, June 18 (U.P.).—The Foreign Legion has begun a systematic search to determine the truth of a report which has circulated persistently to the effect that there is a woman masquerading as a man in the ranks of France's "hard-boiled" army.

The Legion officers have been forced to take cognizance of the report, chiefly because it has happened in the past that women actually have been found masquerading among the desert soldiers.

Each squad of the Legion was ordered to the showers for inspection and the program will be continued until it is determined if the report is true.

Despite the vigilance of medical examiners, the Legion records show that a woman enlisted and fought against the Moors for six months in 1908. She was the twin sister of a German boy who ran away from home to join the Legion. The girl so admired her brother that she dressed as a boy and followed him. They resembled each other and the boy was able to take the medical examination for both. Once within the ranks the girl underwent terrific hardships in the Sahara, often falling out of ranks. It was six months, however, before a situation arose when her brother could not aid her in carrying out the duplicity. She was ordered to the showers when he was away and she confessed to the officer that she was a woman.

POPE AND MUSSOLINI ABATE RESTRICTIONS

Rome, June 18 (A.P.).—Pope Pius and Premier Mussolini are moderating their restrictive measures while diplomats carry on negotiations looking toward the restoration of accord between them.

The Pope today lifted his prohibition on church processions, thus restoring much of the color to Italian life, and Mussolini is continuing to permit the reopening of some of the clubs for Catholic laymen which he closed.

The permission to hold the processions, however, will be left to the discretion of the bishop in each diocese. The bishops have been instructed to investigate and to permit the processions only where the temper and the discipline of the people warrant.

Within a few days it is expected church processions will be permitted throughout Italy and about one-fourth or one-fifth of the clubs affected by the premier's order again will be functioning.

The papal order restoring the processions applied first to the archdiocese of Naples, presumably because much feeling has been aroused in that region by the absence of this picturesque feature of ecclesiastical activity. The order is expected shortly to be extended to other dioceses.

Coincident with the Pope's action came a charge by the newspaper Osservatore Romano that Fascists have generated antichurch demonstrations on the part of both Fascists and supposed Catholics. Carlo Scorsa, head of the Fascist University students of Italy, is personally accused of inciting manifestations.

The reopening of the Catholic clubs has occurred without official announcement, a policy that has marked many other features of the controversy. Vatican circles estimate that several thousand will be allowed to resume operations. It is said that some organizations were closed by mistake.

The order granting them permission to reopen applies to those that were strictly religious or concerned only with purely church or parish work.

Mussolini's closing order, it is said, will remain fully effective against Catholic youth clubs for social or sporting activities similar to those of the vast Fascist organization which by law alone has the right to operate such societies.

It was under the application of this law that the Knights of Columbus playgrounds had to close, although they were unaffiliated with the Catholic Action Society, while the Y. M. C. A. was allowed to operate because it was connected with the Fascist Balilla, or young men's organization.

BUMPER CROP VIEWS CHEER HOOVER TOUR

President, Home, Optimistic as Result of Middle-Western Trip.

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover came back to the White House last night cheerful and optimistic over conditions he observed on his four days tour of the Central States.

His views were expressed informally to members of the party as the special train traveled through fields of ripening harvests in crossing West Virginia and Virginia yesterday.

Prospects for bumper crops visible throughout the trip apparently contributed to the hopes entertained by the President. Yesterday's route led across a stretch of last year's ruinous drought belt.

Reaching the Capital from Springfield, Ill., at 3:25 o'clock in the afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Hoover motored to the White House and a few minutes later the President was at his desk putting in some work on the accumulation of mail that had piled up since his departure Sunday night. A conference with Secretary Stimson followed.

The President came back to Washington determined to stand on the policies he outlined in his speeches in the Middle West and he made it clear he planned no other extended trips away from the Capital.

Some concern was expressed in the presidential party that the trip was being interpreted as a political one and it was stated on the President's behalf that he regarded himself as President of all the people and not just of Republicans.

Republican leaders who joined the Presidential Special at various points were eager to discuss politics and were frank in their expressions of hope of a favorable reaction to Mr. Hoover's utterances in this territory where Democrats scored gains in the last congressional election. Senator Glenn, of Illinois, returned here with him.

The President at Indianapolis before the Indiana Republican Editorial Association named the business depression as the "dominant" problem of the day, and upon that issue he is apparently determined to face next year's campaign.

The trip into Ohio, Indiana and Illinois was the farthest West he has gone since entering the White House, and he took advantage of opportunities to appear before the people from the rear platform of his train at all stops.

Hot weather prevailed through most of the busy program and every minute in the stops at the State capitals was occupied, but the President seemed none the worse for the experience.

Infant Is Crushed to Death Under Father's Car Wheels

Baby Crawls Beneath Auto Unnoticed, While Boys Rock Machine to Start; Small Brother's Cries Draw Attention to Lifeless Form.

Maynard Seldon Burkeholder, 2 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd B. Burkeholder, was crushed to death under the wheels of his father's automobile yesterday afternoon.

The child's death occurred at the Burkeholder home on the Lee highway two miles east of Fairfax. According to the parent's statement, Burkeholder was attempting to start his car when the starter jammed. As he sat at the wheel of his car three of his sons and a neighbor, Arthur Sweeney, rocked the machine in an attempt to start it.

Cries of 4-year-old Macon Ware Burkeholder told them the baby was under the car. Looking down they found the infant had crawled beneath the auto unnoticed and that one of the wheels was resting on his chest.

No outcry had been made by the baby. He was rushed to Fairfax, where he was pronounced dead by Dr. E. S. Waring.

Funeral service will be tomorrow afternoon at the Burkeholder home, followed by interment in Fairfax Cemetery. The child is survived by one sister, Ellen, and four brothers, Frederick, Franklin, Robert and Macon Ware, and his father and mother.

GUNMAN'S MISTAKE LEADS TO 3 COUNTS

Schultz, Beer Baron, May Face Probe by U. S. in War on Gangs.

New York, June 18 (A.P.).—Arthur Flegenheimer, known in gangland, where he is recognized as a "big shot" in the beer business, as "Dutch Schultz," learned today that what he termed a mistake was destined to cause him much trouble and inconvenience.

Schultz, arrested outside his spacious Fifth avenue apartment, where he had been living under assumed respectability, was a prisoner in the West Side Jail, unable to furnish $150,000 bail fixed by Magistrate Burke as the price of his temporary freedom.

He is held on three charges—acting in concert in felonious assault and two counts of violating the Sullivan antifirearms law. He was carrying a .38-caliber automatic pistol when arrested.

The gangster said a case of mistaken identity led to his present plight and the shooting of one of his hoodlum followers, Daniel Amacio, who died tonight in a hospital from a wound in the abdomen. Amacio was shot as he drew his revolver when he, Schultz and three other gangsters were approached by two detectives as they stood outside the beer runner's apartment. He mistook them for enemy gangsters.

Police questioned Schultz, but were unable to ascertain the identity of the three gangsters who escaped by leaping over a low wall of Central Park. Losing his bravado, Schultz cringed before his police interrogators and did not regain composure until given a sedative by a physician.

Schultz also faced the prospect of being questioned by Federal authorities in their concerted drive to rid the country of gangsters. Police said his arrest might lead to new developments in a gun fight in the Club Abbey last April, of which Schultz denied all knowledge at the time.

Today he told police he had been wounded three times and two other bullets had struck his bullet-proof vest.

(Associated Press.)

Attorney General Mitchell believes the Government's success in its campaign against Al Capone shows that gang leaders can be eliminated "if you have honest men on the job and a real purpose."

Nation-wide Drive Not Planned.

Mitchell said yesterday the Justice Department intended to "hit out at the gangster problem wherever it becomes particularly obnoxious," but that his branch of the Government was not now planning any Nation-wide drive throughout the larger cities.

From other Government agencies word has come during the past week that gangster activities would be investigated not only in New York, but also in such cities as Philadelphia, Detroit, Cleveland and St. Louis.

"There are certain things that Federal agents can and will do regularly," Mitchell said, "but in the last analysis it is a local problem. It is true, however, that by such work as was done in Chicago we hope to inspire local authorities."

The Attorney General was reluctant to comment upon the Federal anti-gangster drive now in progress in New York beyond saying that Justice Department agents were at work there. He said he was uncertain whether a man would be sent from Washington to coordinate the work of the various governmental agencies as was the case in Chicago.

Capone Arrest Termed "Climax in Hypocrisy"

(Associated Press.)

Events leading up to the arrest of Al Capone for violations of the income tax and prohibition laws were characterized yesterday by Henry H. Curran, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, as "a thrilling climax in administrative hypocrisy."

Curran asserted that never before had a situation existed as "now we see it in the papers every day" where the Government was "trying to lock a man up for his (prohibition) felonies with one hand and with the other hand trying to collect a good income tax out of the fruits of his felonies."

"While Mr. Mitchell edges him (Capone) up to the jail," Curran said, "Mr. Mellon halts him at the door to make a thrifty touch for the Capone liquor income tax."

MEXICAN STATE SETS PRIEST NUMBER LIMIT

Archbishop Ruiz today blamed the Vera Cruz governor, Adalberto Tejeda, for the new law.

"He shows the real true ideals of a Communist, and this is a premeditated attack on the Catholic Church, designed to retain the support of certain bad elements among his followers," the archbishop said.

"At the very time when the Catholic Church longs for peace, and is biding time for an opportune moment to better our condition in Mexico, it is most unfortunate that this man decides to stir up our people by attacking the church."

He added that he still hoped something would happen to "kill the law."

some of the stops along the way yesterday. One at Clifton Forge, Va., said trout fishing down there was fine and urged the President to stop.

"That is the most encouraging thing I have heard," said the President in declining the invitation.

At Charlottesville, Va., he asked the secretary of the chamber of commerce about business conditions and was told "things are all right, but you can't get them all to admit it."

Confidence in the future was advocated by Mr. Hoover in his discussion of the depression at Indianapolis.

Navy Lets Lubricating Oil Contracts.

(Associated Press.)

Contracts for lubricating oil totaling $540,262.13 to be delivered during the 1932 fiscal year were let yesterday by the Navy Department. The largest single contract went to the Sinclair Refining Co. for delivery at East Coast navy yards and stations, various States and

CANADIAN MINISTER GREETED BY ENVOYS

W. D. Herridge Will Give Credentials to Hoover Early Next Week.

Traveling alone, W. D. Herridge, the new Canadian Minister to the United States, arrived in Washington yesterday. Today he will call on Secretary of State Stimson, and early next week will present his credentials to President Hoover.

Canada has not had a Minister here for a year. The last one, Vincent Massey, was about to become the Canadian High Commissioner in London when there was a change in government at Ottawa.

Mr. Herridge, who entered the World War as a private and came out as a major with a breast laden with hero medals, is the brother-in-law of Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, having married the latter's sister, Mildred Bennett, about two months ago. He left his bride in Canada when he came to Washington, and it is expected that after he has called on President Hoover he will return to her.

Last September the State Department sent a note to the Canadian government suggesting that the two countries get together and plan a start on the St. Lawrence waterway project. This note has not yet been answered. It is expected that Minister Herridge will outline to President Hoover his government's attitude with regard to the project.

Upon his arrival yesterday Minister Herridge was greeted by Sir Ronald Lindsay, the British Ambassador; Michael MacWhite, the Irish Minister; Col. Hanford MacNider, the American Minister to Canada; Hume Wrong, the Charge d'Affaires of the Canadian Legation; Hugh Scallon, the Charge d'Affaires of the South African Legation, and members of the staffs of the various British missions.

Maryland Man Appeals Fine in Assault Case

Roy Heavrin, of Woodmont, Md., was fined $15 yesterday in the Rockville Police Court on charges of assaulting Russell Albert, of this city.

Albert, it was said, went to the Heavrin home on June 3 to collect a bill. During an argument which ensued Heavrin, it is alleged, struck Albert with a large stick. A warrant charging Heavrin with assault was sworn out. Subsequently Mrs. Heavrin appealed to the police, declaring that during the argument Albert struck her violently on the arm. The case against Albert was dismissed yesterday and Heavrin was ordered to pay the fine. He appealed the verdict to the circuit court.

Ford Urges Probe Of Detroit Doles

Request for Motor Firm to Aid Former Workers Brings Rebuff.

Detroit, Mich., June 18 (A.P.).—Detroit's request that the Ford Motor Co. undertake the care of the families of 3,200 former Ford employes, now drawing municipal doles, today brought a counter-demand from the Ford company for a grand jury investigation of the city's welfare department.

The request, which was addressed to Edsel Ford, president of the Ford company, by Thomas E. Dolan, superintendent of the welfare department, was answered by letters from Mr. Ford and Harry H. Bennett, director of the Ford company's service department.

Mr. Ford told Mr. Dolan that his request for directions as to where to send the 3,200 cases mentioned was best answered by the fact that "bona fide Ford employes already know where to apply, if in any difficulties."

Mr. Bennett's letter charged the welfare department with "negligence which, when completely known, will shock the City of Detroit," and intimated that political influences were at work in the department, and that Mayor Frank Murphy was trying "to draw a red herring across the trail."

Smoot's Trip Here Puzzles Leaders

Visit Next Week Believed in Interest of World Silver Parley.

(Associated Press.)

Word that Chairman Smoot, of the Senate finance committee, was en route to Washington from Utah started speculation in political circles yesterday on the purpose of the visit.

Smoot's office confirmed reports that the senator would arrive here Sunday morning, but professed no knowledge of why he was coming.

In some quarters the opinion was expressed the visit might concern possible action looking toward an international silver conference or discussions with administration officials on war debts and reparations payments.

Smoot recently proposed a conference of international business leaders to discuss the silver problem. He made this suggestion after receiving a telegram from President Hoover saying other nations had expressed opposition to such a meeting of Government officials.

Victim of Hit-Run Car Carolina Man

Rogers Mack, 27 years old, resident of Durham, N. C., is in Emergency Hospital in a serious condition, victim of a hit-and-run accident in Virginia Highlands.

He was discovered in an unconscious condition by the side of the road. It is believed he was struck by a speeding automobile as he stepped from a trolley.

Mack, still unconscious, was brought to the hospital by the Jefferson District Fire Rescue Squad, and hospital attaches said he was suffering from a fracture of the skull, concussion of the brain and numerous cuts and abrasions. He was identified from papers found upon him as living at 1014 Green street, Durham. His father, John

VANDERBILT'S TALE MYTH, SAY COUNSEL

Lawyers for Arno and Mrs. Vanderbilt Give New Version of Clash.

Reno, Nev., June 18 (U.P.).—An entirely new version of the trouble between Cornelius Vanderbilt, jr., author, and Peter Arno, New York illustrator, was told tonight by William Woodburn, attorney for Mrs. Vanderbilt, as a pending separation suit was dismissed.

Woodburn's statement preceded a scheduled conference of Sam Platt, attorney for Vanderbilt, and himself, on the separate maintenance suit Mrs. Vanderbilt intends to file. The conference was postponed until Friday.

Vanderbilt claimed he chased Arno from his home Monday morning and tried to fire at the cartoonist, but his revolver was empty, Arno has denied knowledge of the chase.

"Mr. Arno and Mrs. Vanderbilt arrived home Sunday morning from a party at the home of mutual friends," Woodburn said. "Before Mr. Vanderbilt arrived home they were in the house talking.

"When Mr. Vanderbilt entered the three of them talked amiably. Then Arno went home, parting as a friend.

"The next day Mr. Vanderbilt telephoned Mr. Arno, threatening to pump him full of lead.

"Mr. Vanderbilt also threatened to shoot Mrs. Vanderbilt Monday night. Mr. Arno and True Venkill, a friend of Mrs. Vanderbilt, came to my house to see me about it. The next day Mr. Arno told the police."

Woodburn and Clyde Souther, attorney for Arno, both said they believed the whole affair had been fabricated by Vanderbilt. Souther added:

"Arno believes in justice and his discussion will be limited to the mere statement of fact that his relation to Mrs. Vanderbilt has always been eminently proper."

JURY VIEWS NOOSE USED TO KILL GIRL

Vivian Gordon's Death Garb Produced in Court as Counsel Wrangle.

New York, June 18 (A.P.).—From a noose of slender rope and the last costume of Vivian Gordon, the State today began fashioning its murder case against a former convict and a tailor.

Counsel for the alleged stranglers, Harry Stein and Samuel Greenberg, characterized the prosecution's story a "contemptible frame-up" and unexpectedly projected into the trial the name of Noel Scaffa, private investigator, who frequently has figured in the recovery of large amounts of stolen jewelry. Scaffa, the defense said, supplied the police with one of the links in its chain of evidence.

Briefly, I. P. J. Adlerman, chief assistant district attorney in the Bronx, recited admissions from Harry Schlitten, a chauffeur, who, he said, was ready to tell of driving Stein, Greenberg and Miss Gordon on a night ride into the Bronx last February, on which the former two allegedly drew a noose about the woman's throat until she emitted "one cackle" and then tossed her body into Van Cortlandt Park.

The prosecutor did not specifically advance a motive for the crime, but he did quote Stein as saying to Schlitten on obtaining Schlitten as a driver: "I want to help a friend of mine who will go to jail unless a certain party is put out of the way."

After presenting details of the finding of Miss Gordon's body the State placed her garments before the jury, piece by piece.

Sharp exchanges between opposing counsel and admonitions from the presiding judge to Samuel Leibowitz, defense attorney, centered about the custody and care of a rope noose from the time the police said it was removed from Miss Gordon's throat until its presentation in court.

WALES PROPAGANDA ALLEGATION DENIED

(United Press.)

The Commercial Counselor of the British Embassy and an official of the Department of Commerce disputed yesterday over whether British statesmen, including the Prince of Wales, have indulged in anti-United States trade propaganda in Argentina.

George Jackson Eder, chief of the Commerce Department Latin-American division, in an article published by the Carnegie Endowment for Peace, said the British trade slogan in Argentina, "Buy from those who buy from us," has been used for anti-American propaganda. He added "the Prince of Wales himself harped on the same familiar theme in his speech at the inauguration of the British Empire Trade Exposition in Buenos Aires."

Eder expressed the opinion anti-American propaganda in the Argentine has been ineffective and made it clear he was giving only his own personal views.

H. O. Chalkley, Commercial Counselor of the British Embassy, just transferred from Argentina to Washington, took exception to Eder's assertions.

"If anything, the British in Argentina have indulged in pro-American propaganda," Chalkley said, "such as advice that has been given to our merchants that they would do well to emulate American methods, is certainly not anti-American propaganda, but pro-American. It is very good advertising for Americans."

It was learned the British Embassy will make no official representations to the United States regarding the Eder article, inasmuch as Eder said he was expressing only his own views.

HURLEY MAY VISIT PHILIPPINE ISLANDS

Secretary Has Conferred With Leading Advocate of Country's Independence.

(Associated Press.)

Secretary Hurley is again considering a trip of inspection to the Philippine Islands and may leave Washington about August 1 for Manila. The War Department, through the Bureau of Insular Affairs, has direct charge of the Philippines.

During the past two weeks the Secretary has been conferring with Manuel Quezon, president of the Philippine Senate and an advocate of island independence, the latest conference having taken place yesterday. On Hurley's orders, Maj. Gen. Frank R. McCoy, commander of the Fourth Corps Area, came to the Capital from Atlanta and joined in the discussions. He is an expert on colonial questions generally and one of the Army's principal authorities on the Philippines.

The advice of Secretary Stimson, who left the governor generalship of the Philippines to become Secretary of State, also was sought.

No indication has been given as to the exact lines followed in the discussions.

Secretary Hurley first planned during the spring to visit the islands, but the work of the War Policies Commission interfered. Later he planned a vacation trip in August to the Dublin Horse Show in Ireland, but will abandon that plan if he decides to go to the Philippines.

A number of senators and representatives are studying the Philippines at first hand this summer, and it has been forecast that the independence question again will be brought before Congress at the next session.

Boy Is Struck Down by Auto.

Struck down by an automobile in front of 519 Ninth street northeast, 7-year-old Jackie Hall, of that address, was treated at Casualty Hospital late yesterday for injuries to his mouth. Police say the automobile was operated by Stephen A. Chumbris, 1123 Fourth street northeast. Jackie was removed to Casualty in a passing car.

MONTGOMERY'S TAX RATE NOT INCREASED

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post, 9103 Conn. Ave., North Chevy Chase, Md. Telephone Wisconsin 4205.

Despite a $72,139.93 increase in the budget, Montgomery County's tax rate will remain the same in the ensuing fiscal year, according to the tentative budget and tax rate approved yesterday by the Montgomery County Commissioners.

The budget totals $1,184,383.28 for the 1931-1932 fiscal year, which begins July 1 as against $1,112,243.35 for the year just being completed. The same tax rate will prevail in the new fiscal year, $1.30 per $100 on real and personal property and 30 cents per $100 on securities. The commissioners balanced the budget without increasing the tax rate and without making any use of the emergency short-term note issues authorized by the 1931 Legislature.

The budget provides the entire increase in school-operating funds asked by the board of education upon the recommendation of County Superintendent of Schools Edwin W. Broome. The increase for school operating purposes is $53,857, which does not include increased bond costs due to the construction of new schools in the next two years.

Police Costs Increase.

An increase of police costs of $17,945 is shown in the budget. The operation of the police and school systems without an operating deficit in the next two years is assured by these increases, county officials believe. The largest increase shown in the budget is the item for bond retirements and interest, for which an increase of $68,249.36 is shown.

The $3,000,000 increase in new assessed valuation on new property, which will be taxed for the first time, provides an addition of $39,000 to the county revenue. This $3,000,000 increase will bring the county taxable basis to $84,558,190. The increase is 50 per cent higher than that relied upon by the Montgomery County Civic Federation, the Montgomery County Commissioners and other county officials in January as the amount required to support the new bond issues for schools, roads and bridges as approved by the federation and county officials and the Montgomery Government Club.

An increase of $6,000 for county auditors is shown in the budget, making the total for this service $7,200. The budget also includes all of the salary increases authorized by the 1931 session of the State Legislature.

The budget, upon which is based the annual levy and tax rate, is prepared in tentative form in order that the Montgomery Civic Federation, the Montgomery Government Club and other interested organizations and citizens can have an opportunity to study the figures and be heard on its provisions at the meeting of the commissioners next Thursday, at which time the annual levy and tax rate is expected to be approved formally.

Main Items in Budget.

Main items shown in the budget are as follows: Attorneys, $4,415; assessors, $8,400; auditors, $7,200; building inspectors, $5,500; bond retirement and interest, $358,433.02; clerk of circuit court, $2,193; court expenses, $10,360; county commissioners and clerks, $25,600; county treasurer and clerks, $19,750; county home, $6,000; disbursement committee, $3,400; elections, 50 per cent of election costs, $15,000; fuel, $2,000; indigent insane, $8,000; insolvencies, $1,000; incorporated towns and special taxing areas, $18,548.52; janitors, courthouse, $4,140; juvenile court, $3,000; jail warden, $900; jail expenses, $3,000; law library, $300; local board of health, $2,313; Montgomery County Farm Bureau, $1,500; Maryland Training Schools, $5,600; Montgomery County home demonstration office, $1,495; Montgomery County cattle testing, $3,000; county roads, $33,420; orphans' court, $3,000; pauper coffins, $2,384.75; public schools, $498,544; Social Service League, $10,000; county aid, $12,000; police court and police force, $64,385; supervisor of assessments, $3,200; sheriffs, $9,400; supervisor of county aid, $2,700; removed court cases, $226.50; taxes in error, $157.04; volunteer fire departments, $14,500; miscellaneous, $9,418.

The taxable bases on which the levy is made are as follows: Real and personal property basis, $81,808,190; motor vehicles (estimated), $2,750,000, totaling $84,558,190, and securities basis, $13,238,665.

Revenues for the year are figured as follows: Corporation taxes, $30,271.98; franchise tax, $4,371.84; revenue from the tax rate on $84,558,190, $1,099,256.47; securities rate on $13,238,665, $39,715.99; miscellaneous sources (estimated), $7,000; interest on bank deposits, estimated, $3,500; totaling $1,184,116.28.

The Montgomery County Commissioners yesterday promulgated an ordinance to regulate the keeping of fowls and pigeons in the suburban districts of the county, to become effective July 3. The ordinance provides that fowls and pigeons may not be kept within 50 feet of the dwelling of any person other than the owner and that they must not be permitted to run at large. The penalties range from $2 to $10 for each offense.

The measure was adopted as the result of numerous complaints from the citizens of Chevy Chase, who complained of a pigeon nuisance in that section.

The Maryland Public Service Commission has been asked by the Indian Spring Park Citizens Association to compel the Washington Gas Light Co. to furnish gas service to the citizens of that community from the natural gas mains which traverse the outskirts of the community. The request is in a letter written by N. R. Robinson, secretary.

Mr. Robinson states that while the gas company has made a survey and led the citizens to believe that they were to receive gas service, that nothing has been done about beginning service and that the association is tired of trying to prod the gas company officials. He further states that 10,000,000 feet of gas flow past the community every day and that the gas company has denied ownership of the natural gas mains although the public service commission in an earlier letter had said that the main was the property of the local company.

The letter asks that the commission take prompt action to direct the gas company to render the service to the residents of the community from the natural gas main.

FAITHFULL SUICIDE THEORY SUPPORTED

Ship Doctor Says He Brings Letter From Beauty That Forecasts Death.

New York, June 18 (A.P.).—The probability that Starr Faithfull, beautiful Greenwich Village girl, whose supposed slayer has been hunted on two continents for ten days, committed suicide drew nearer tonight to a status of fact.

A liner plowing westward in the Atlantic was believed by the State to bear a solution of the girl's mysterious death. This important evidence was contained in a letter in the possession of Dr. G. Jameston Carr, ship's doctor of the Cunarder Franconia, which put Starr ashore in a tug when it last sailed, on May 29. The letter supported the suicide belief because a sentence in it said, "Before you receive this letter I shall be dead."

Today Dr. Carr informed the Associated Press by wireless from the liner Laconia, on which he will arrive next Monday, that he would make no public statement before he had submitted the letter to the proper authorities. Previously he had revealed to friends in England the suicidal import of the missive.

Dr. Carr's Statement.

His statement said:

"I am returning to New York for a fourfold purpose. First, in the interest of justice; second, in the interest of the Cunard Company; third, in the interest of the medical profession, and fourth, in the interest of myself."

Dr. Carr, described by Stanley E. Faithfull as "an oldtime friend of the family," was Starr's confidant. She wrote him the letter after his ship departed and dispatched it by faster boat so that it awaited him in Liverpool. He received the letter and confirmation of her death at the same time.

After consulting friends, he decided to forego a holiday in Belgium and return immediately to the United States to give the significant document to District Attorney Elvin Edwards, of Nassau County, in whose jurisdiction the body of Starr was washed upon the sands of the Long Island beach on June 8.

Inspector Harold King said he was sure from dispatches from Cunard Line officials in London that Starr wrote the Franconia's surgeon two letters, but in neither was there mention of intent to commit suicide by drowning.

Suicide Letter Cited.

He quoted the dispatch as saying, in regard to the suicide letter, that "she fully premeditated designs of suicide within the next 24 hours." That time would have expired, however, the day before the girl left her home, Friday, June 5.

A Fifth avenue department store saleslgirl had luncheon with Starr Faithfull on Friday, it was disclosed today, but when police sought her for questioning she had left the city, reportedly for a vacation in the West. Efforts were made to have police in other cities find her.

The woman described as Mrs. Jack Barr, of Larchmont, N. Y., today was said to have told police that a girl named "Loretta" had seen Starr in Grand Central Station on the Friday preceding her death, or Thursday evening.

The authorities tonight believed they had closed in upon the long-sought information concerning Starr's activities on the day she vanished, and hoped that, with arrival of Dr. Carr and other expected developments, a solution of the mystery would be forthcoming soon.

PITTS SUPPLIES BAIL BUT LIBERTY DENIED

Court of Appeals Refuses Freedom to Man Under 14 Years' Sentence.

The District Court of Appeals yesterday refused to permit G. Bryan Pitts freedom on bail pending outcome of his appeal from a conviction upon which he is sentenced to serve fourteen years. Pitts is now placed in the odd position of having permission to post a $100,000 bond, but at the same time being prohibited from going free on that bond.

Pitts was granted right to post the bond by Chief Justice A. A. Wheat, after one of the guarantors had asked to be excused from further liability for his half of the bond. Another bondsman was permitted to replace the $50,000 which had been canceled, and Pitts made the formal request, which was refused.

The Government also moved in another direction against Pitts yesterday when Assistant United States Attorney William A. Gallagher filed objections to the suit brought last week by Pitts to restrain the Government from using in any manner documents seized by Internal Revenue agents in his safety vaults in Palm Beach.

Answer filed by Gallagher asserted that a formal subpena had been issued to obtain the papers, and that the Government agents were acting properly when they invaded Pitts' vaults in search of assets.

Documents were shown to the grand jury recently. That body now has before it testimony relating to Pitts and others on an allegation that many papers used by Pitts in his defense were manufactured at Palm Beach.

Killer's Father Shoots Two Men.

El Paso, Tex., June 18 (A.P.).—Two men were wounded slightly here early today by William Thomas Hickman, father of William Edward Hickman, hanged in 1928 for the kidnaping and murder of Marion Parker, Los Angeles school girl. Hickman said two men in an automobile drove into an alley in the rear of his home and created a disturbance, whereupon he fired two shots to frighten them away.

HOMEMAKER HONORS GIVEN TO 3 WOMEN

Work in Raising Families and Social Activities Brings Reward.

The award of master farm homemaker yesterday was conferred upon Mrs. Albert F. Graham and Mrs. Mary J. Dinsmore, Cecil County, and Mrs. A. M. Rencher, Wicomico County, at the ninth annual graduation of the rural women's short course at the University of Maryland.

Miss Oriane Johnson, of the Farmer's Wife Magazine, made the presentations. Other speakers were: Dr. A. F. Woods, director of scientific research, Department of Agriculture; Dr. H. J. Patterson, director of the experiment station, University of Maryland; Mrs. Charles R. Hobbs, Carroll County; Mrs. Randall Spoerlein, Carroll County, and Mrs. Harry L. Davis, Frederick County; Miss Venia M. Kellar, State home demonstration agent.

To win the awards the recipients had no easy task and Mrs. Dinsmore in particular had unusual obstacles to overcome, it was stated. Her husband died eight years ago, leaving a family of twelve, the youngest only 1 year old and the eldest 26. College educations are being planned for the younger members, although those who were forced to quit school have prospered in the business world. Mrs. Dinsmore is a member of fourteen different organizations and holds offices in seven.

Mrs. Rencher has four sons and four daughters, the youngest 7 and the eldest 24 years old. One graduated from college and is teaching, two others graduated from high school this year, one will graduate in 1933 and four others are still in grade school. Because hers is a small fruit and vegetable farm, Mrs. Rencher prepares these products for the market during the summer in addition to her household duties. Besides this she finds time to be president of the Homemakers Club and County Home Economics Extension Club. She also is secretary of the Ladies Aid.

Mrs. Graham, president of the Homemakers Club in her community, is prominent in church affairs. She is superintendent of the Cradle Roll and vice president of the Epworth League. Mrs. Graham is the mother of three children, ranging from 6 to 13 years of age. She and Mr. Graham have what she calls a "one pocket partnership" and consult each other in affairs of business and in planning for the children.

Finger Marks Upon Flask Send Man to Grand Jury

Montgomery County Prisoner, Who Denies Accusation, Is Charged With $2,500 Larceny of Jewelry From Home of John T. Vance.

Montgomery County's recently organized bureau of identification yesterday won its first spurs in the county when William Lee Evans, colored, 38 years old, Ninth street near M street northwest, was held for the county grand jury by Judge Charles W. Woodward, in Rockville police court, largely upon fingerprint evidence.

Evans is charged with the entry of the home of John T. Vance, prominent official at the Library of Congress, 16 West Irving street, Chevy Chase, and the larceny of jewelry valued at $2,500. He is alleged to have entered the house through the front door, which had been left open, while the Vance family was away.

Special Officer Theodore Vollten, in charge of the bureau, was summoned by the county police of the Bethesda substation, when the robbery report was made. He made a survey of the surroundings and on a half empty whisky flask found a good fingerprint impression.

Comparison with records in Washington showed that the print belonged to Evans, police contended. Evans was arrested and taken to Rockville, where he was given a hearing yesterday. Bond was fixed at $1,500. Evans denied any knowledge of the robbery.

Defense attorney Edward Peter created a laugh in court when he asked Vollten what had become of the remaining liquor in the bottle. "Mr. Vance gave it to a neighbor," the policeman replied.

This was the first case in which fingerprints had proven a major issue since the creation of the bureau several months ago, although there has been plenty of work in connection with the bureau and several cases from other counties have been cleared through the work of Mr. Vollten.

Allen J. Saville Tells State Body Alexandria Firm's Valuation Is Too High.

Richmond, Va., June 18 (A.P.).—Cross-examination of Allen J. Saville, of the engineering firm of Saville & Williamson, which was started yesterday afternoon, was resumed and continued through today in hearing before the State Corporation Commission on petition of the Alexandria Water Co., for an increase in rates.

Appearing for the City of Alexandria, which is opposing the increase, Mr. Saville gave the opinion that the company's property should be valued at $1,183,490 instead of $2,050,000. He claimed the higher valuation, fixed by the company, is basis for its request for a 40 per cent rate increase claimed necessary to give a fair return on its investment.

Counsel for the company today questioned Mr. Saville closely as to his reasons for fixing the valuation as he did, and particularly as to his engineering judgment in estimating depreciation and replacement costs. The hearing will continue through the rest of this week and the first three days of next week have been reserved on the commission docket for it.

U. S. Lawmakers Land at Manila.

Manila, June 18 (A.P.).—Senators Hawes and Patterson, of Missouri, and Representative Yon, of Florida, comprising the third congressional delegation to visit the Philippine Islands this year, arrived here today on the United States Army transport Grant.

Bigamist, 73 Years Old, To Remarry Wife No. 2

Charles Allen Read, 73 years old, of Bethesda, who recently was released on probation by a Richmond judge after conviction of bigamy, has obtained a license to marry at the office of the clerk of the circuit court in Rockville. The bride to be is Miss Nettie A. Milliken, 60, Eighteenth street near Lamont street northwest.

Miss Milliken is the second bride who was the innocent cause of Read's troubles before. His first wife brought charges of bigamy in Richmond, where the first marriage to Miss Milliken was performed. Following his release at Richmond, Mr. Read journey dto Reno, Nev., where he obtained a divorce from the first wife. Wedding plans were not made known.

Realty Man Breaks Leg In Cherry Tree Tumble

R. E. Hamilton, Washington real estate man, suffered a broken leg yesterday afternon when he fell from a ladder while picking cherries at his home, 33 Drummond street, Chevy Chase.

Mr. Hamilton was standing on a ladder propped against a tree. The ladder slipped, throwing him several feet to the ground. Members of the Montgomery County police were called, and with Dr. Benjamin C. Perry, of Bethesda, they carried Mr. Hamilton into his home, where he was treated for his injury.

Four Men Suffer Burns At Factory in Danville

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., June 18.—M. E. Wagner, sr., superintendent of the Hooker-Bassett Furniture Co. at Martinsville, and four Negro employes were severely burned at noon today when accumulated gases in a boiler fed by sawdust fuel sent a tongue of flame about them.

Wagner was the most seriously hurt, being burned from his neck to his waist. He is in a hospital, where doctors think he may live. The four Negroes, though badly seared, are expected to recover.

Danville Cotton Mill Directors Pass Dividend

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., June 18.—The board of directors of the Riverside and Dan River cotton mills today passed both the preferred and the common semi-annual dividends. It was the first time since the company was reorganized many years ago that a preferred dividend of 3 per cent on $7,500,000 had been passed and it struck a severe blow against many here dependent on this income for a living.

The dividend amounts to $225,000.

Fraternal Order Urges Curbs for Immigration

Baltimore, Md., June 18 (A.P.).—Tightening of the immigration laws was advocated today by the biennial convention of the Junior Order United American Mechanics, which approved a recommendation to that effect by Homer C. Stubbs, of Kentucky, retiring national councilor.

The recommendation was that the restrictions be greatly increased. The result would be, it was asserted, to alleviate unemployment and increase the per capita wealth of the country.

Lynchburg Native Dies at 70.

Martinsburg, W. Va., June 18 (Special).—Mrs. Mary E. Gibbs, 70, a native of Lynchburg, Va., wife of the late Joseph Gibbs, died at her home here today after a brief illness. She was a Miss Blakeley before marriage. Surviving are one son, James, of Berkeley Springs, W. Va., and one sister, Miss Leonora Blakeley, living here. Burial will be made here.

CITY OF ALEXANDRIA HAS LARGE BALANCE

Financial Report to Council Shows $136,372 on Hand; Auto Ban Extended.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

The cash balance in the city treasury, as shown by the financial report of City Manager Wallace Lawrence to the city council yesterday, indicates a balance on hand of $136,372.76, this unusually large amount being due to the recent payment of real estate and personal taxes amounting to $161,178.24.

Dr. W. Lewis Schaffer, city health officer, reported that the work formerly performed by the antituberculosis nurse, whose services were dispensed with several months ago, is now being efficiently handled by Miss Marguerite Davis, public health nurse, connected with the city health department.

A petition from Jones Cox and others, asking that the one-hour parking limit on King street be extended to include the 1000 and 1100 blocks, or from Patrick to Fayette streets, was granted, thus making the limitation on King street apply from Fairfax to Fayette street. A communication from M. B. Shiflett, asking that the parking limit of one hour, from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m., be changed so as to exclude Sundays from the restriction, was taken under consideration, the council feeling that on account of the closing of Washington street to traffic it would not be practicable to grant the request at this time.

A communication was received from W. D. Duke, of the Richmond, Fredericksburg & Potomac Railroad, calling the attention of the council to the fact that the property of the company at Oronoco street should be protected against trepass, for the protection of pedestrians. The city manager had previously written the railroad company suggesting that the property be fenced in, and offering the aid of the city in preventing trespass as far as possible.

Applications for permits from Mrs. Harriet Douglas Wallace for a tea room at 613 South Washington street, and Newman H. Raymond to build an apartment house at Mount Vernon and Bellefonte avenues, were referred to the zoning commission.

A communication was received from former Councilman Thomas J. Fannon, who represents the city council on the board of the district home at Manassas, stating that the board has decided to expend some of its surplus funds in minor improvements, including painting.

An application from J. Shapiro for a permit to install a gasoline pump at the curb at the southwest corner of Duke and Alfred streets was granted. The council has gone on record as being opposed to the installation of any new curb pumps, but since this building, which was formerly used as a garage, and is now an automobile "laundry" establishment, formerly had a gasoline pump, it was not classed as a new proposition.

A meeting of the 40 and 8 Society of the American Legion will be held at 6:30 o'clock this evening at the Belvoid Hotel, when a report of the mid-Atlantic promenade, recently held in Norfolk, will be given by the delegates who attended. Plans for the outing to Piney Point Saturday, in which the 40 and 8 is cooperating with Alexandria Post 24, American Legion, will also be discussed, and several other matters of unusual interest will come up for discussion.

The Alexandria Children's Home and Day Nursery has been moved into the new quarters at 411 Prince street, and on Wednesday evening the board of lady managers held the formal opening, with Mrs. T. Clifton Howard, Miss Helen Norris Cummings, Mrs. H. A. Latane, Mrs. James Armstrong, Mrs. Joseph H. Newell and Miss Mary Louise Nicol on the reception committee, while Mrs. William L. Leitch, Miss Lucy Anderson, Mrs. John Leadbeater and Mrs. Robert L. Myers, jr., presided in the dining room.

The board of directors of the home is composed of the following: F. C. Goodnow, president; Alfred Thomson, secretary; C. S. Taylor Burke, treasurer; Judge William P. Wools and Dr. H. A. Latane.

The manager of the home, Mrs. Bessie Sexton, invites inspection during visiting hours, 2 to 4 p. m., on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

Joseph Leo Smith, aged 42 years, for the last 21 years employed as division storekeeper by the Richmond, Fredericksburg & Potomac Railroad at Potomac Yards, died yesterday morning at the Naval Hospital, Washington, after an illness of about a week in the hospital following an operation, although he had been sick since February at his home, 28 East Walnut street. He is survived by his wife, a daughter, two sons and a stepson. The deceased served overseas during the World War and in 1929 he graduated in law at the Washington College of Law and had established an office in this city, although he retained his position with the railroad.

The funeral will be held at 9:30 o'clock Monday morning from St. Mary's Catholic Church.

A steam roller crushed a gas main in the 300 block of Bellefonte avenue, Del Ray, yesterday morning, and the gas ignited, but the fire department was helpless until the gas was cut off by an emergency crew from the Alexandria Gas Co.

President Roger C. Sullivan of the Kiwanis Club at the business meeting of that organization held at 12:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the George Mason Hotel gave a review of the work of the club in the past year and the proposed program for the coming year.

The Rev. Emmette R. Spencer, the delegate to the International Kiwanis convention in Miami, Fla., recently, gave a talk on the work of that body. Harry B. Caton, for the club, expressed the regrets of the membership on the recent order of the Methodist Conference for the transfer of Mr. Spencer to Baltimore.

The Music Club of the American Legion Auxiliary will meet at 10:30 o'clock this morning at the George Mason Hotel, under the direction of Mrs. Albert M. Briggs, and following the meeting will remain for luncheon at the hotel, joined by other members of the auxiliary. These subscription luncheons will be a monthly feature of the Music Club.

PULPIT ROW BLAMED FOR CHURCH HANGING

Preacher-Porter Dangles on Toes From Chandelier; Cries Draw Help.

Dallas, Tex., June 18 (A.P.).—B. P. Brown, part-time preacher and hotel baggage man, who was stripped of his clothes by four masked men early today and hanged to a chandelier above the pulpit in the North Dallas Baptist Church, tonight blamed dissension among members of the congregation for the attack.

The hanging, he said the men told him, was "an example" to his pastor, the Rev. H. P. Marler. A former member of the church was held by police for questioning.

"We've had trouble at the church, all right," Brown told newspaper men. "Some of the members want Brother Marler to resign. They don't like me, either, but they are going to have a hard time running me off."

Brown said he and Mr. Marler had received threatening letters during the last three months. Federal postal authorities were expected to investigate this angle.

The volunteer preacher said he was abducted shortly after midnight after leaving the hotel where he works.

"They tied my hands behind my back and tied my feet together," he related. "A noose was put about my neck and the other end of the rope was thrown over a chandelier.

"After pulling me off the floor, they put a folding chair under my feet, just below the tips of my toes. As they went away, one of them told me the chair wouldn't hold my weight even if I got my feet on it."

He said he kicked about and the rope stretched until his feet rested on the chair when he stood on tiptoe. He tore off strips of adhesive tape covering his mouth and began calling for help.

About three hours later he was rescued. He suffered no serious injury.

BURIAL RITES TODAY FOR MRS. HAMMOND

Funeral Service for Wife of Famous Engineer Is Held at Residence.

Mrs. John Hays Hammond, wife of the internationally known engineer, who died early yesterday at her home, 2221 Kalorama road, after an illness of several weeks, will be buried today in Greenwood Cemetery, Brooklyn, N. Y. Private funeral services were conducted at her late residence yesterday afternoon by the Rev. Ze Barney T. Phillips, rector of the Church of the Epiphany, of which Mrs. Hammond was a member. The Rev. Mr. Phillips also will officiate at the burial.

Besides her husband, three of her four children were present when she died. Harris, John Hays, jr., and Natalie Hays. Richard P. Hammond, the other son, is in Paris. Mrs. Hammond also is survived by a sister, Mrs. Charles Hoyle, of Washington.

Shared Husband's Perils.

Mrs. Hammond was the former Miss Natalie Harris, daughter of the late Judge Nathaniel Harris, of Vicksburg, Miss., where she was born.

She was at her husband's side throughout all of the adventurous years in the far corners of the world, which marked their early married life. She fought for her husband's life in South Africa, where he narrowly escaped the gallows as result of the Jamieson Raid, which grew out of the efforts of foreigners to protect their interests from the Boer government, and she traveled with him over dusty highways in bullock carts and Cape carts for days at a time, their only roof at night being the sky overhead.

Out of her South African experiences she wrote a graphic account of the Jamieson Raid and her husband's imprisonment, titled "A Woman's Part in a Revolution."

Besides Queen Victoria, Mrs. Hammond numbered many others of the European royalty and nobility among her friends. She distinguished herself as a hostess when her husband was appointed special Ambassador to England for the coronation of King George V in 1911.

Work for Children.

She founded the women's department of the National Civic Federation and while living in New York in 1916 she founded the Militia of Mercy, which was instrumental in checking the infantile paralysis plague and bringing help to hundreds of poor children. She also is known for her work in connection with the Children's Christmas Fund, which sent gifts abroad to the children of the warring nations during the World War.

She founded the Women's Titanic Memorial Association nineteen years ago, but was too ill to attend the unveiling of the Titanic Memorial here a short time ago, the climax of the hopes and endeavors with which the association started out.

Mrs. Hammond had been a resident of Washington since 1917. Prior to that time she made one visit here during the Taft administration, as Mr. Hammond and the President had been friends of long standing.

Mr. and Mrs. Hammond celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on January 1.

Bowdoin Honors 2 U. S. Senators.

UNION IS RECOGNIZED IN MINE WAR AREA

Eight Strikers Are Injured in Clash With Guards at Ohio Properties.

St. Clairsville, O., June 18 (A.P.).—While the strike of the National Miners Union flared into open warfare today, the United Mine Workers of America continued a movement to reestablish that organization in the eastern Ohio coal fields and succeeded in gaining recognition from one operator. Spurred by this success, John Cinque, district president of the U. M. W., said he would ask Gov. George White to call a conference of operators and union representatives with a view to reaching a general working agreement.

Cinque said he had received assurance from Thomas Pursglove, an official of the Pittsburgh Tarminal Coal Co., that he would recognize the U. M. A. locally, provided other operators did likewise. At the same time, Pursglove told Cinque a check weighman, required by U. M. A. rules, would be placed at the Big Five Mine tomorrow.

Pursglove is a brother of Samuel Pursglove, president of the Pittsburgh Terminal, one of the largest producers in this region.

Operators of the Provident Mine refused to deal with Cinque, however, and he said a walkout would be declared at the shaft tomorrow. The mine employs about 400 men, 150 of them already idle as a result of the National Miners Union strike.

Eight members of the National Miners Union, which claims to control 95 per cent of the eastern Ohio miners, were injured in several clashes today between mine guards and strikers and their sympathizers.

The strikers want an eight-hour day, reinstatement of workers they say were discharged for their union affiliations, and abolition of the "average system."

Clarksburg, W. Va., June 18 (A.P.).—Officials of the United Mine Workers of America said today the ranks of strikers in Barbour, Taylor and Harrison Counties were swelled to 3,500 men by the strike of 700 miners this morning at Galloway, Barbour County. The men were employed by the Simpson Creek Colleries Co.

Pickets were stationed about the mine, but there was no disturbance.

Lion and Wolf Havoc On Herds Is Portrayed

A film showing the havoc mountain lions and wolves play with herds of cattle and sheep in the great Southwest and the way Uncle Sam and his rangers cope with this problem was exhibited by Dewey Zirkin, program chairman, through the courtesy of the Biological Survey of the Department of Agriculture at the meeting of the Washington Kiwanis Club held in the Hall of Nations at the Hotel Washington yesterday.

Guests at the luncheon included a group of delegates to the 4-H Club encampment now in session here. Pete Pardoe presented to each of the guests a box of candy on behalf of the bachelor members of the club.

Decision Reserved In Mayflower Case

Justice Luhring Reviewing Arguments Presented in Long Hearing.

After listening to arguments for more than three days, Justice Oscar R. Luhring yesterday afternoon concluded the oral hearings in the petition filed by five bondholders to have the Mayflower Hotel company thrown into receivership. The case was taken under advisement to give Justice Luhring time to digest the mass of citations and authorities that have been brought into the hearing.

In a final attack on the petition, William E. Leahy, chief of counsel for the Mayflower, said that the Court of Appeals virtually had declared the receivership petition faulty in that the appellate court had reversed the action of a lower court in appointing receivers.

Mr. Leahy contended that since the Court of Appeals had before it only the question of reviewing the receivership appointments, it could not act on the bill itself. Attorneys Fred Horowitz and Mabel Walker Willebrandt appeared for the bondholders.

National Benefit Elects Officers

John T. Risher Is Chosen President; Directors Also Named.

John T. Risher was named yesterday at a meeting of the board of directors of the National Benefit Insurance Co., largest Negro concern of its kind, as president, succeeding R. H. Rutherford, who retired. S. W. Rutherford, who with the late Dr. Robert W. Brown, founded the company, and who was chairman of the board of directors, also retired, as did Mortimer F. Smith, comptroller and second vice president.

Louis C. Washington, of Chicago, was named first vice president and general comptroller. John R. Pinkett, third vice president, was made second vice president, and will continue as manager of agencies. Huver I. Brown was elected third vice president. The directors' meting, which made the changes, after a two-day session, was held at the company headquarters, 609 F street northwest.

New members of the board of directors named were John T. Risher, Huver I. Brown, Dr. William G. Lofton, Walter L. Carter and J. C. Arnold. Houston & Houston were named as general counsel. Charles B. Le succeeded himself as treasurer. The board issued a statement to the effect that the retiring directors felt that they should be relieved of arduous duties following long years of service. An expression of regret and appreciation of their services was spread on the minutes of the board.

G. U. Scientist Forecasts New Atlantic Archipelago

Father Sohon Discounts Theory Atlantis Is Reemerging.

(Associated Press.)

The forecast that a whole new archipelago like Japan may emerge from the South Atlantic Ocean "in a few hundred thousand years" was expressed yesterday by the Rev. Frederick W. Sohon, Georgetown University seismologist.

This was the scientist's conclusion from reports of the discovery of two new islands, coupled with records in the seismology laboratory.

"I think it highly probable that a complete archipelago is growing up," Father Sohon said. "It would not surprise me at all if it developed, with volcanoes, like Japan."

But then he smiled.

"We, of course, shall never see it."

Father Sohon was away at a conclave of seismologists when two ship captains reported the discovery of two new islands near St. Paul's Rocks, off the coast of Brazil.

Yesterday the scientist found seismograph reports showing there were earth tremors at the time, at the same distance from here as that of the reported discovery. Latin-American scientists suggested the phenomenon might mean the reemergence of the "lost continent Atlantis."

Interested, Father Sohon began a check up of data. But he discarded the "lost continent theory," believing the discovery more logically bore out his own belief that a new island group might appear.

"That 'lost continent' is a matter chiefly of literary tradition," he said. "References to it occur first in Plato's dialogues, with the implication it existed about 9,000 years before the Greek's day.

"Geologists now have their own conjectures as to the existence of continents in that region in time remote. But they are largely guesswork."

There is no doubt, Father Sohon

THE REV. FREDERICK W. SOHON.

said, that there is a ridge along the ocean bed, equidistant between South America and Africa and about parallel with the coast lines of these two continents, but he offered another explanation.

"If there ever was a continent there it must have been completely destroyed. I believe that the modern development, so to speak, is the result of thousands of years' erosion sending rock from the mountains down to the continental sheif of the Americas.

"That might pile up so much extra weight that the pressure deep in the earth would cause a rock flow, sideways, to compensate, that would explain the ridge on the contour of the ocean bed.

"The reported sudden appearance of the islands would suggest a sudden rise in the ridge, which must have been accompanied by earthquakes. Such rises in the ridge might well continue until a new archipelago were formed."

TEACHERS STRESSED AS TEMPERANCE AID

Daniel Roper Praises War Against Liquor in Speech at W.C.T.U. Session.

The part that teachers in our public schools have in directing the temperance of students under their charge was stressed in an address by Daniel C. Roper, of the Board of Education, at the morning session of the quarterly convention of the District of Columbia W. C. T. U. at St. Paul's M. E. Church yesterday.

Mr. Roper complimented the local organization on their great civic service in securing a law providing for the teaching of the effects of alcohol on human beings to the students of the public schools. He quoted the warning of Lord Macauley that nine-tenths of the calamities of human society result from high intelligence associated with low ideals.

The responsibility of the home, the center of instruction in the temperance of youth, was also pointed out by Mr. Roper, as well as the chance the 1,000,000 school teachers, 800,000 of whom are women, in this country have to direct the children under their charge properly.

Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley, who was the speaker of the afternoon session, said that much has been accomplished in the cause of temperance by the passage of the prohibition law.

Mrs. Grace L. Stockwell, for 30 years a missionary in Burma, told of the work of the W. T. C. U. throughout the world. She said that the women of the world have their eyes on America, and urged the women to "hold fast" in carrying on their aggressive work for temperance and for prohibition for the sake of the "retarded nations."

A white ribbon demonstration was the closing event of the convention. This demonstration was given by a group of small children, sons and daughters of the members.

Most of the morning session was given over to the reports of officers.

A group of young girls, of the Flower Mission, presented a play under the direction of Mrs. F. Scott McBride. Mrs. E. E. Franklin sang at the morning session, accompanied by Mrs. W. L. Evans, and Mrs. J. R. Duffield sang at the afternoon session, accompanied by Mrs. Evans. Noontide devotions were led by Mrs. Lillie Moore.

HUTCHISON RITES TODAY.

Capital Resident Many Years Known In Chevy Chase Circles.

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Hutchison, who died early yesterday morning in Clarendon, Va., at the residence of her son, George W. Hutchison, associate secretary of the National Geographic Society, will be at Joseph Gawler funeral home, 1754 Pennsylvania avenue, this afternoon at 4 o'clock. The Rev. William S. Abernethy, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, will officiate. Interment will be in Scranton, Pa.

Mrs. Hutchison was a resident of Washington many years and is well known in social circles of Chevy Chase. She is survived by three sons, George, Judson S. and Austin D. Hutchison, of Mount Vernon, N. Y., and a daughter, Mrs. Marian C. Dewilde, of Washington.

MRS. ELLEN STONE, INFANT ARE DEAD

Canadian Envoy's Wife and Child Succumb in Hospital at Yonkers.

Mrs. Ellen Cox Ewing Stone, wife of Thomas Archibald Stone, second secretary of the Canadian Legation at Washington, died last night in Yonkers General Hospital with her infant child, according to reports received last night from Yonkers, N. Y. She was 23 years old.

Mrs. Stone was the daughter of Thomas Ewing, who was in charge of the United States Patent Office during President Wilson's administration, and Mrs. Anna Cochran Ewing.

Her sister is Mrs. Alexandra Noyes, wife of Newbold Noyes, of Washington, whose father, Frank B. Noyes, is publisher of the Washington Star and president of the Associated Press.

Mr. and Mrs. Stone were married in Maine last summer and upon their return to Washington made their home at 1621 Thirty-fifth street, later moving to No. 1555 of the same street. Mrs. Stone was a great-granddaughter of Alexander Smith, founder of the carpet manufactory at Yonkers bearing his name. Her grandmother founded the hospital in which she died.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Stone is survived by her parents, a sister, and five brothers, Thomas, Junior, William C., Gifford Bayard and Sherman Ewing.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at the Ewing home, Yonkers, which will be followed by interment in Oakland Cemetery in the same city. Bishop James Freeman, of the Episcopal Diocese of Washington, will conduct the services.

G. U. Youth's Bond $2,000 in Shooting

Mother Wounded by Shot Fired at Friend, Is Dawson Tale.

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, June 18.—Perry Dawson, 20 years old, of Bayside, Long Island, was arraigned today in the magistrates court, Flushing, on a charge of felonious assault after one of three shots that he is alleged to have fired last night at a friend inflicted a scalp wound on his mother, Mrs. Josephine Dawson.

According to police, Dawson, a law student at Georgetown University, Washington, and his friend, Harry Conover, 20, also a law student, who lives at the Flushing Y. M. C. A., quarreled at dinner in the Dawson home. Dawson, police say, drew a gun and fired at Conover. As the shots were being fired Mrs. Dawson walked into the room and was struck by a stray bullet.

Neighbors took Mrs. Dawson to a doctor and then notified police. The youth met the police on the front porch of his home and surrendered the pistol. Mrs. Dawson returned home after treatment.

DISAGREEMENT ENDS TRIAL OF PANTAGES

Retrial Is Set for July 13; Jury Stood 9 to 3 for Freeing Showman.

San Diego, Calif., June 18 (A.P.).—The trial of Alexander Pantages, multi-millionaire showman, and three others on conspiracy and morals charges ended today in a disagreement of the jurors after 24 hours deliberation. A date for retrial was set tentatively for July 13.

Pantages and Jesse H. Shreve, wealthy San Diego business man, were charged with conspiring with the alleged operators of a Hollywood "girl market," Olive Clarke Day and William Jobelmann, to bring Lydia Nitto, a minor, here from Los Angeles for immoral purposes.

Edward Summers, jury foreman, told Superior Judge L. N. Turrentine eleven ballots had been taken and there had been no change in the voting since midnight. Summers and W. F. Ahrens, another juror, said the vote had stood 9 to 3 for acquittal on every ballot today.

Judge Turrentine directed the jurors to return to their room, instructing them that they could return a verdict acquitting or convicting one of the defendants, although they disagreed as to the others. But when the jurors still were deadlocked at noon he dismissed them.

Ahrens said the consensus in the jury was that Pantages was not guilty of the felony conspiracy charge, but that those who held out refused to vote an acquittal unless the others would agree to convict the other defendants and Pantages on the misdemeanor charge of contributing to the girl's delinquency.

DR. PALMER NAMED SYNOD MODERATOR

Washington Man Succeeds A. B. Caldwell; Women Also in Session.

Special to The Washington Post.

Frederick, Md., June 18.—Dr. John G. Palmer, pastor of the Washington Heights Presbyterian Church, Washington, was unanimously elected moderator at the first business session of the annual conference of the Synod of Baltimore held in connection with the Women's Synodical Society of Missions of the Presbyterian Church, at Hood College today. Dr. Palmer will succeed the Rev. A. Brown Caldwell, Baltimore, acting moderator in the place of the Rev. Robert A. Boyle, formerly of Salisbury, elected last year, but later removed to Pennsylvania.

Other officials elected were the Rev. George M. Cummings, Washington, stated clerk, and the Rev. Harding Sextion, Baltimore, temporary clerk.

Reports Are Received.

Following reports of the stated clerk and treasurer, a report of the committee on national missions was made by the Rev. Charles H. Bohner, of Washington. In the afternoon a report of the synodical council was made by the Rev. George M. Cummings, Washington, followed by reports of the committee on program and field activities, the Rev. A. E. Barrows, Washington; vacancy and supply, the Rev. A. Brown Caldwell, Baltimore; Christian education, the Rev. Joseph R. Sizoo, and pensions, the Rev. Hugh L. Hodge, Baltimore.

Nearly 300 persons from Maryland, the District of Columbia and Delaware attended today's session. A joint meeting of both bodies was addressed by Dr. Silas Evans, president of Ripon College, Ripon, Wis.; Miss Mary E. Moore, New York City, secretary of the young people's department, Board of Foreign Missions; the Rev. Herman N. Morse, of New York, representing the council of home missions. The Rev. Dr. Brohner, Wilmington, of the committee of national missions, reported progress in membership and a slight increase in contributions in all of the churches of the synod. Dr. Buschgen, described the work of the Presbyterian Tuberculosis Sanitarium at Albuquerque, N. Mex.

Women Will Elect.

Tomorrow's sessions will be occupied with reports from committees on educational institutions and the report of the committee on resolutions and miscellaneous business. The Synodical Society will hold its annual business session tomorrow at which new officers will be elected and reports submitted by various committees. The morning's session will begin at 11:30 o'clock, Mrs. Hugh Lenox Hodge, vice president, presiding. The worship theme will be "Soul Reading," followed by a report by the Washington Presbyterian president, Mrs. William R. Rhoades, and a report of the secretary for intermediates and seniors.

A discussion period will be taken up with three subjects, "Budget," "Goals of 1933" and "Woman's Federation and Woman's Association." Both sessions will adjourn tomorrow afternoon.

Mellon Firm Seen In Soviet Contract

Family Money Revealed Helping to Build Big Steel Plant.

New York, June 18 (A.P.).—The Evening Post says it has learned that Richard B. Mellon, brother of Andrew W. Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury, and Richard K. Mellon, the Secretary's nephew, are directors of the Koppers Co. of Delaware, the holding company controlling the Koppers Co. of Pittsburgh, which has a contract for the design and building of the coke ovens of the huge steel plant now building under the five-year plan at Magnetogorsk, Siberia.

The Koppers Co. of Pittsburgh, says the Post, contracted with the project as a result of the suggestion of Arthur G. McKee, president of Arthur G. McKee & Co., of Cleveland, which has the contract for the design and supervision of the entire undertaking.

The Magnetogorsk plant is designed to be the third largest steel plant in the world at an estimated expenditure of $200,000,000. The Post says cash to cover all contracts has been deposited in the Chase National Bank.

Girl Seriously Hurt When Struck by Car

Serious head injury was suffered last night by Dolly Barham, 15 years old, 3035 Bladensburg road northeast, who was struck down by an automobile while crossing the road near her home.

The girl was taken to Sibley Hospital by the driver of a passing automobile. Her injuries were diagnosed as concussion of the brain and her condition was reported as undetermined last night. Police say the car which struck her was driven by Mason S. Belk, 62 years old, Summit place northeast near Nineteenth street, and that the accident was unavoidable.

CHINESE REDS PUSH WAR NEAR NANCHANG

Government Rushes Troops to Defense as Chiang Plans Drive.

Shanghai, June 18 (A.P.).—Communists increased their warring activities in Kiangsi Province today, dispatches said, and menaced Nanchang, its capital, despite thousands of Nationalist government troops rushed to the aid of wavering defenders.

The Reds, with a strong grip on southern Kiangsi, moved northward, their advance approaching the gates of the city. Fearing Nanchang would fall, the government hurried 20,000 more troops into Kiangsi with field guns and modern wartime equipment.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, head of the Nationalist government, however, further delayed his departure from Nanking to take command of his announced big drive against Reds and bandits of Kiangsi and Hunan Provinces.

His assumption of command, government officials asserted, would be the start of strenuous campaigning to eradicate outlawry which Chiang said was the greatest menace confronting the government and nation.

As the troops moved southward, however, outlawry appeared in a new quarter. Chengyangkw, an imoprtant city 150 miles west of Nanking, was reported surrounded by reds. No troops were available for its defense, and its fall was expected.

Meanwhile, Gen. Cheng Ming-Shu, Nationalist governor of Kwantung Province, who was banished from the province by Canton insurgents, made preparations in southern Kiangsi to attack Communist bands with his two divisions of troops.

After bargaining with both Nationalists and insurgents, Cheng apparently decided to remain neutral for a time and occupy his troops against the reds and bandits. His decision was reached after dissension among his officers, eight of whom voted to fight the Canton insurgent government, three to support the Nationalist and ten not to fight at all.

Contractor to Pay For Job of Razing

Only One Bidder Offers Cash for Work Beginning Municipal Center.

The District Commissioners, who are hard put to it this year to keep the 1933 estimates within the anticipated income so as not to raire taxes, beamed with satisfaction yesterday afternoon when a contractor offered them $2,150 to be allowed to raze the buildings on the site of the first unit of the Municipal Center.

The bidder, the only one of six who was willing to pay for the contract, is Leon A. Harris, of Chicago, who has a local office. The other bids ranged from about $3,000 to $24,199, the latter estimate being submitted by G. H. Shartzen, of Dayton, Ohio.

Residents of the Municipal Center area in the west half of the block bounded by John Marshall place, Pennsylvania avenue, Third and D streets, have already been notified to vacate, with a few exceptions, by July 1.

The razing job is expected to be completed by September 1. On this site the courts building will be erected.

Padlock Order Asked On Northeast Structure

Assistant United States Attorney Harold W. Orcutt yesterday filed a padlock injunction under the nuisance provision of the national prohibitionn act against the premises at 1104 K street northeast. The petition asks a temporary injunction pending a hearing, and then a permanent injunction for a period of one year.

Those named in the petition are Harry Zimberg, alias Harry Zinberg, alias Jack Zinberg; Adolph Rudy Moder, Arthur Dean Daniel, jr., and M. Elia Mudd, who is named only as the owner of the property.

Takoma Park Man Pays For Prank of Boyhood

Irvington, N. J., June 18 (A.P.). Twenty years ago Forrest S. Hayden, then a boy with a slingshot, broke a street light.

Today Hayden, a resident of Takoma Park, Md., cleared his conscience of his boyish prank. He sent a letter to Mayor John F. Lovell, inclosing a $1 bill, and asked if "there is any way in which I may make amends."

A letter to Hayden advised him the account was squared.

Fletcher's Wisecrack Answers Dawes' Quip

(Associated Press.)

Ambassador Dawes' quip that a diplomat's life is "easy on the brain but hell on the feet" got another comeback yesterday—this time from Henry P. Fletcher, former Ambassador to Italy and Belgium and now chairman of the Tariff Commission.

"It all depends on whether you use your head or your feet," Mr. Fletcher said.

Highway Workers Increase Steadily

Reports to Hoover's Jobs Committee Indicate Number Gaining.

(Associated Press.)

Acting Chairman Croxton, of the President's emergency employment committee, announced yesterday the number of men working on highways was steadily increasing.

Quoting W. C. Markham, executive secretary of the American Association of State highway officials, Mr. Croxton said more than 250,000 persons were employed on State and Federal aid roads during May and the number is still growing.

"Although the peak in contract lettings for this year's highway construction season was doubtless reached in April," Mr. Markham informed Mr. Croxton, "employment is increasing as jobs get under way. The number of persons employed on highway work probably will not reach its height until some time this month or later.

"The total mileage of roads involved in contracts during May for 35 States was 5,128 miles to cost $64,193,390. The total number of persons employed in this work during May was 193,270. At this ratio of employment in 35 States he estimated the total for all 48 States at more than 260,000 persons, an increase of approximately 40,000 over April."

RUTH NICHOLS' HOP DELAYED BY MISHAP

New York, June 18 (A.P.).—A society girl's golden dream of being the first woman to fly alone across the Atlantic received a temporary setback late today when Miss Ruth Nichols, 26, damaged her plane at Floyd Bennett Field.

She had hoped to get off today for Portland, Me., en route to Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, where she plans to start her solo voyage across the north Atlantic to Paris.

Late this afternoon she took off from Jersey City, heavily laden, for Floyd Bennett airport, on Barren Island, off Brooklyn. At the latter field she was to take aboard still more fuel and hop for the North.

She had difficulty, however, getting away at Jersey City, and when she landed at Floyd Bennett Field, New York City's new airport, she came down hard.

The plane, a stream-lined, high-wing cabin affair, struck the ground on its right wheel. A tail skid cracked off, a bulkhead in the fuselage was damaged and the landing gear strained. Mechanics said it would probably take a couple of days to repair the damage and the probability was Miss Nichols would not take off until Monday.

The hop originally was scheduled for about noon, but was delayed by a faulty instrument. At the factory of Clarence Chamberlin in Jersey City, where the plane was undergoing tests, the girl discovered a directional gyro was not functioning properly.

Miss Nichols' plane, capable of a top speed of more than 210 miles an hour, bears the Indian name "Akitah," signifying to seek or explore.

Van Duzer Hopes To Speed Traffic

Director to Make Study of Conditions Before Planning Changes.

Faster-moving traffic will be one of the aims of William A. Van Duzer, who on July 1 will become District traffic director, he stated yesterday in announcing that he would make a thorough engineering study of Washington's traffic problems as soon as he takes office and before proposing any fundamental readjustments.

First attention will be given to the downtown area, Mr. Van Duzer said, while the next problem will be traffic on arterial highways leading into the congested district.

No new signal lights will be installed until a thorough scientific study is made of the intersection concerned, the traffic expert said.

PLEA OF THE RAILROADS.

Railroad executives who are petitioning the Interstate Commerce Commission for a blanket increase of 15 per cent in freight rates insist that an emergency has arisen and that drastic measures are necessary to meet it. The commission is asked to make only a limited investigation, and to make the rates effective without the customary suspension. This plea for immediate action regardless of probable consequences is the most significant feature of the petition.

The public is inclined to ask: Why the rush? It is true that railroad revenue has decreased, that operating expenses have been curtailed about as much as possible without cutting wages, and that the value of railroad stocks has depreciated. But the same is true of almost every other business in the world. During 1930 class 1 carriers earned 3.54 per cent on their investments, and during the first four months of this year they earned 2.24. The railroads contend that they are not allowed to accumulate excess profits in times of prosperity and must, therefore, be permitted to earn a fair profit now in spite of the depression. But that argument will probably not make a very deep impression at a time when many industries are actually operating at a loss.

Ever since the carriers began to discuss higher freight rates there has been a fear that such a move would serve only to drive traffic to competing agencies of transportation and in the end would leave the railroads in a worse position than at present. The petition takes note of this contingency, yet asks the commission to ignore it. "Relief can not be secured in time to meet the emergency," the petition contends, "by proposals for adjustment of freight rates which seek to determine the effect of competition of other forms of freight transportation. All freight traffic should be subjected uniformly to such increase with certain adjustments which do not affect the principle involved." The existing emergency does not seem to be sufficient to justify such utter disregard of the railroads' future welfare.

The carriers note that competition by trucks is most effective on hauls of not more than 200 miles. In the past rate structures have been built on the theory that rates should be relatively higher for short distances than for long hauls. Competition from truck lines is forcing a change of view. The carriers suggest that short haul traffic ought to be considered as a by-product for which the rates would be relatively lower than for similar service over long distances. A few years ago railroads were arguing for the privilege of charging lower rates between distant points than between closer points on the same line. Now that they have motor truck as well as water traffic to compete with more attention must be given to short hauls.

But the carriers do not ask that rates be adjusted on that basis. They ask the commission to disregard the menace of new fleets of trucks, pipe lines, &c. All their attention is centered on the immediate improvement of their position through a blanket increase. Seldom have the American railroads been so utterly unmindful of their future welfare.

PORTO RICAN POLITICS.

The Unionist party of Porto Rico not long ago held a convention which passed a resolution, claiming to voice the sentiment of the majority of the island, asking for autonomy. Within a week views vigorously opposing the stand taken by the convention have been manifested.

The Socialists and organized labor prepared a message to President Hoover urging continued cooperation on the part of the United States with Porto Rico. American aid is necessary for the betterment of the country, the note declares, for the deplorable condition of the masses can be improved only through the liberty and progress established by this country. The President is urged to cooperate in every way with Gov. Theodore Roosevelt to facilitate a solution of the island's social and economic problems.

The radical resolution of the Unionists caused the resignation of prominent members from the party, especially noteworthy being the withdrawal of Senator Mariano Abril, editor of the party's official organ.

The Porto Rican Alianza, which is formed of both Unionist and Republican parties, disclaimed all connection with the protest against American rule. The president of the organization sent a cable to President Hoover reaffirming the constant loyalty of the Alianza to the United States. The message stated that Porto Rico was confident that a solution of the island's problems would be found under its present status.

This affirmation of regard for the American administration is gratifying. It is due in large measure to the accord which has been gained through the intelligent mediation of Gov. Roosevelt. He has enlisted the confidence of Porto Ricans generally in himself and his administration. Not long ago Luis Monoz, in an article criticizing the policies of the national government and finding fault with its administrators, did not fail to commend the governor for his sympathy and understanding of the island's problems. Gov. Roosevelt's good work can hardly be overestimated, when it is found that he has the support not only of those who advocate American rule, but those who criticize it as well.

CHEAP MONEY RATES.

Private concerns as well as the United States Government are paying less today for money borrowed for financial operations than is demanded in London. The latest issue of British treasury bills was sold on an interest basis of slightly less than 2 per cent, while the latest issue of United States Treasury bills was placed on a basis of approximately 1 per cent interest.

For many years the British treasury has employed bills for short-time financing, which gives added importance to the comparison, since American Treasury borrowing is usually covered with certificates of indebtedness or Treasury notes and bonds in addition to bills. British treasury bills offered during the latter part of May totaled £35,000,000, with an oversubscription of about 20 per cent. The American Treasury's latest financing of 3½ per cent bonds amounting to $800,000,000 called forth subscriptions exceeding $6,350,000,000.

New capital issues of the United Kingdom for the first quarter of this year were less than $50,000,000, the lowest for the period in twelve years. The class of issues that last year were oversubscribed and quoted at a premium over the issue price, have not been so successful in 1931, and underwriters have been left with large proportions of substantial and well-guaranteed issues. With every feeling of regret that the London money market is not enjoying more prosperous times, it can not but be a matter of satisfaction to American financial interests to find traditional positions reversed and lower interest rates and more abundant money now available in this country.

MacDONALD HOLDS ON.

Events in Parliament this week give the student of political science an unusual opportunity of observing how the British government operates. Since most American students leave college impressed with the effectiveness of the parliamentary system, as contrasted with the American plan of government, a glance at this situation may prove enlightening.

The most significant development was, of course, that Prime Minister MacDonald again escaped defeat. The Liberal amendment to Philip Snowden's proposed land tax was ruled out of order, and the inevitable fight over this issue was postponed until the question may be properly brought before the commons. But that does not alter the position of the MacDonald government, nor destroy the value of this illustration of how the parliamentary system may be abused.

Time and time again the MacDonald ministry has been brought to the point of defeat, only to save itself by stratagem. In this case Mr. MacDonald agreed to compromise the issue with the Libereals in order to retain their support. Most of the compromising was done on the part of the Laborites. Since the Labor cabinet can not stay in office without the support of David Lloyd George and his followers, they were able virtually to dictate the terms of agreement. If this legislation is finally adopted it will bear the stamp of the Liberal party, which represents but a very small section of British opinion.

Mr. MacDonald was willing to sacrifice principle to remain at the head of the government. He takes no decisive stand, because it might bring him defeat. As a result the government is drifting in the current of least resistance. The parliamentary system permits him to dilly-dally with the national welfare for the sake of promoting his own political ambitions. The Labor party dares not face an election at the present time. It is conceded that if the people could express their preference Mr. MacDonald would no longer remain at the head of the government. Yet by repeatedly sacrificing the pledges be made to the people, he is able to hold his place.

Theorists love to point out that parliamentary systems are always responsive to the will of the people, and how a Federal system, like that of the United States, keeps men in office for definite periods even after public opinion demands a change. From present conditions it is proved that the American plan gives stability and continuity of policy for definite periods, while the parliamentary system permits politicians to trade in the national welfare for the sake of holding their jobs.

WHAT IS A REPUBLIC?

Republics of the world must feel that it is something of a reflection upon the name to have Venezuela masquerading under the same title. The long dictatorship of Gen. Gomez was disguised two years ago when he placed a figurehead in his chair, while he remained in every sense the ruler from his estate at Maracay. That there might be no question of his continued authority, before "selecting" Dr. Perez president for a seven-year term, the Congress as supinely "amended" the Constitution so that as commander in chief of the army Gen. Gomez should report directly to congress, and also that action by the president in important matters be first sanctioned by the army chief.

Now, after two years, Gomez tires of the arrangement and has his Congress "suggest" to President Perez that he resign, which, of course, the good doctor hastened to do. Congress loses no time in naming today as the day on which it will elect a new president. Whether Gomez will listen to the insistent "demand" that he as the strong man of Venezuela return to power, or whether he will elevate another nominal executive, will soon be disclosed.

Meanwhile, owing to the very tight censorship that has been perfected in Venezuela on all outgoing news, no definite information is available as to just what this sudden change on the part of the elderly dictator means. There are hints that the several recent abortive revolutionary attempts in the country require the iron hand once more at the helm, but as the head of the army Gen. Gomez has had entire charge of the campaigns against the revolts, as he has controlled all other important matters. Venezuelan jails hold hundreds of political prisoners and with an army that is well equipped and paid regularly from a treasury amply supplied by oil royalties, revolutionary movements have little chance of success. Notwithstanding the fact that Gen. Gomez is probably the richest man in South America, having annexed a virtual monopoly of the cattle raising and packing house industry, among other things, there is no opposition to him that is really formidable. Enemies in exile are scattered throughout the countries of the world, but they have neither the capital nor the organization successfully to oppose Gomez with his 12,000 troops and unlimited funds. At 74 Gomez remains a robust and hearty fighter who will continue to dominate the fortunes of Venezuela as long as he retains his vigor and desire to rule. But a republic is defined as a "free, popular government."

MRS. JOHN HAYS HAMMOND.

Public and private sorrow attends the death and funeral of Mrs. John Hays Hammond—a sorrow, however, that is proud and grateful as well as tender. Mrs. Hammond went through a long life doing good. Her nature was a happy blend of keen intelligence and overflowing heart. In early days of hardship she was a heroic helpmeet. When her husband was lying under the shadow of execution she had the courage of a lioness. In affluence her beneficence was boundless as well as secret. With an American woman's grace she was at ease in palaces and courts. She loved the arts and all forms of beauty. Her public spirit was manifested in organizing broad movements for human relief, comfort and betterment.

The full story of Mrs. Hammond's life would make a volume full of inspiration for every girl and woman, and which no man could read without a feeling of profound respect. Blessed by the gratitude and friendship of thousands, all of whom share in the grief of her family, Mrs. Hammond goes to her last sleep with all the rewards that can be bestowed upon a sweet and unselfish life.

CALVIN COOLIDGE SAYS:

Northampton, Mass., June 18.—No one who has not tried it or been very close to it can understand how difficult it is for a President to travel about the country. While he is in Washington he is surrounded by certain safeguards and given reasonable protection. As soon as he leaves the Capital City he loses control of the situation and finds himself at the mercy of circumstances. Every shred of privacy vanishes and he stands all the time in the full glare of the most intense publicity.

Usually his purpose is to attend some public function and deliver an address. No doubt such contacts are useful and even necessary in a republic. The people like to see their President and are almost universally considerate, respectful and enthusiastic in the reception they give him. But the benefit is to the people rather than the President. He sees and hears little he did not already know. The chief value lies in the public impression that is created. The picture of the President of a great country mingling with his fellow citizens, telling them his problems, sympathizing with their difficulties, broaching plans for their welfare, gives us a better realization that this is our Government. CALVIN COOLIDGE.

BEARDING THE ELYSEE

From the Christian Science Monitor.

Before Mr. Gillette and his cohorts standardized men's chins from Peru to Lapland—leaving only a hirsute fringe in Russia—it was taken for granted that the President of the French Republic wore a beard. This was the case notwithstanding the fact that, perhaps by way of revolt against Napoleon III, the early occupants of the Elysee were mostly beardless men. The beardly tradition which is now once more respected may be said to have begun with Loubet.

Most of his predecessors had been unfortunate, and had prematurely left office. The occupation of President of the French Republic was precarious. It lacked stability. There was no security of tenure. Presidents were liable to be dismissed, or rather forced to resign. One rarely completed his septennat. Before his seven years were up another often sat in his place. But with Loubet there was a complete change.

Loubet was a bearded man and he fulfilled his legal term. He was followed by another bearded man, Fallieres, who likewise fulfilled his term. Decidedly there was something in the presidential beard which commanded esteem. For the third time the Versailles Assembly chose a bearded president—Poincare—and for the third time the president fulfilled his term. What followed? The deputies and senators reverted to the worst days of beardless presidents, and in rapid succession the smooth chins of Deschanel and Millerand disastrously disappeared from the Elysee. By exception, Doumergue happily finished his course without a beard, but he came near to shipwreck many times, and anything might have happened, during the period of inflation, had not the bearded Poincare come to the rescue.

The national assembly took heed of these facts, and having to choose between Briand and Doumer—the one with only a moustache, the other magnificent with a long square-cut beard—it remembered the lessons of the past, and chose the square-cut beard. Now it is well known among the barbering fraternity that while any man with a safety razor can shave himself, he is bound to call upon the expert service of a barber if he wishes to possess a properly trimmed beard. Therefore, French barbers are enthusiastically for M. Doumer. They hope he will set the fashion and that France once again will be a nation of bearded men.

The general verdict: The railroads need the money, but it's a bad time to ask for a raise.

If being faced with "an emergency threatening serious impairment of resources and capacity to continue adequate service" brings relief to the railroads, more of us will wish we were related to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Prince August Wilhelm Hohenzollern says: "Adolf Hitler has been sent to the German people by God." A Hitlerite member of the Reichstag is franker about intended devilment: "When we seize the power we will demolish the treaties signed by international swindlers."

The President spoke three days running. But he didn't run away from anything—not even unpleasant things.

Why is it so many hard-headed business men soar into the clouds when they make a speech? Joseph H. Apple, head of the Wanamaker stores, arraigned business before the advertising men for "ruthless competition, always grasping for more business whether deserved or not." Instead, he would have "creativeness—energy in action—inspired by new vision, controlled by wisdom, illuminating truth, fulfilling unrealized needs and aspirations of humanity."

Capt. Hawks sets a new mark for round-trip hops between London and Rome after taking three hours out for lunch. He must be going in for the spaghetti consumption record, too.

Ambassador Edge intimates that when Secretary Stimson reaches Paris he is going to ask for a statement of the French attitude on foreign affairs. France will not be able much longer to conceal her feelings about reparations and the Austro-German customs pact.

Ambassador Hugh Gibson, speaking at Yale, was reported as optimistic about the limitation of armaments, but he didn't expect a final solution of the problem in his lifetime. Yale doesn't require superoptimism just for a doctor of laws degree.

Secretary Mellon was guest at a "private luncheon" in London with Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England. When Norman dined with Mellon here he stuck to his story for a month that it was private. Surely Andy can do better than that.

An Oregon man begins a six-month sentence for using profane language over the radio. Theaters must be careful to see no microphones get on the stage. Some plays would get life.

Dr. Nick Butler waited until he got out of France before he made his "Heaviest Armed Nation the Weakest" speech.

Prince Jaime de Bourbon would accept the throne of Spain. He favors a king above all parties—that is, all but the party of the first part.

THE TALKATIVE CANADIANS.

Canadians are an exceptionally talkative people, says the Wall Street Journal, if one were to judge from telephone statistics. According to data compiled by Bell Telephone Co. of Canada, Canadians make more calls per capita than any other country. In 1929, the latest year for which complete figures are available, Canadians made 257.7 telephone conversations per capita as against 231 and 212 for United States and New Zealand, respectively, the two closest competitors. In cities of more than 50,000 population, Canada led the world in number of telephones in use, with 23.3 telephones per 100 inhabitants, against 22.9 for United States, which stands second. In smaller towns and villages, United States leads Canada slightly in per capita telephone installation.

You Lose the World's Respect When You Seem Too Eager to Win It.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THE most independent creature on earth is the American workman.

In his own words, he takes nothing off of nobody.

If a policeman or a fellow motorist ventures to criticize him, he answers back in a manner that invites arrest or battle.

Always and everywhere he stands up for his rights, and he isn't abashed in the presence of judges, millionaires or statesmen.

But when he is promoted and at last becomes part owner of the business, or when he sets up a shop of his own and begins to make money, or when some whim of fortune makes him rich, he becomes at once another and less admirable man.

He minds his p's and q's. He avoids scenes and violence. He dreads the wrong kind of publicity. He is afraid somebody will sue him. He walks warily to avoid losing a customer or a social advantage or the good will of a prominent citizen.

What accounts for the change in him?

It is the penalty of riches. He was once independent and manly because he had nothing to lose except his job and in normal times knew he could get another.

He lost his independence with his poverty. With wealth he developed the proverbial timidity of capital. He began to live in dread of many things because he had much to lose.

That is the explanation of poise and the lack of it.

People who are handicapped in social life and in business by a self-conscious and tongue-tied timidity are people who wish to make a good impression—people afraid of losing something. They lack poise because they lack independence.

There are but two ways to overcome the handicap—the rare one of winning power enough to scorn the world, and the comparatively easy one of learning not to fear it.

It is fear that robs you of poise. Once you decide to be guided by your own standards and not care a whoop for the world's opinions, your new independence will give you the poise that is born of indifference.

And the world you once feared to offend will note your indifference and say to itself: "Here is a person of some consequence. Let us ask him to dine."

Vice Presidential Booms.

Houston Post-Dispatch (Dem.)

While President Hoover is out in the Middle West this week, ostensibly making nonpartisan addresses, but in reality launching his campaign for renomination, interest in the vice presidential nomination on the Republican ticket revives. The type of man needed for second place will depend, of course, a good deal on who is named for second place. Belief that the President would be renominated has been pretty general, though right recently, the possibility of his having opposition from some progressive, perhaps Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, has developed.

Vice President Curtis, Postmaster General Brown, Secretary of War Hurley, Gov. Theodore Roosevelt of Porto Rico, and Senator Dwight W. Morrow, of New Jersey, all have been mentioned as vice presidential possibilities. It is no longer a secret that the Hoover forces hope Curtis will remove himself from consideration. Roosevelt has been suggested, for one reason, because the Democrats are expected to nominate Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, for President. Some of the Republican strategists do not want the Democrats to have the exclusive benefit of the use of the Roosevelt name in 1932.

The President's Speech.

Indianapolis News.

In an address notable for vigor and clarity, delivered before the Indiana Republican Editorial Association, the President described and analyzed the economic situation in which business is now seeking a secure footing, and laid before the people a timely reminder that there is no factual reason for misgivings about the solidity of the country's foundation. In his introduction he included the reminder that the country has come out of fifteen depressions in the last century "into a period of prosperity greater than ever before," and the prophecy that "we shall do so this time." In his conclusion, he declared that "if our people will go forth with the confidence and enterprise which our country justifies, many of the mists of this depression will fade away." Both in style and content, the speech reflected a substantial confidence in America's resources of material wealth and the ingenuity and aggressiveness of the people.

The Campaign Opens.

Houstin Post-Dispatch.

The campaign to secure the renomination of President Hoover is now launched, openly, and the President himself is taking a hand immediately. The conference of young Republicans in Washington, at which Cabinet officers and other administration leaders harangued the audinece on the achievements of the President and criticized his enemies, both in the Republican party and in opposition parties, was the curtain raiser.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Young People Not Under Control as in Pre-Volstead Days—Prohibition Not to Blame.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I have often wondered why our friend Hugh B. Rossell wasted so much energy and paper writing to you about things of which he seems to know so little.

Mr. Rossell's latest raving is about the crimes of our young people. Like most of the extreme wets, he tries to blame that upon prohibition. It is just like some of the extreme Democrats being ready to blame President Hoover for the drought of last summer.

Because some of our young people drink—just as they have always done—the blame is placed upon prohibition. Boys in my neighborhood had no difficulty getting plenty of liquor in the old barroom days when it was illegal to sell to minors. The liquor gang did not obey the law then. Can we expect the eighteenth amendment to change those old law violators into law-abiding citizens?

Before the war boys and girls did not have liberal allowances, the use of the family car, the privilege of staying out until daylight, and all the other things which seem to go with the modern freedom of youth. The few boys who had such privileges were usually the ones who went wrong. Now the matter of home training has been largely discarded and our boys and girls merely grow. They are not taught. It is considered smart to try to keep up with the Joneses in the matter of show, and our boys and girls want to have their cars and spending money like the neighbors' children. Because of their inexperience many of them go wrong. Other youngsters who do not have parents of means try to get the cars and money, even if they have to steal them.

The desire for show and for thrills causes the downfall of many of our youth. Then some radical wets, like Rossell, try to blame it upon prohibition in the hope that they may fool enough people and get a little more liquor at cheaper prices. I suppose it is unreasonable to think they will ever change any more than the leopard will change his spots.

A MARYLANDER.

Washingtonian Finds Police System Slow as Compared With New York.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The letter of "A Real Washingtonian" advises an outsider "to go back to New York" because he dared to criticize our police. The bravery of the individual policeman is not questioned,—but how about the system?

In New York if you wish a policeman, you blow a little whistle and cops advance from all directions. Here, let a bystander witness an accident or a hold-up and what is the method of calling a cop? Why, by telephone, of course. At 2 a. m. you are supposed to roam around to find a phone booth; and if you have found some bucket shop open operating under the guise of a "delicatessen," as on E street, you are supposed to have the nickel handy to ring headquarters, and headquarters will phone the nearest precinct, and they will relay it further. And after an hour or so the bodies and wreckage will be taken away and a report made. Great invention, the telephone!

"A real Washingtonian" ought to dig himself out of his smugness and take one of those cheap excursions to places like New York. He won't find the traffic cop lolling against the signal control box oblivious of trouble, but rather alert to flexibilize the situation by hastening this traffic line, momentarily stopping this one to let pedestrians through, cautioning here, and warning there. And he won't find the crew of a police car sneaking away from an accident and traffic snarl as I witnessed the other day—overhearing them remark, "Aw the hell with them." They hadn't been ordered there, and it was none of their business.

A WASHINGTONIAN WHO TRAVELS.

Selfishness and Ignorance Have Caused Business to Go Haywire.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: You hear and read about Hoover's faults, but aggressors fail to speak of their own. Ignorance and selfishness have caused business to go haywire.

Brotherhood is the only cure for the world's ills today; and, through the lack of this fair principle, ignorant brothers are made to pay. No wonder that millions are destitute in a land of untold wealth; although, through ignorance or selfishness, you have only to blame yourself. Peace is the art of living together—a requisite that has been lost, of which our inability in this respect has nailed us to the cross.

How he the topmost rung of fame might win.
"Last night," said he, "my father took me in

I want to know the secret and the way."
The genius said: "Tomorrow we'll begin.
Come back at nine and sit within the hall
Just where you sat last night and you shall see
Where all is dark, with none to cheer at all,
How fame and skill and ease have come to me."
And all day long he practiced there to let

Old Ironsides Cruise Is Planned

(Associated Press.)

Plans are afoot to have the restored frigate Constitution sail on her "patriotic cruise" from Boston Navy Yard July 3 under her own power and manned by a crew of 75 dressed in naval uniforms of 1812.

Representative Bloom, of New York, associate director of the George Washington Bicentennial Commission, said yesterday he agreed with advocates of the proposal that "Old Ironsides should be put into commission exactly as she was of old—to the last detail."

Bloom said he would guarantee to provide the uniforms if the Navy had no funds for the purpose. The Constitution will be brought to Washington for the Bicentennial celebration next year.

London to Get Australian Gold.

Alabama House Votes Muscle Shoals Plan

Montgomery, Ala., June 18 (A.P.).—The Alabama House of Representatives voted today to adopt a resolution authorizing the governor to appoint a commission of three to confer with a similar Tennessee commission on the disposition of Muscle Shoals.

The resolution would permit Gov. B. M. Miller to carry out the suggestions made by President Hoover for a commission from Alabama and Tennessee, a representative of the national farm organizations and an Army engineer to draw up plans for disposing of the huge nitrate plants at Muscle Shoals.

DO-X Lands at Bahia In Flight From Natal

Bahia, Brazil, June 18 (A.P.).—The giant German seaplane DO-X landed here today at 12:55 p. m. (10:25 a. m. E. S. T.) after a flight from Natal along the coast of Brazil.

The trip was the first stage of a flight to Rio de Janeiro, where the giant ship, which crossed the Atlantic with 13 passengers on June 6, will be exhibited at the Brazilian capital.

Bus Line Terminals Are to Be Changed

Three Lines to Have New Stops in Capital; Phone Stock Issue Delayed.

The Public Utilities Commission yesterday ordered three interstate bus lines to change their Washington terminals and parts of their routes. All have heretofore stopped in front of the Postoffice Department at Twelfth street and Pennsylvania avenue.

The Washington, Mariboro & Annapolis and the Peninsula Transit Corporation lines will have their terminals on the north side of Pennsylvania avenue, between Seventh and Eighth streets, while the Washington-Luray Co. will stop on the east side of Eleventh street, between Pennsylvania avenue and C street.

Action was postponed until Monday on the petition of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. to issue $7,000,000 worth of common stock, although the matter was discussed at length. A rate of $22.73 a year was set for each of the flexible progressive signal lights to be installed on Rhode Island avenue, between Twelfth and North Capitol streets.

ADVERTISING URGED TO HELP RECOVERY

Federation Again Names Hodges as President; Others Elected.

New York, June 18 (A.P.).—The Advertising Federation of America closed its four-day session today by reelecting Gilbert T. Hodges, of New York, to the presidency and expounding its collective views on the economic situation which it believes it can help improve.

Without attempting to offer a specific cure-all for the country's economic ills, the federation adopted resolutions advising business it can not realize its full development except through the widest possible distribution among the creators of wealth of an equable share of the profits of production.

It is the federation's collective belief that by establishing confidence in the future, and by skillful advertising, the latent buying power among the gainfully employed can be aroused so they will purchase more goods and contribute to business recovery.

It is asserted that a vital factor in restoring prosperity is the education of business men to relinquishment of obsolete ideas and acceptance of sound leadership.

Three vacancies on the board of directors were filled by the election of G. R. Schaeffer, Chicago; Turner Jones, Atlanta, Ga., and Frank G. Huntress, San Antonio, Tex. Five directors were reelected. They are Mr. Hodgese, the president; Francis H. Sisson and Robert L. Johnson, New York; Don G. Bridge, Indianapolis, and Miss Helen Baldauf, Milwaukee.

The reelection of Mr. Hodges, a member of the executive board of the Sun, for a second one-year term was expected. The death of Walter A. Strong, publisher of the Daily News, Chicago, left the chairmanship of the board vacant. Mr. Hodges said it would not be filled until the right man for the job is found. Robert L. Johnson and Joseph H. Appel, New York, secretary and treasurer, respectively, were reelected.

Invitations were extended to the federation to meet next year in Havana, Cuba; Columbus, Ohio, and Miami, Fla. They were taken under advisement by the board of directors.

Vacuum Tube Rule By Court Assailed

(Associated Press.)

The General Electric Co. filed in the Supreme Court yesterday a vigorous protest against the court's recent decision holding the Langmuir patent on vacuum tubes invalid. A rehearing was asked.

The decision, rendered in a suit brought by the DeForest Radio Co., was regarded as of the greatest importance by the industries using vacuum tubes.

The decision held the Langmuir patent did not involve invention, and referred to facts which it declared established prior use of high vacuums. The General Electric Co., in its petition, asserted the vitally important findings of fact on which the decision was based, while justified by the brief and argument of the DeForest Radio Co., were contradicted by the records in the case.

Circulation Managers Elect New Officials

Asheville, N. C., June 18 (A.P.).—C. W. Hixson, of the Syracuse (N. Y.) Post-Standard, was elected president of the International Circulation Managers Association, and Toronto, Canada, was selected as the 1932 convention city, at the closing session of the annual convention here today. Hixson succeeds J. N. Eisenlord, of the Chicago Daily News.

John Toler, of the Atlanta Constitution, was elected first vice president, and J. T. Montgomery, of the Detroit News, second vice president. Clarence Eyster, of the Peoria (Ill.) Star, was reelected secretary-treasurer.

Two Women Killed In English Plane Crash

Hatfield, England, June 18 (A.P.).—Miss Cecily O'Brien, well-known British aviatrix, and Mrs. Gordon Gallien were killed near here tonight when their plane crashed near the De Haviland Flying School.

Canal Claims Commission Urged.

Panama, June 18 (A.P.).—Foreign Secretary I. I. Vallarino has requested Minister Harmodio Arias in Washington to negotiate with the State Department for the reestablishment of a joint land commission in Panama to decide claims pending against the United States in connection with the construction of the canal.

New Belgian Cabinet Approved.

Brussels, Belgium, June 18 (A.P.).—The new cabinet of Premier Renkin won the approval of the Chamber of Deputies today. An expression of confidence was carried by a vote of 95 to 77, with five members abstaining from the balloting.

urged that France preserve complete liberty of action regarding naval construction.

"Our colonies have been conquered and safeguarded by the Navy," he said. "It is not at this moment when we are giving the world a marvelous spectacle of our colonial power in the colonial exposition that we should compromise the Navy."

He charged that every international conference had seriously diminished France's naval power. "At London," he said, "they asked us to suppress submarines, but fortunately we won. You are all following generous sentiments, but there is also a reality to be faced."

Reapportionment in Conference.

Springfield, Ill., June 18 (A.P.).—Congressional reapportionment was referred to a conference committee of the House and Senate today after the House had rejected Senate amendments and the Senate by another vote refused to withdraw its amendments.

FRANKLIN U. TO GIVE 93 DEGREES TONIGHT

Degrees of bachelor of commercial science will be conferred upon 93 graduating students at commencement exercises of Benjamin Franklin University in the main ballroom of the Mayflower Hotel this evening. Nineteen will receive the degree of master of commercial science. Thirteen of the graduates are women.

Edwin M. Trahey, of North Carolina, will be valedictorian, having stood at the top of the class with a mark of 96 in law and an average mark of 95.2 in accountancy.

Address to graduates will be delivered by Homer St. Clair Pace, of New York, author of many accounting textbooks and editor of the American Accountant. Mr. Pace will be introduced by John T. Kennedy, president of the university. Diplomas will be awarded by Edwin C. Bosworth, dean, and Belford E. Hunsinger, director of the school of accountancy and business administration.

Instrumental music will be furnished by an orchestra and vocal selections will be given by Richard Allen and Blaine Cornwell, jr., radio artists, accompanied by Miss Jewell Downs. Following the exercises an informal reception and dance will be held.

Officers of the graduating class are William Lawrence McCabe, president; Isabella Mallon, vice president; Julia Hopkins, secretary; Ralph E. McPherson, treasurer, and William Stafford Shaw, marshal.

Illinois Pure Milk Law Invalid.

Springfield, Ill., June 18 (A.P.).—The pure milk law passed by the General Assembly in 1923 was declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court today. The Legislature of Illinois has not the power to enact a law prohibiting the use of coconut oil in combination with skim milk, the court ruled in upholding an opinion of the Circuit Court of Montgomery County.

Parked Car Snaps Lamp Post When Brakes Fail

A parked automobile ran wild yesterday on Kenyon street and came to grief against a light pole at the southeast intersection of Adams Mill road northwest. The pole was snapped off short and the automobile badly damaged.

Police said the car belonged to Charles A. Kline, and was parked in front of his home at 1911 Kenyon street. The car ran backward down the hill, apparently when the brakes slipped.

Col. Alexander W. Maish Is Relieved of Duty Here

Because of ill health, Col. Alexander W. Maish, U. S. A., retired, has been relieved from duty as professor of military science and tactics in the Washington high schools, effective June 30, at his own request.

It is understood the vacancy will not be filled until after the summer vacation.

Nurse Found Shot; Note Tells of Dread

Bristol, Pa., June 18 (A.P.).—Miss Mary Virginia Turner, 23, of Cumberland, Md., who was graduated last month from a Philadelphia hospital nurse's school, was found today shot through the chest in a house in Haunted Lane, a summer resort near here. She was taken to a hospital here.

Police said they believed brooding over the death of Capt. Harlan Pefley, of the Marine Corps, known as her fiance, had prompted her to attempt to end her life. Capt. Pefley was killed last April by Nicaraguan rebels.

In a note found in the house, addressed to a friend named "Mary," she wrote: "I fear insanity worse than death." The young woman regained consciousness long enough to ask doctors to notify Miss Maud Tilghman, a nurse at the Shepherd-Pratt Hospital, Towson, Md. Her mother is believed to be Mrs. Ada Turner, of Cumberland, Md.

Vacation days . . .

and spotlessly clean

Remember when you used to fall in the mud, or jaunt to the old swimming hole? How you would dread the journey home, with hands and face full of dirt and mud? The thought of your parents holding up supper; waiting for you to put in an appearance? How you were scolded and spanked for your natural childhood tendency to get into mischief?

Vacation days recall all these things. They recall, too, the trouble and worry it was last summer to keep the children clean.

That is why we suggest that you get a modern Self-Operating Gas Water Heater. To be ready with plenty of hot water when they come in—as you did—after a day's play.

Self-Operating Gas Water Heaters give you an abundant supply of hot water at the turn of the tap—without worry, without waiting, without work. With instant hot water, it takes but a minute to transform son and daughter into clean, lovable tots whose health is assured by cleanliness and frequent baths.

A small down payment with liberal terms will put a Self-Operating Gas Water Heater in your home. There is no extra charge for financing and we will make you an allowance of $10 on your old heater. Drop in at any of our display rooms or see your plumber. Ask about our "Bargain Basement."

URGE YOU TO BUY UNION MADE WASHINGTON BREAD

Thereby Supporting the Local Baking Industry in Their Efforts to Protect Washington Citizens From the Wage-Cutting, Under-Selling Methods of Out-of-Town Interests. . . .

BISHOP FREEMAN SAYS:

"The seriousness of the present economic crisis lays an obligation upon us to do all in our power to maintain and stabilize our industrial and social order," declared Bishop Freeman. "The situation places a new test upon our patrotism. We can not but believe that loyalty to our highest ideals and to those large interests that concern our vital welfare will be disclosed by our people generally.

"This is no time for selfish insularity or a passive and impractical interest in the large concerns of industry. An unfounded pessimism at such a time as this must prove disastrous. Our optimism must disclose itself in practical and helpful ways by maintaining the high standards of efficiency as well as the high standards of wages. We shall certainly not cure our economic ills by a policy of unreasonable retrenchment.

"In the prosecution of the great work of building the Cathedral in the Capital we are making every endeavor to increase the number of workmen employed, to maintain the highest standards of efficiency and to guarantee to labor an adequate compensation. We do this not only in the interests of good workmanship, but of good patriotism and good Christianity.

"The President has wisely urged that the wage scale universally recognized be maintained. Those who are attempting to frustrate this wise admonition by displacing thoroughly competent workmen in the interests of those who are willing to work at an unreasonable compensation are certainly contributing to the extension of the present economic depression."

FATHER RYAN SAYS:

"The necessity for maintaining the union or American standard of living at this critical time is recognized by industrial leaders and union men alike and the union which aids in having them maintained not only benefits the working man, but is the protector of local industry and hence a vital factor in the welfare of the community in which it operates. The experience of the past few months shows us that if industrial leaders keep faith with the union the latter in turn will lend its full cooperation and more to those leaders in a crisis.

"An excellent example of such practical service rendered by a local union to its local industry and through this to the community, is given in the action being taken now by the Associated Bakery Unions of Washington in conducting the current 'Buy Washington-Made Bread' campaign, in support of local bakers. The bakers pledged themselves in an agreement with President Hoover this past Winter to maintain their wage scales and the general standard of production during the next two years. They have kept faith and hence, when their baking industry was menaced by out-of-town competition from firms attempting to operate on lower wage levels and to undersell the local industry in consequence, the unions themselves took up the cudgels for them and have borne the entire burden of their battle. Such action commends the unions to every straight-thinking citizen."

Our local bakeries merit the staunch support and loyal patronage of every citizen in Washington. We URGE you to LOOK FOR THE BAKERY ADDRESS on the wrapper of every loaf of bread you buy. Make sure it is the name AND ADDRESS of a Washington bakery. Then you know you are loyal to your community. And MORE IMPORTANT . . . you know that bread was made of the finest quality ingredients, in a regularly inspected Washington bakery (any listed below)—made by experienced UNION BAKERS. The best you can buy . . . fresh, pure, wholesome—AND SAFE!

BUILDING BOOM ON AT WOODLAND BEACH

Lot Owners Are Busy Erecting Handsome Bungalows for Summer Homes.

Away back in the days of gold rushes out West, villages and towns sprang up almost overnight. There was a stampede to locate and get a roof over the head.

Another rush is on these days, not so dramatic, but nevertheless a rush. And the buildings going up are much more complete, modern and architecturally pleasing than the shacks which housed those participating in the gold rushes.

The new rush is at Woodland Beach, the summer home development site sponsored by The Washington Post on South River in Maryland. The rush started a little more than a month ago and is still going strong with building operations following the first wave of buyers of lots at this delightful scene.

Cottages Are Springing Up.

Handsome cottages are springing up in every section of Woodland Beach as early buyers seek to gain several months benefit from their purchases in this retreat from the summer disadvantages of the city. All day long the owners work, together with men they have hired, while in many cases the members of the family romp and play nearby. Picnic lunches are the rule, but within a short time these ambitious families will be able to eat in their summer homes and have their friends out to visit them.

Even though you may not have planned to erect a summer home this year, now is the time to purchase a lot at Woodland Beach so that early next spring you may build and be prepared to spend an entire summer in peace and comfort. There are many fine locations left at the beach which you may obtain, either by calling at The Washington Post during the week or by appearing at the beach on Sundays and holidays. To reach Woodland Beach take the Defense highway toward Annapolis, turning right at Camp Parole onto Maryland State highway No. 2, across South River and then left onto Mayo road, which leads to the beach.

Not a Costly Investment.

Remember that an investment in a lot at Woodland Beach is not costly and even though later on you may not be able to make use of the site personally, you probably can turn it over to some one else at a profit. All lots are priced at $93 with the only requirement as a down payment being $9 in cash and the price of a subscription to The Post. The rest may be paid in monthly installments of $3.50.

Join the list of satisfied Woodland Beach lot owners today. A delay may prevent you from getting "just the lot" you wanted.

Baptist Conventions To Be Held in Capital

Augustus Gumpert, director of the Washington Convention Bureau, announced yesterday that the efforts of the bureau, together with those of the Columbia Association of Baptist Churches, have been successful in securing the 1933 conventions of both the Northern and Southern Baptist Associations.

Dr. H. W. O. Millington, secretary of the Columbia Association of Baptist Churches, has just returned from the Northern Baptist Convention in Kansas City, and has advised Mr. Gumpert that Washington has been chosen by both of these organizations, and it has been tentatively decided that these two conventions will be held the last week in May and first week in June, 1933. These groups will bring to Washington approximately 15,000 persons for a stay of two weeks.

Abducted Prisoner Flees From Captors

Huntsville, Ala., June 18 (A.P.).—A Negro farm laborer convicted of annoying a white girl, who was removed from the municipal jail early Tuesday by two unidentified white men, was reported in hiding here today after escaping from his captors.

Chief of Police H. C. Blakemore said he was advised by Mrs. Julia Brand, who resides near the prison, that she saw the men taking the Negro, Thomas Jasper, away. She was quoted as saying Jasper broke away from the men and fled. The abductors were described as fleeing in another direction as Mrs. Brand approached.

Colombia Passes Oil Concession.

Bogota, Colombia, June 18 (A.P.).—The Senate today approved the Gulf Oil Co. contract for development of the Barco concession. President Olaya is expected to sign the bill tomorrow.

ROBBERY VICTIM

Murder Case Alibi Claimed for Smith

Nine Witnesses Testify He Was Not in Virginia at Time of Killing.

Boydton, Va., June 18 (A.P.).—Nine defense witnesses this afternoon testified that Garland Smith, on trial for the murder of Bernard Puryear on December 29, 1929, was in North Carolina at the time the slaying took place near here.

Today's session ended with a clash between counsel over testimony of Clay Britten, defense character witness. On cross-examination the former Catawba County deputy sheriff admitted he gave himself up on a charge of making whisky "because I would not tell on another fellow." The defense objector, asserting that similar State testimony yesterday by Harry V. Shugart, Chase City police chief, was not admitted. The testimony was heard in absence of the jury and the judge said he would rule on its admissibility tomorrow morning.

Grid Star, Fleeing From Police, Shot

Mason, Duke Quarter Back, Wounded in Attempt to Win Freedom.

Charlotte, N. C., June 18 (A.P.).—Shot as he fled from police after an automobile wreck shortly before dawn today, Lowell Mason, star Duke University quarter back, lay in a hospital here tonight with a serious wound in his pelvis which may mean the end of his grid career.

Meantime an official investigation was under way, with Solicitor John G. Carpenter promising full publicity as to the actual cause and manner of the shooting by Capt. Alex West, of the police force.

Taken to the police station with two companions after their car had struck a milk truck about 4 a. m., Mason was said by police to have made a break for freedom.

As the youth darted down a side street Capt. West heard other police crying, "Stop him," and fired twice, into the ground he said. Mason disappeared but was found an hour later wandering about. He told of his wound, was taken home and later to the hospital.

Bank's Head Ignored Trusts, Says Witness

Nashville, Tenn., June 18 (A.P.).—The trust department of Caldwell & Co., $39,000,000 investment bank that collapsed last fall, was pictured today as operating for five years without once coming under the direct scrutiny of the concern's president, Rogers Caldwell.

Testimony to this effect was given by E. B. Smith, trust officer of the firm prior to its failure, in the trial of Caldwell on a charge of fraudulent breach of trust. Smith said Caldwell never entered the trust department nor discussed a single trust with him in the five-year period of his employment.

Tag Misuse Laid To Taxicab Firms

District Files Cases in Its War to Abolish Hotel Stands.

The District government's warfare against hotel taxi cab stands received impetus yesterday with the filing in the Police Court of six test cases.

The charges in the cases are that the taxi companies named are operating cabs with "L" tags on them and such cabs should bear "H" tags. The law, Assistant Corporation Counsel Edward W. Thomas said, specifies that cabs with "L" tags should operate only from garages in response to specific calls.

Loitering and parking away from hack stands are also charged in some of the cases. The Mayflower Taxicab & Sightseeing Co. and the Black & White Taxicab Co. are the only ones thus far to be subjected to the test. Upon the outcome of these cases rests the continuation of efforts to abolish hotel taxi stands.

Norfolk Rail Line Is Held Rebating

Atlanta, June 18 (A.P.).—A Federal grand jury here today returned a twenty-count indictment against the Norfolk & Western Railroad, charging rebating on newsprint shipped from Norfolk, Va., to Atlanta.

The indictment charges the railway with rebating to extent of 2½ cents per 100 pounds on numerous shipments of newsprint from Norfolk to Atlanta with the International Paper Sales Co., Inc., as consignor and consignee.

The Atlanta Journal says the action of the grand jury today followed an investigation of many months by rate experts and examiners of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

To smokers who are hard-to-convince

WE LIKE nothing better than to induce hard-to-convince smokers to switch to Camels for just one day.

For we know that after they have made a real test, it will be mighty hard to lure them away from this famous brand.

It's not easy to smoke parched-dry cigarettes once you have known the delights of perfectly conditioned Camels.

After inhaling the cool, soft fragrance of the Camel Blend of choice Turkish and mellow Domestic tobaccos protected by the Humidor Pack, your throat protests against the bite and sting and harsh hotness that comes from crumbly, dry tobacco.

No matter where you pick them up, in any land, in any climate, Camels are the same fresh, factory-prime cigarettes.

This is no mere advertising story. It is a recitation of fact that has made the whole country conscious of a new superiority in Camels.

If you are hard to convince, won't you switch to Camels for just one day? Then leave them—if you can.

Tune in CAMEL QUARTER HOUR featuring Morton Downey and Tony Wons
Columbia Broadcasting System—every night except Sunday

CAMELS

NO CIGARETTY AFTER-TASTE

● Don't remove the moisture-proof Cellophane from your package of Camels after you open it. The Humidor Pack is protection against sweat, dust and germs. It delivers fresh Camels and keeps them right until you smoke the last one.

EVENTS OF INTEREST IN SOCIETY CIRCLES OF CAPITAL

Spanish Envoy Is En Route To Capital

Madariago Expected to Reach This Country Next Week.

ARRIVING a week or two before schedule the Ambassador of Spain, Senor de Madariago, will reach New York on June 25 and will be met at quarantine in the harbor by Count de Montefuerte, counselor of embassy and charge d'affaires, and by the Spanish consul in New York. Count de Montefuerte will go to New York the preceding day. Whether the new ambassador will be accompanied by Senora de Madariaga is not known by the embassy staff, although early dispatches following the appointment of the new envoy indicated the decision of Senora de Madariaga to come to Washington when her husband first assumed his duties.

The ambassador's arrival here, some time before the initial plan which set the middle of July as the date, offers further speculation concerning the rumored launching of a campaign in Spain by the Coruna Republicans to nominate the statesman for the important post of deputy to the July constituent assembly. If the ambassador should permit the campaign and receive the nomination his stay in Washington would be of short duration and thus the probability of Senora de Madariago's coming to this country now lessened to a great degree.

Another Spanish envoy to the Western world, Senor Menez de Vigo, Ambassador to Mexico, with Senora de Vigo, are in this part of the world and will visit Washington en route back to Mexico City. They are now in New York and may delay their stay there until the arrival of Senor de Madariago.

The arrival of new diplomats in Washington may almost be recorded daily, so frequently do resignations and transfers occur. The recent appointment of Senor Felipe Espil as Argentine Ambassador to Washington will bring one of his closest friends, Senor Conrado Traverso, back again. When Senor Espil served here at the embassy several years ago Senor Traverso was also on duty in Washington. He is now in London as secretary of the Argentine embassy, and, eager to return to Washington, is about to realize his ambitions with his old friend Senor Espil preparing to take over the duties of ambassador. A popular pair they were in the old days and news of their return to Washington will be well received.

Ambassador Lindsay To Summer in England.

The British Ambassador, Sir Ronald Lindsay, will spend his vacation in England. He will sail from New York July 8 on the Aquitania. Lady Lindsay is established in Bar Harbor for the summer season.

Senator and Mrs. Thomas D. Schall, their young daughter, Paget Ann Schall; their son, Midshipman Thomas D. Schall, jr., with his surgeon, Dr. James F. Coupal, and Mrs. Coupal, are spending several days in Atlantic City at the Chalfonte-Haddon Hall. Midshipman Schall is still under physicians' care for injuries received in a motor accident last September.

Mrs. Frank B. Kellogg, after a brief visit in Washington, where she has been a guest at the Mayflower, will return to her home in St. Paul today. She will remain there until early in July, when she will accompany Mr. Kellogg to New York, whence they will sail July 11 for The Hague to attend sessions of the World Court.

Mme. Charalabos Simopoulos, wife of the Greek Minister, who will be in Newport this summer, is spending a few days in New York.

Representative Ruth Bryan Owen sailed yesterday on the Cliffwood from New York for a two months' tour through northern Europe. She is accompanied by her son, Reginald Bryan Owen; Ben De Loche, a young singer, who will remain abroad to study, and her daughter, Helen Rudd Owen.

Mrs. Le Seure Richardson, of Washington, niece of Miss Helen Cannon, and her sister, Mrs. William Houghteling, of San Francisco, have arrived in New York after an extensive trip broad. They are at the Berkshire.

Blue Ribbons Won at Show By Mrs. Pratt

Awards Also Received by Mrs. Mills at Flower Exhibit.

Exhibits from the Glen Cove estate of Representative Ruth Baker Pratt, of New York, won the majority of blue ribbons in the twentieth annual Oyster Bay flower show which opened Wednesday. Mrs. Pratt's exhibits, which attracted universal attention, offered a wide variety of flowers although no roses were entered. Also winning awards was Mrs. Ogden L. Mills, wife of the Undersecretary of State, who competed in the rose and vegetable classes, receiving blue ribbons for pink and red roses, outdoor flowers and for peas.

Outstanding among the first prize displays won by Mrs. Pratt were those of the best 25 square feet arrangement of sweet peas, on a green metal standard; the best collection of twelve varieties of sweet peas, the best grouping of flowering and foliage plants and cut flowers covering 50 square feet, the best six vases of annuals, the best vase of hardy perennials, the best gladioli, the best vase of sweet peas arranged for effect, the best table centerpiece and the best asparagus.

Mrs. Pratt and Mrs. Mills have established the custom during the winter season of importing to Washington flowers and vegetables for their household use, great boxes arriving by airplane or train every day, their contents representing the choicest blossoms and vegetables from their Long Island estates.

Occasionally Mrs. Mills herself superintends the care of her splendid greenhouses which are noted for their collection of orchids and gardenias.

Like Justice and Mrs. Owen J. Roberts and Senator and Mrs. Cameron Morrison, of North Carolina, Mrs. Mills and Mrs. Pratt have made a success of their cultivated areas. Justice Roberts has been particularly rewarded in the cultivation of dahlias and chrysanthemums on his Pennsylvania farm, and the Morrison estate, as every one knows, is famous for its carnations.

Mr. Claude R. Branch of Providence, R. I., is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Lord O'Brian in their apartment at Wardman Park Hotel.

Miss Winslow Announces Her Bridal Plans

Mrs. Wylde to Be Matron of Honor in Wedding to Mr. Noel.

Miss Theodora Winslow, daughter of Rear Admiral and Mrs. Cameron McR. Winslow, of Newport, has chosen her sister, Mrs. Cecil Irton Wylde, as her matron of honor for her wedding on Saturday, June 27, when she will be married to Mr. Auguste L. Noel, of New York, in St. Mary's Church at Newport. Mrs. Wylde was formerly Miss Emilie Winslow and was married only this month.

Another sister, Miss Natalie Winslow, and Miss Bianca D. Noel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis W. Noel, of New York, a niece of Mr. Noel, will be bridesmaids.

Mr. Noel's brother, Mr. Louis W. Noel, will be best man, and the ushers include Lieut. Cameron McR. Winslow, jr., U. S. N., and Mr. John C. Winslow, brothers of Miss Winslow; Messrs. G. MacCulloch Miller, Kermit Roosevelt, Marion S. Wyeth, Lewis S. Morris, Frederic R. King and LeRoy King, of New York.

Lieut. Gen. H. L. Bullard, retired, and Mrs. Bullard, of New York, are at the Shoreham Hotel.

Lieut. Comdr. and Mrs. John Wise Morse will entertain at the dinner dance on the Shoreham Terrace this evening for their daughter, Miss Frances Morse, and her fiance, Ensign Raymond Paul Hunter, whose marriage will take place on Saturday. The guests will include the members of the wedding party.

Mrs. Elisha Dyer Arrives in New York.

Mrs. Elisha Dyer, formerly Miss Katherine Whitaker, daughter of Mrs. N. Price Whitaker, of Washington, has arrived in New York from Europe and will be at the Madison for several days before going to Newport.

Three officers of the Spanish navy, Commander Felix Quiroga, Commander Antonio Gabache and Commander Manuel Tererro, have arrived for a month's visit in Washington. They are here to study naval tactics. Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Rennert entertained informally at tea Wednesday in their honor at their apartment, 2101 Connecticut avenue.

Commander Archibald H. Douglas, U. S. N., who has arrived in Washington from San Pedro, Calif., to take up his new post, is accompanied by Mrs. Douglas and their son. They are staying with Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. Sims in their apartment at Wardman Park Hotel for a few days.

Baron and Baroness von Below have closed their house on Sixteenth street and left for a motor tour to Germantown, Pa., and Cape May, later going on to the White Mountains and Canada. They will return to Washington October 1.

Bromfields in New York For European Voyage.

Mr. and Mrs. D Gordon Bromfield and Miss Dora D. Bromfield are in New York preparatory to sailing tonight for Europe on the Majestic.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Bennett, of Hinsdale, Ill., are guests at the Mayflower following a trip to White Sulphur Springs and Sweet Briar College, where the latter's daughter, Miss Nancy Slade, who is with them in Washington, plans to enter in a year or two.

The University of Michigan Alumni and Alumnae will hold their annual picnic at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred T. Newbold, Carroll lane, Silver Spring, Md., Saturday, June 27, at 2 o'clock. Supper will be served at 6. Outdoor sport will be held.

Mrs. George H. Carter, wife of the public printer, will entertain a party at luncheon tomorrow at the Shoreham Hotel.

Market Data Sought Here By Australian

Herbert H. Smith Has Done Much Traveling; Wife Social Worker.

En route home to Australia after a fifteen months' absence devoted to travel, Mr. Herbert H. Smith, member of the Victorian Parliament for Melbourne, and Mrs. Smith are spending a few days in Washington, where Mr. Smith is conferring with various members of the Departments of Commerce and Agriculture and with members of Congress on his favorite hobby in legislation—overseas marketing. They are at the Dodge Hotel.

Member of the Australian Parliament for eight to ten years Mr. Smith has devoted a great deal of time to foreign commerce and during an extensive tour of Europe has studied the markets of many nations. Mr. and Mrs. Smith made London their headquarters for many months, going back and forth to the continent on business and pleasure. They left Europe a few weeks ago for Quebec.

Although not interested in politics to the extent of active service, Mrs. Smith's penchant for social service work has engaged much of her time the last few years, working assiduously for the development of the Australian Boys Society, an organization which looks to the care of lads selling newspapers, &c. Associated with her is Miss Edith Onians, honorary secretary, whose visit to Washington about five years ago left a pleasant impression upon clubwomen with whom she was associated. While here Miss Onians studied the methods of American societies aiding boys.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith will leave town the middle of next week for Niagara Falls and will visit points in the Rocky Mountains before sailing from Vancouver in July. They will reach Sidney August 15 and will go to their home in Melbourne.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert J. Adair are spending a few days in New York.

Mrs. S. L. Stern, of Mount Ida, Va., and Washington, announces the marriage of her daughter Elizabeth to Mr. Charles T. Allen, of Washington. The ceremony took place June 4 in St. Paul's Episcopal Church, with the Rev. Calvert E. Buck officiating. Mr. Allen and his bride will be at home after Sunday at the Park Central Apartments.

Miss Margaret Baxter will leave Washington tomorrow to visit Mrs. Herbert F. Gunnison in Brooklyn, N. Y., where she will attend the wedding Tuesday of Miss Virginia Crisfield and Mr. Warren Ostrom. After the wedding she will visit in Connecticut, and later will motor to Lake Willoughby, Vt., to be director of arts and crafts at the Keewaydin Camps for July and August.

The engagement of Miss Mary Ernst Cooper, a debutante of last winter, to Roger Robb, of Washington, was announced yesterday at a tea given by the parents of the bride-elect in Pittsburgh. Miss Cooper, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howell C. Cooper, of Sewickley, Pa., graduated from Dana Hall in 1927 and from Vassar College in 1931.

Mr. Robb, son of Associate Justice of the District Court of Appeals Charles H. Robb and Mrs. Robb, graduated from Yale in 1928 and Yale Law School this year.

Going to The Hague

Harris & Ewing.

MRS. FRANK B. KELLOGG will accompany Mr. Kellogg to Europe in July to attend sessions of the World Court at The Hague.

MacCracken Made Delegate For Congress

Educator Chosen to Go to University Parley in London.

Member of a family of distinguished educators, Dr. John Henry MacCracken, former president of Lafayette College, has achieved further recognition in the world of letters. He has been chosen by the American Council on Education as representative at the fourth quinquennial Congress of Universities of the British Empire. The session will be held in London July 2, and Dr. MacCracken will sail tomorrow for England.

News of Dr. MacCracken is of particular interest to Washington, where he and his wife will become established within a year. They are building a spacious home on S street near the homes of Senator David A. Reed, the Undersecretary of State, Mr. William R. Castle, jr., and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson.

A delegate to the Lausanne conference in 1927, president of the American Institute of Christian Philosophy and president of the board of the American College in Teheran, Persia, Dr. MacCracken is internationally known, and he and his wife will be welcome additions to Washington's group of intellectuals. Dr. and Mrs. MacCracken hail from New York, where they have a home at 9 East Eighty-third street. The former is a brother of Dr. Henry Noble MacCracken, president of Vassar College.

American Rotarians Reach France.

Havre, France, June 18 (A.P.).—Three hundred and five American Rotarians arrived on the liner Carmania today on the way to the international convention at Vienna. Judge S. K. Fall, president of the Havre Rotary, met them at the pier.

Six New Taxicab Stands Set Aside by Officials

Six new hack stands were established yesterday by the District Commissioners and four other taxi parking spaces were enlarged, upon the recommendation of Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of police.

MOUNTAIN VALLEY MINERAL WATER

Nearly 100 Years Old— Yet It Thrills You

The picture was made nearly 100 years ago by an unknown photographer who used crude camera. But that man was an ARTIST—and his artistry thrills you yet. So with Underwood artists today—their portraits will preserve YOUR beauty when other cameras and other artists have come—and gone.

Exquisite photographs as low as $16 the dozen.

Culbertson on Contract

by Ely Culbertson

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Mr. Culbertson will be glad to answer questions on bidding and play of hands sent in by readers. Address him in care of The Washington Post, ENCLOSING A TWO-CENT STAMPED, SELF-ADDRESSED ENVELOPE.

That Panicky Feeling.

V.

IN Bridge, as in life, we must constantly lean on our partners and allies. There are very few hands dealt ready made, so perfect that they can travel on their own legs, so to speak, and a player may dispense with the necessity of finding a bid that best fits in with partner's type of hand.

In fact, even with very strong hands few will score game without favorable trump distribution or about 1½ honor tricks in partner's hand. As a rule, therefore, a One bid, especially in a suit, will not miss game even with quite strong hands. Partner (or opponents) will either show some sign of life, for he must respond with as little as 1½ honor tricks, or, when distribution is favorable, with less. If partner passes, One is usually the best bid.

Big Advantage.

Opening suit bids of One have the tremendous advantage of keeping the bidding quite low and insuring unbiased information. Partners can save one and sometimes two precious rounds of bidding which leaves them ample time to exchange complete and detailed information.

For this reason the ideal bid in the Culbertson Standard System is a One bid in a suit. Opening bids of three or higher are rare because they always require and show a powerful trump suit; Opening (forcing) two-bids are merey tolerated as a necessary evil and are reserved for hands of such gigantic strength that a game is reasonably assured even if partner holds a near-blank. The requirements for opening two-bids are from 4½ to 5½ honor tricks in three suits, depending on trump strength, but never less than 5½ with but 4 or 5 card trump suits.

This hand is a typical example of an atrocious two-bid rampant throughout the country:

Both sides vulnerable
No score.

♠ A K 5 4 3
♥ A 3 2
♦ A 10 9
♣ K Q

The usual bidding is:

South (D'ler)	West	North	East
2 ♠	Pass	2 NT (cheerfully)	Pass
3 NT	Double!		All Pass

The usual result is: 1,800 points set.

With a hand of this type, if partner is blank (which is quite probable) and the spade suit breaks unevenly, at the most five tricks are available and four more tricks must be found in partner's hand: The law of preservation is the first law of Bridge. The hand should be bid as "one spade" and, if partner passes, game is not in the hands.

It's Just Human.

No amount of logic can induce many players to develop their hands naturally. The reason is to be found in human nature. Most players are aware of that peculiar panicky feeling that grips them when they happen to pick up a strong hand or a freak. A sense of doom overshadows them.

This feeling has its roots in the painful realization that, after all, one's partner is not only human but a moron. He surely could not cope with an unusual hand! He is built for the average! He must be treated with vigor and rapidity and then begin a series of jumpy fantastic bids motivated by a subconscious desire to circumvent partner's low intelligence and prevent him from interfering.

Inasmuch as our partner usually holds the same opinion of our intellectual equipment, it goes double. As a matter of fact the more our partner is supposedly stupid, the more it is imperative to bid as low as possible, thus leaving plenty of room to jump around and rectify in time his (or our) stupidity.

With any partner the ideal bid is low, not high . . . and let nature take its course.

Ann Interprets the Mode

New York, June 18.

THERE'S a great deal of talk nowadays about simplicity being the secret of chic—and there's no doubt that simplicity in attire is always smarter than fussiness, but there is a point where too great a simplicity becomes mere plainness and is out of place and defeats its own ends by being conspicuously and obviously simple. Certainly the gala and elaborate receptions during the "Grande Semaine" the famous last week of June in Paris is no place or time for the type of gown that features either unadulterated severity or girlish demureness. And all the collections of the haute couture showed gowns of really formal elegance for the type of occasions where charming little evening frocks of flowered chiffon wouldn't do at all.

And though it's true that even very formal gowns don't depend on gobs of fancy trimming for their formal effect, still certain types of trimming do accentuate the formality of many gowns as shown by the haute couture.

A lovely type of evening trimming used by Schiaparelli, Maggy Rouff, Ardanse and others is twisted strands of material to outline the decolletage either in the same color and material as the gown or contrasting to it. Ardanse showed a black chiffon gown with a twisted roll of green velvet around the decolletage and also around the large armholes of the black chiffon wrap. Schiaparelli used twisted bead fsinge to form a half girdle on a white headed evening gown of very gala elegance.

Many of Worth's evening gowns had girdles and bow encrusted flat into the gown—sometimes outlined in beads. And one black satin gown chez Worth had a black and white feather pinned to the shoulder—a gay and original formal touch.

Of course many harness decolletages of beaded strands of material appear at all the collections and this type of trimming is sufficiently elaborate for the swankiest of occasions.

Lusciously lovely underwear, and plenty of it, is the cry today when inner and outer beauty are the things we are striving for. Yet, to be beautiful, underwear must be original, it seems to me—and with the thought in mind of combining these two characteristics I designed the nightgown and negligee sketched for you today! The nightie is of heavy peach crepe georgette—the material itself so lovely that the nightgown is cut on very simple lines. But the negligee, of peach satin, is cut on unusual lines, softly draped, and gathered together at the very high empire waistline where it ties with a turquoise blue rubbon, which binds the neck. Isn't the ensemble attractive, with its negligee skirt so long in back that it's really a train?

* * * *

When you are making your own undies, for your trousseau, or just for instance, don't be satisfied with lovely material made up in unnoteworthy styles! It is just as easy to originate styles that suit you, yourself, perfectly, as to pick out any pattern and use it without any reason. If you like the graceful, seductive lines given by the Empire waistline, why don't you copy this design of mine? You'd adore it!

* * * *

A hat for your pink dress—a hat for your blue dress—and a pink and blue hat for your pastel flowered dress! Better send your stamped, self-addressed envelope right off to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for this week's illustrated leaflet that tells you how to make just any number of hats with interchangeable brims and crowns that snap on—hats of a truly becoming nature—for less than you'd pay for one in the shops!

* * * *

And you'll enjoy reading next Sunday's weekly Dare fashion letter. Look for it in the big Sunday Post.

Indoor and Outdoor Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

RHODODENDRONS THE FIRST YEAR.

A RHODODENDRON is a slow grower. This applies to roots as well as foliage. Therefore it always takes a plant a full year to become established in a new environment. This is one reason why the rhododendrons are so expensive. The growers devote much time to developing even a young plant for the market.

The first year is always the most important one with a rhododendron. I refer, of course, to a plant in the open garden. A specimen that you purchased at Easter or later in the spring should have been planted in the open just as soon as the weather permitted.

When first set out, a rhododendron seems quite undecided whether to live or die. After the first year it will require little care, but the first summer it demands some coaxing.

In the first place the soil must be properly prepared, and in a great measure the success you will have depends on the location. The rhododendron will never, no matter what variety you plant, do well in any but a sheltered place. If you have a north angle of a house, where you feel sure plants will never grow, that is just the spot where a rhododendron will flourish.

When you prepare the soil for this plant, dig it very deep, as much as 3 feet. Break the soil into very fine particles. The rhododendron delights in any good garden loam, but usually it is wise to incorporate a generous portion of peat or leaf mold with the soil. After you have prepared the soil you should consider the matter of drainage, else the plant will die or at least be only a very indifferent specimen. Also it will not have become sufficiently adapted to its new atmosphere even to begin to live the winter through.

At this time and through July and August—in its growing season—the rhododendron must be given a great deal of water. If you neglect to do this and depend only on summer showers, you will never be successful with your plant. A mulch is also necessary. This may be of leaves and will effectually keep the soil from drying out. In their natural habitat we find the rhododendron roots always covered with dead leaves, and they are usually shaded by the great growth of forest trees.

Never trim a rhododendron. If you do, you are sure to cut away some of the flowering wood. Carefully remove all dead florets so as to permit the development of next season's blooms.

Wives of Tomorrow

FRANCES M'DONALD

A Lonesome Widower.

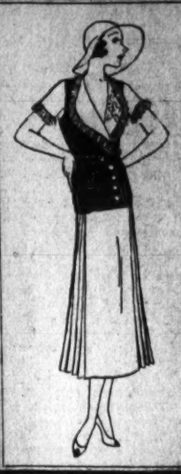
DEAR Frances McDonald—I read your letters and comments with a great deal of pleasure. I am not in trouble, as many of your inquirers for advice. I lived a happy married life, I raised a large, interesting family, all of whom are married and doing for themselves. I buried my wife while most of my children were quite young. I have been a widower for some years and I am advanced some in years. I own a farm and have an income aside from the farm. A married daughter lives on the farm. I have my home with them. I am lonesome and would like to marry. I am asking your advice, whether you would advise a gentleman in comfortable circumstances, though a little advanced in years, to marry. If so, suggest some way that a refined gentleman might become acquainted with a lady of like refinement, as there are no ladies of my choice in my immediate neighborhood. Signed,

A LONESOME WIDOWER.

Of course you should marry—and why not? I think it a shame that some woman has been missing the pleasure of such companionship as you would be so well qualified to offer. And I think you should at once go about the delightful business of selecting a bright and interesting companion for the days that lie ahead.

Now here is what you must do. Tell your family that you are going on a trip and in some nearby city top yourself out in the sort of things the up-and-coming man wears. Grandfathers are apt to look altogether too much like great-grandfathers' fathers. Around their home town they are afraid some of the drug store wiseacres may think them giddy, so they wear whatever heaven sends and feel the way any one would under such circumstances. I wish you could see some of the 70-year-old chaps I met out in Los Angeles. Retired and out for their first holiday. Driving their own little roadsters. Playing golf and playing the horses. They could not have been any more clever and interesting at 50.

One of them confided to me that if his son's wife could see the suit he was wearing, she would have him promptly committed as incompetent. The suit was just a good-looking tweed—which, by the way, is a good material for any figure that is not what it once was! And he looked 100 per cent right in it. He asked me about ties and we went in town and bought some. After a while he told me he thought that Mrs. Moore, who had such nice eyes, seemed awfully lonely, always by herself. I agreed that she did and I went over and spoke to Mrs. Moore. And after a while I called to my boy friend to come over. I introduced them and that night and every night until I left they were to the movies or for a ride. Mrs. Moore had had lots of trouble. A gentle competent type that missed the need of doing for others. Perhaps she talked too much of trouble and sorrow, but he did not seem to mind. He knew what trouble was. So they spent hours together. Introduced each other by post card to friends back home. Had a grand time. They are probably married by now. If not they at least have each a new friend in the other. And my boy friend will never be lost for companionship again for now he knows how to go about getting acquainted. He told me after the introduction had taken place that he was "thunderstruck how painless it turned out to be." He was a peach. I hope she had the sense to take him. And I hope before Labor Day comes around you will be asking some one with nice eyes to walk with you down the hill toward the sunset. It is the sensible thing to do, and do let me know how it turns out.



Shine at Sports in Satin

The New JELLEFF'S

YOUR NAME — WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

By HARRY A. DEFERRARI, PH. D.

THE study of names reveals that many family names which appear to be the same as personal names, being spelled and pronounced in exactly the same way, do not necessarily have the same sources and meanings. This will be made clear by a consideration of the names "Ellen" and "Helen."

The family name "Ellen" has come down to us from three main sources. In most cases it is of English origin, and its full significance is "he who lives near the elder-tree." Sometimes it may be traced back to the Anglo-Saxon "Ellen" which is found as the first element in many old personal names, and which may be translated "courage," "zeal" and "vigor." A third source is the feminine name "Ellen" which is derived from "Helen." "Helen" is ultimately of Greek origin, and may be translated "sunlight." Some of the many instances of the family name "Ellen" in the Hundred Rolls are William Elinne, Henry Elene, Margaret Eline and David Elene.

When the family name "Helen" is of English origin, it is merely a variation of the family name "Ellen," and may be traced back to three quite different sources according to which it may mean "the elder-tree," "courage" and "sunlight." However, when the family name "Helen" is of Irish origin it is a variation of "Heelan." An English document of the year 1379 bears the names of Margareta Helyn and Johannes Helyn.

The family name "Heelen" is one of the many modern forms of the original Irish "O Haolain." Other common variations of this Irish family name are "Helen," "Hillane," "Hilian," "Heyland," "Hylan," "Hyland" and "Holland," although it should be remembered that some of these variations have other sources also. "O Haolain" means "the descendant of Faolan." The personal name "Faolan" means "the little wolf."

What Today Means to You

"GEMINI."

IF June 19th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7:30 a. m. to 10:05 a. m., from 2 p. m. to 4:15 p. m. and from 8 p. m. to 10:30 p. m. The danger hours are from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m. and from 6 p. m. to 7:45 p. m.

June 19th promises to be, astrologically, an unsatisfactory day with an unsettled atmosphere. There will arise a mixture of ill-defined tendencies; various tasks begun, and then modified or abandoned. The execution of contracts should be delayed. Home conditions will be charged with suspicion and mistrust.

It will need a strong hand to curb the willfulness of the child born on this June 19th. In youth it will want its own way, regardless of the interests or convenience of others. In adulthood, it will still be strong-headed and selfish, although at times, emotional, sentimental and passionate.

You, if born on June 19th, always give the impression of great strength of character, and intellectual power. Your eyes seem to reflect a fundamental sincerity which makes you, at times, almost irresistible, both in business and in love. You often display nervousness, and frequently instead of a doer of deeds, become a spite of a strong will, overbalance cool calculation. This militates against outstanding success.

In your calm movements, you look before you leap. Every action is considered; every word is weighed. You leave nothing to chance. If it were possible to maintain this attitude of mind, you would be great in achievement. Unfortunately, your emotions, assert themselves at the most unexpected times, when judgment and discretion go by the board. What, in many cases, it has taken a long time to construct, is destroyed in a few moments by a mental earthquake.

Your horoscope indicates great possibilities with fewer probabilities. Your one great enemy will be yourself, and, in later years, you will look back with twinges of regret on lost opportunities. Your home life will, after savoring of Paradise, revert to the humdrum. Only the presence of children—whom you like and who like you—will relieve it of monotony.

Successful people born June 19:

1. Joseph E. Sheffield, merchant.
2. George Kellogg, inventor.
3. Earl Haig.
4. William A. Brady, theatrical manager.
5. Charles William Dabney, university professor and author.
6. Sam Walter Foss, poet.

LUNCHEON IS GIVEN NEWSPAPER GROUP

Board of Trade Committee Host to South Carolina Press Association.

Bonds of affection between South Carolina and Washington were strengthened yesterday when the South Carolina Press Association was entertained by the greater National Capital committee of the Washington Board of Trade at a luncheon at the Willard Hotel.

Greetings to the South Carolina delegation were brought by A. C. Case, chairman of the greater National Capital committee, and George W. Offutt, president of the Washington Board of Trade. Response was made by Fred D. West, outgoing president of the South Carolina Press Association, United States Senator Byrnes, of South Carolina, and former Gov. Cooper of South Carolina.

Mr. Case told of the advantages of Washington as an educational center, declaring that the National Capital is surpassed by no city in libraries and other branches of research for learning. The visitor to Washington would need to spend 30 days in order to absorb all that is worth seeing, Mr. Case told the more than 70 South Carolinian newspaper men and women.

Byrnes' Speech Optimistic.

A strong note of optimism was sounded by Mr. West and Senator Byrnes. Mr. West said that South Carolina and the rest of the South has learned a lesson from the economic depression which is proving greatly beneficial, resulting in a higher grade of efficiency, elimination of surplus products and reduced costs.

Senator Byrnes declared that the same spirit which brought about the rehabilitation of the South after the Civil War is reviving the States below the Mason and Dixon line from the economic depression, paving the way for a greater and more prosperous South. In a somewhat humorous vein, he said that to get the real news he had to come to Washington and be among newspapermen, asserting that newspapermen print only half the news, suppressing the other half because of the libel laws. He jocularly remarked that this was particularly true of South Carolina.

Mount Vernon Is Visited.

The visitors went to Mount Vernon yesterday afternoon. Last night they were entertained by Mrs. Edgar Morris at her home on Colorado avenue northwest. At noon today they will be welcomed by President Hoover at the White House.

A business meeting was held here yesterday, at which the following new officers were elected: A. W. Huckle, of Rock Hill, president; P. M. Dees, of Winsboro, first vice president; W. E. Gonzales, of Columbia, second vice president; H. C. Booker, of Columbia, secretary, and F. C. Withers, of Columbia, treasurer.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

THE first time Anna May Wong ever appeared in a picture—apropos of nothing whatever, but on a day like this a paragraph is a paragraph—she played the part of a servant girl carrying a tray. She was bearing it to her screen idol, Hayakawa, and she had left school flat to do it.

Now Anna May is back in Hollywood, after a conspicuously brilliant European experience to costar in a picture bearing the title of "Daughter of the Dragon." The other half of the costellar duo will be—you guessed it—none other than Sessue Hayakawa himself. Hayakawa is returning to the American screen after an absence of twelve years.

Won't he be surprised when he sees who's playing opposite!

A queer combination, this Los Angeles-born Chinese girl, Anna May Wong. The helpful Mr. Keavy reports from the West Coast that when he heard her talk without seeing her he was almost convinced that it was Ruth Chatterton, English accent and all. The daughter of a laundryman—now retired, thanks to the generosity of his daughter—Anna May now punctuates her conversation with frequent "Rightos," "My words" and "Fancy that."

She recently—prior to her appearance in a last season hit in New York, that is—has appeared in movies in Germany, England and France, an operetta in German in Vienna and a play in London. When the play, which was short-lived, was presented in London the critics agreed that Anna May was great, but resented her Hollywood accent, whatever that is. So Anna decided to go British. All it needed, it seems, was a special delivery, but it cost her 200 guineas to find that out from a hired tutor who did his work so thoroughly that now she can't rid her speech of the Piccadilly taint now that she's back home.

In order to make a talkie in Germany Anna had to learn German. A Czechoslovakian actor and a Viennese professor taught her. She learned French from a native and starred in a French talkie.

In Europe Anna May became a big shot and she intended to remain there, but such an excellent offer was made her to appear in that Edgar Wallace melo in New York—and just at a time when she was pretty homesick, anyway—that she accepted.

She didn't expect to return to Hollywood, particularly since it was a bit of a squabble that caused her to leave in the first place, but there she is—and away up on top!

In case you have been under the impression that "Strange Interlude," scheduled to go into a second week at the National, is being enjoyed only by hoi polloi, it may interest you to know that at Monday night's opening performance the Hon. Josephus Daniels, former Secretary of the Navy in the Wilson Cabinet, occupied a box and was one of the O'Neill drama's most fascinated spectators.

And on Wednesday night, who was present but William A. Brady, husband of Grace George, father of Alice and one of the best known of the old-line theatrical producers. It was "Bill" Brady, you will remember, who managed "Gentleman Jim" Corbett when he was heavyweight champion of the world.

It was thought at first that Mr. Brady might be looking "Strange Interlude" over with a view to buying it, in case he thought it would go on Broadway, but it developed later that he was in the Capital on a matter of taxes, or something.

In a notable exhibit of flags now on display at the Fox Theater, an important inclusion is the prize-winning design of a flag for the District of Columbia, selected by the board of judges as best from among hundreds that were submitted in the contest recently conducted by The Washington Post.

The design in question was created and entered in the contest by Mr. William Boone Douglass, of this city.

With regard to the flag display at the Fox, it was a decorative idea prompted by Flag Day. Jackson Hurford, assistant manager, by dint of much enterprise and no little legwork, as we say out in the alley, finally rounded up a sufficient mass of bunting to make the Fox lobby look like Fourth of July aboard a flagship. When it came time to decorate the theater, however, Emmett J. McCormick, house superintendent and a former Marine, made a momentous discovery. Every State was represented. And every nation was represented, except one. By some inexplicable oversight the only flag omitted was the Stars and Stripes!

And if you think ex-Marine Emmett J. McCormick didn't rectify THAT omission——

Mr. La Falce, of the Warner publicity forces, dashes in in person to spread the glad tidings that Kitty Doner has been booked to headline an early vaudeville bill at the Earle.

Miss Doner is the closest approach to a Vesta Tilley—or did she spell it T-i-l-l-e-y—that the modern stage can boast. Her appearances at the B. F. Keith Theater and before that in the Al Jolson companies always were good for inflated returns at the box office. There is no reason to believe that it will be any different now.

Come to think of it, I do not recall Kitty Doner's ever having appeared in Washington since the days of B. F. Keith's—which ought to make it all the more so!

And would you say that that early morning chase with a gun out in Reno was just a Vanderbilt convention?

SCOUTS MAKE PLANS FOR BIG JAMBOREE

Festivities, Which Open Today at Camp Good Will, to End Sunday Morning.

Roy F. Seymour, of Philadelphia, regional executive of the Boy Scouts councils in Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware and Virginia, arrived in Washington yesterday to put the finishing touches on the preparations for the regional scout jamboree which will open today at Camp Goodwill, in Rock Creek Park, and continue through Sunday morning.

The delegation will arrive this afternoon, and at 5 o'clock will visit the White House to be viewed by President Hoover.

A scout campfire 1,000 strong, an unusual scene, will be the order of the evening.

After their breakfast Saturday the scouts will leave for Arlington Cemetery, where they will place a wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier at 10:15 o'clock, which will be followed by a visit to Mount Vernon and lunch at Haina Point. After lunch the delegation will visit the Lincoln Memorial, the National Museum and the Capitol.

The day will close with the regional review at 5 p. m., followed by supper and campfires.

Mass for Catholic scouts will be held at 8 o'clock Sunday morning, and a service for all the campers is scheduled for 9 o'clock.

After the presentation of emblems to the scouts at 10 a. m. Sunday, the jamboree will close and the scouts will head homeward.

Children to Study Fife, Drum, Bugle

Pupils to Enroll at Thomson School for Instruction in New Corps.

Enrollment of pupils of the public schools in the new Fife, Drum and Bugle Corps planned under the auspices of the Community Center Department, will get under way at Thomson School, Twelfth and L streets northwest, today. Because of interest already evinced the organizers expect to form a corps larger than any similar group in the country.

Instructors have been busy ironing out the difficulties that will present themselves in training so many children. The young drummers will practice on blocks of wood until the rudiments are learned, while the fifers will use bottles to learn the knack of blowing the fife.

Classes in group instrumental instruction will be held during a six-week period beginning next Monday at Thomson School, which has been termed for the summer "music headquarters."

Restaurant Blaze Extinguished.

Diners at the Allies Inn, Seventeenth street and New York avenue northwest, last night sat calmly at their tables while firemen extinguished a fire which started in the kitchen during the supper hour. Little damage was caused by the fire, starting from overheated grease.

Better Business Bureau Membership Will Meet

Joshua Evans, jr., chairman of the board, announced yesterday that the annual meeting of the membership of the Better Business Bureau will be held at 12:30 p. m. next Friday, at the National Press Club.

At this meeting reports will be received from the officers and the report of the trustee nominating committee will be submitted.

Wholtsale Drug Group Holds Annual Election

Paul Pearson has been reelected president of the Washington Wholesale Drug Exchange the annual meeting of which was held in the Alexandria office of its attorney, Gardner L. Boothe.

W. P. Herbst and F. B. Tipton were reelected first and second vice president. A. V. Burdine is the new secretary; N. D. Parker, assistant secretary, and Robert N. Harper, treasurer.

Filipino Rites to Honor Dr. Jose Rizal's Memory

Filipinos of Washington tonight will observe the seventieth anniversary of the birth of Dr. Jose Rizal, native patriot who was executed during Spanish domination of the Philippines. The exercises will be under the auspices of the Visayan Circle, Inc., at its hall, 1817 K street northwest.

Dr. Diosdado Maurillo Yap will preside and opening remarks will be made by Isaac M. Capayas, president of the circle. In a debate on "Resolved: That the Philippine Legislature should pass a law restricting Filipino immigration to the United States," Calixto Abasolo and Perfecto Amansec will take the affirmative, and Frederico Cruz and Nolasco Icarangal the negative. Music and an address by James G. Wingo will complete the program.

Girl, 12, Treated for Poisoning.

Twelve-year-old Anna M. Thomas, colored, 39 Patterson street northeast, was treated at Casualty Hospital for iodine poisoning yesterday after she swallowed a quantity of the liquid at her home. Physicians said her condition was not serious. She later returned home.

YEARS OF GRACE - - -

By MARGARET AYER BARNES

SYNOPSIS.

Muriel Lancaster and Ed Bridges are married and leave for their honeymoon. The families gathered for the wedding at old Mrs. Ward's home, enjoy a jolly reunion, especially the younger generation. Young Albert Lancaster, handsome and distinguished after his diplomatic training, finds much to admire in beautiful, blonde Cicily, who loves excitement and glitter. Jane, watching the young relatives-in-law, decides it is useless to worry about them, as they all seem happy together.

CHAPTER VIII.

CICILY, JENNY AND STEVE.

"I WANT to talk to you," Isabel had whispered. "Don't say anything in front of Mamma."

She was handing Jane her teacup as she spoke, in the little brown library. Mrs. Ward, preoccupied with misgivings on the consistency of the new cook's sponge cake, had not heard her. Jane had looked up, a little startled, into Isabel's plump, comfortable countenance. Her eyes looked rather worried.

"And how was Mrs. Carver's arthritis?" Mrs. Ward was inquiring of Jane. "Poorly, I suppose, in that damp climate. We had a lovely summer in Chicago."

Mrs. Ward always loved to talk about the infirmities of other old ladies, and she felt the need at the moment, to justify, in the minds of her daughters, her and Minnie's contested decision to spend the dog-days in town. Jane let the statement pass unchallenged. No one could do anything with Minnie, and her mother had borne the heat very well. If she liked to spend the summer one mile from Chicago's loop—Isabel did look worried, thought Jane, as she commented favorably on the sponge cake. Probably Minnie was raising some kind of ruction again.

Ought to Make Mrs. Ward Move.

When she stood up to go an hour later, Isabel rose also.

"Run me home in your car, Jane," she said.

The two sisters left the house together.

"Well, what is it?" asked Jane, as soon as they were seated in the motor.

"We can't talk here," said Isabel. "The traffic's too noisy. Run me out on the lake front. Isn't this street awful? We ought to make Mamma move."

They certainly ought, thought Jane. Stripped of its elms, widened to twice its size, invaded by commerce and metamorphosed into North Michigan boulevard, Pine street bore no resemblance to the provincial thoroughfare of Jane's childhood. The wide yards had vanished, and many of the old red brick and brownstone houses had been pulled down to make way for the skyscrapers. Those that were left were defaced by billboards or disfigured with plate-glass show windows, in which gowns and cosmetics and lingerie were displayed for sale. Mrs. Ward was the only old resident now living south of Chicago avenue.

Isabel Staring Straight Ahead.

Jane turned down Superior street in search of quiet. As they rolled past the dirty, decaying facade of a row of boarding houses, she turned curiously to look at her sister. But Isabel was staring straight before her down the dusty street, her eyes on the flash of brilliant blue at the end of it that was the lake.

"Let's park on the curve," she said, as Jane turned into the outer drive. Jane drew up at the edge of the parkway. The curve commanded a view of the Oak Street Beach again, seen now across the blue water, with a ragged fringe of skyscrapers beyond it, outlined against a sunset sky.

"What's on your mind, old girl?" said Jane.

"Can't you guess?" said Isabel.

Jane looked at her with increasing uneasiness. This curious reticence was very unlike Isabel. Isabel was usually delighted to break the bad news.

"No," said Jane, "I can't."

"It's about Belle," said Isabel.

"Isabel!" cried Jane. "She's not having another baby?"

"No," said Isabel. "I almost wish she were. It might help matters. But then, again, it might make them worse."

"What are you talking about?" cried Jane.

"Cicily and Albert," she said.

Making Belle Awfully Unhappy.

"It's making Belle awfully unhappy," said Isabel. Then, almost angrily, "Jane you don't mean to say you haven't noticed it?"

"How could I have noticed it?" cried Jane, almost angrily in her turn. "I've been away all summer. I don't believe it, anyway. Cicily wouldn't—Cicily couldn't."

"Well, Cicily has," said Isabel grimly.

"I don't believe it," said Jane again.

"You'll have to believe it." said Isabel, sharply. "She was with him every minute all summer. She sent the children to Gull Rocks to get them out of the way. She used to motor out with him to that damned airport and fly with him all day, and then motor in town at night and dine with him at the night clubs. Of course, I don't say there was any real harm in it, Jane, but it made Belle perfectly miserable. She felt so humiliated—and bewildered. Why, Cicily was her best friend."

"What—what does Jack think?" asked Jane slowly.

"I don't know what he thinks," said Isabel. "He'd be the last, of course, to criticize Cicily. He acts as he acts exactly as if it weren't happening." Her voice was trembling a little. "I wouldn't speak to him about it for worlds."

"Of course not," said Jane, quickly. "It—it's not a thing to talk about. But I know you're exaggerating it, Isabel. You know Cicily——"

"Yes, I know Cicily," put in Isabel ironically.

Pretty, Gay, and Only 28.

"She's pretty and gay and only 28. She's been married nine years and she never really had her fling. I—I suppose Albert turned her head. I think it's outrageous of him to take advantage of her——"

"Take advantage of her" cried Isabel.

"Take advantage of her inexperience——"

"Jane! You know as well as I do that such affairs are always the woman's fault! The idea of Cicily, the mother of three children——"

"It's just a harmless flirtation!" cried Jane. She was conscious of blind prejudice as she spoke. She knew nothing about it.

"It's not a very pretty flirtation," said Isabel.

"I agree with you," said Jane soberly.

"And it's made a different woman of Cicily. Surely, Jane, you saw——"

"I saw she looked very happy," said Jane.

"A woman's always happy," said Isabel, "when she's falling in love."—

"She's not falling in love," said Jane decidedly. She saw it all clearly now, in a flash of revelation. "She's just falling for Albert. She's falling for excitement and admiration and fun. She'll snap out of it, Isabel."

Jane Dislikes "Spoiling" Things.

"Will you speak to her?" asked Isabel.

I—don't—know," said Jane, slowly. I don't know if it would do any good. Don't you remember how you felt yourself, Isabel, about—about—parents—speaking? It only irritates you."

"I certainly don't!" cried Isabel sharply. "There was never any occasion for parents to speak about a thing like that to me. Or to you, either, Jane."

Jane sat a moment in silence, staring across the deep blue water at the glowing embers in the Western sky.

"I can remember—I can remember," she said slowly, "how I felt about parents—mixing in and—spoiling things that were really lovely——"

"What things?" pursued Isabel hotly. "You never had a beau in your life, Jane, after you married Stephen—unless you count little Jimmy Trent! But this—this is serious."

"Perhaps," said Jane. "I'll think it over. But somehow I don't believe much in parental influence. It's something inside yourself that makes you behave, you know. Matthew Arnold knew—'the enduring power not ourselves which makes for righteousness.' I don't believe that 'Cicily would ever really be unkind—would ever knowingly hurt others."

"But she is hurting them!" cried Isabel. "She's hurting Belle, this minute!"

"Well, she'll stop," said Jane stoutly. "She'll stop when she realizes."

Children Can Just Wreck You.

Isabel opened the door of the motor.

"I'm going to walk home," she said. She stood a moment hesitatingly by the side of the car. "It—it upsets me so to talk about it, Jane." Her lips were trembling again. "I'm going to walk home and—and think of something else. I don't want to worry Robin. We've never talked about it. I suppose that seems funny to you, Jane, but——" She broke off a little helplessly.

"No. No, it doesn't," said Jane. "I'm glad you haven't. I never worry Stephen. So many things blow over, you know, and if you haven't said anything——"

"Exactly," said Isabel.

Jane stared a moment in silence, down into her troubled eyes.

"Children can just wreck you," said Isabel.

Jane nodded.

"Give my love to Robin," she said. She set the gears in motion and moved slowly off down the boulevard. "Little Jimmy Trent," she was thinking. So that was all that Isabel had ever realized. She felt a sudden flood of sympathy for Cicily. Cicily, intoxicated with the wine of admiration, Cicily succumbing to the transcendent temptation to quicken a passion, to love and be loved. It was all very wrong, however. And very dangerous. Such temptations must be overcome. The wine of admiration could be forsworn. Cicily would, of course, forswear it. She could not speak to her. But she could watch. She could worry. That was what parents were for.

HOW IT BEGAN

By Russ Murphy and Roy Sernstaff

CANARD

THE WORD "CANARD" WAS ORIGINALLY A FRENCH WORD FOR A FEMALE DUCK. AN OLD-TIME NEWSPAPER MAN PUBLISHED A STORY THAT TWENTY OF THESE FOWLS WERE PLACED TOGETHER, THEN ONE WAS KILLED AND THE OTHERS ATE IT GREEDILY. THIS PROCEDURE WAS FOLLOWED UNTIL THERE REMAINED A SINGLE DUCK WHO HAD EATEN HIS COMPANIONS IN AN INCREDIBLY SHORT TIME. THIS STORY WAS KNOWN AS THE HISTORY OF THE CANARD, WHICH WORD CAME TO BE APPLIED TO EXAGGERATED NEWSPAPER STORIES.

ORIGIN OF "CHASTISE"

THE WORD "CHASTISE" CAME DOWN TO US AS A VARIATION OF THE LATIN WORD "CASTIGATIO," MEANING TO REBUKE A WIFE. ITS SIGNIFICANCE WAS CHANGED TO MEAN IN GENERAL TO DISCIPLINE OR PUNISH, USUALLY BY PHYSICAL MEANS.

DUMB-BELL

A CORRUPTION OF THE OLD GERMAN "DUMPELS," OR HEAVY WEIGHTS. THE WORD COMES FROM THE GERMAN AND DANISH ROOT "DUMM," MEANING HEAVY OR DULL. HENCE HUMAN "DUMB-BELLS."

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease.

OLD STYLE SCURVY.

IN "OLD LOUISIANA" Lyle Saxon reproduces part of a diary written more than two hundred years ago by Mr. Dupratz, who was a Louisiana slave owner and sugar planter and, in this diary, told his observations on how to pick healthy slaves for purchase, and how to kee them healthy and in a state of efficiency.

He purchased slaves newly brought into the country from the tropics. One disease to be examined for was scurvy. The signs of this disease were swollen, bleeding gums and, in some cases, eruptions and discolorations outwardly, and pains in the joints.

To prevent scurvy he had his people drink a cold tea, made as follows: Get some fresh water cress, St. John's wort, and scurvy grass. Clean and mix in equal proportions. Pound and grind in a mortar. Put two handfuls of this mixture in an earthen, glass or porcelain vessel. Add one lemon, chopped up, but with all the juice. Add a piece of purified saltpeter, the size of a walnut. Add one quart of cold water. Sweeten. Let this mixture stand overnight. Filter out the herbs and give the water as a drink. A person should drink two pints of this a day. This cures scurvy and it also prevents it.

He made a mixture of the same herbs, ground then, up, and added enough lemon juice to make a soft paste. This he applied to the gums. Had Mr. Dupratz used a mixture of lemon juice and lettuce, cabbage, or any other salad, he would have got equally as good results. Scurvy grass, St. John's wort, and water cress as remedies were all right, but they are no better than celery, radishes, and turnip salad.

Another disease for which he always had his doctors examine prospective purchases was yaws. His advice was to always reject those who had areas of the skin that were as smooth as glass, and without any tumor or "rising." Because of the intelligent carefulness of the men who stood and stand guard, yaws has never got into this country, and we have no interest in any treatment for it. It is claimed by some that malaria, yellow fever and, possibly, typhoid fever, were brought to America from Africa by slaves. The men who stood guard were not intelligent enough to keep these diseases out of the country and, in consequence, the losses have run into the billions.

Another group of diseases that Mr. Dupratz was on guard against were the venereal diseases.

This diary told Mr. Dupratz's opinion on the care of slaves. Their health was always to be well protected. "They must be well taken care of when sick. The master and his wife should give them their personal attention." "The slaves must have plenty of nourishing foods, including herbs." "One man must be set apart as a fisherman to provide the others with fish for food." (The fish were probably of the salt-water variety.) "Nursing mothers must be given one and a half times as much food as other women. This must include a quart of milk a day. Mothers must breast feed their babies. The older children are to be cared for by old women set apart for that duty alone."

ATROPINE AND BELLADONNA.

B. W. Writes:

What is the difference between atropine and belladonna in strength? How much belladonna is it safe for a person to take?

Medical works say 20 drops every quarter hour until effects show. What does that mean?

REPLY.

Atropine is one of the alkaloids of belladonna. The latter is the whole; the former, a part. Atropine is far stronger. You do not mention the form of belladonna you ask about. My advice is that you take neither belladonna nor atropine on your own. They are far too powerful to tamper with.

NATS, AT CLEVELAND TODAY, SEEK 13TH STRAIGHT

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

TRUTH backed fiction off the boards and delivered a swift kick at the hindmost vestige of the imaginative in a derisive gesture the other day as Twenty Grand was galloping to lasting fame in the $75,000 Belmont Stakes, in a drama of the turf that had as part of its locale the little half-mile track at Blue Bonnets, Canada.

Almost in the course of the same hour that Twenty Grand carved a niche for himself and the Greentree Stable in turfdom's Valhalla in the running of the Belmont, another thoroughbred was trailing a field of cheap platers in a $800 sprint at the Canadian bush track, struggling in the dust kicked up by the leaders, hopelessly beaten.

The factual drama of Grey Lag was being enacted. Ten years before, flaunting the proud colors of Harry Sinclair's then-powerful Rancocas Stable, with Earl Sande on his back, the mighty king of the thoroughbreds of his day had tasted the ambrosia of triumph in the Belmont. Until his time was lowered by Twenty Grand, his had been the mark that stood next to Man o' War's.

A few weeks ago, a two-day meeting was staged at the Hagerstown County Fair track. Unproductive in the stud, Grey Lag had been dragged, at the age of 13, from the retirement he so richly deserved. There the winner of the Belmont, the Lowyer, the Empire City Derby, the Queens County Handicap and the match race with Black Servant, winner of them all, was brought back to the races. The fire was still in his eye but the strength and speed had left his underpinning.

Grey Lag had won 25 out of his starts, amassing a total of $136,- in purse money. Then he was retired to the stud. At Hagerstown, in the race for a purse of $350 against field unfit to be his lead ponies of halcyon days, Grey Lag was in truck, just another selling plater, transit gloria.

* * * *

And a few minutes after the foregoing was written, the Associated Press wire teletyped the following dispatch

Montreal, Can., June 18 (A.P.).— Ten years ago the racing public was singing the praises of Grey Lag, one of the greatest thoroughbreds ever to head the American turf. Today he was just another horse as he finished third in the cheapest kind of a seven-furlong claiming race. He was a rank outsider, paying 3 to 1.

The swing away from the Notre Dame "system" of coaching is seen in the recent coaching upheaval at Georgetown with a change of mentors in three sports. Football alone has survived the new order.

A program aimed toward the installation of Georgetown men at the head of all sports with the exception of football is apparent. The intial step was the appointment of Jimmy Mulligan to succeed John D. O'Reilly as track coach. O'Reilly, although at the Hilltop for 17 years, was not a Georgetown graduate, as is Mulligan.

The resignation of John Colrick, former Notre Dame star, as coach of baseball and basket ball was followed a day later by the appointment of Freddy Mesmer, former Hilltop captain, as coach of basket ball. With the baseball coaching berth still vacant, there is indication that a Georgetown man ultimately will be given the post.

* * * *

The efficacy of the Notre Dame "system" has been proven in the light of the triumphs of Rockne and Rockne's pupils who have spread his tactics throughout the land. Before Rockne, it was the Warner "system" and antedating that was the Houghton "system" which stood preeminent in football tactics.

But the famous Carnegie "Bulletin 23," which turned a penetrating spotlight on the widespread recruiting and subsidizing of college football players, and graduating high school stars, revealed that coaches and enthusiastic alumni alike placed the greatest faith on the human system.

Crimson, Unbeaten, Is Choice, Seeking First Win Since 1927.

Has Defeated Navy; Elis Shaken Up for Test Today.

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 18 (A.P.).—A confident Harvard varsity crew and a determined Yale eight today ended almost nine months of preliminary toil and retired to their neighboring quarters to await the word that will start their sixty-ninth dual regatta.

Harvard will come down to its Thames River stake boat tomorrow night as the season's only undefeated crew and the favorite to defeat a Yale eight that has made a gallant recovery after being humiliated by Columbia and Cornell. The Crimson has not had a rowing victory since 1927.

Nothing much is known about either crew's ability to weather four miles of racing. Harvard's only test came when it defeated Navy, this week's victors at Poughkeepsie, in a short race last month at Philadelphia. Coach Charlie Whiteside's eight, however, has proved that it possesses power and drive and, furthermore, it enjoys the advantage of being kept intact all season. Yale, which seems to be as highly polished and skillful as most Leader-coached crews, has been shaken up frequently.

Crimson Pins Faith On "Killer" Cassedy.

Followers of the Crimson pin most of their victory hopes on the broad shoulders of Gerry Cassedy, their sophomore stroke oar, called "Killer" by his mates as a tribute to his tremendous driving power and inspiring competitive spirit. This beat Setter, probably the most competent one Harvard has had in a decade, has five classmates rowing with him and they have not suffered defeat in two seasons. Capt. John Hallowell and two other seasoned veterans round out this husky crew that averages 185 pounds, seven pounds more than its rival.

The Yale varsity, stroked by lanky Bob Goodale, whose oarsmanship appears inferior to Cassedy's rugged brand, will be without the services of Capt. Jim Rogers in its objective race. The Yale leader, who rowed No. 6 in the 1929 and 1930 parades, was dropped back into the junior varsity shell and the move appeared to add vital smoothness to the first crew.

Harvard Jayvees Also Favored.

Rogers' presence in the "jay-vee" crew, however, is not expected to change the juniors' situation. The Harvard seconds, stroked by Tommy Armstrong, are slight favorites. The Yale freshman crew has already been conceded a several-lengths victory over the Crimson's youngsters, who have ben unimpressive all season. Both of these short races will be upstream and, as in the varsity event, the Harvard eights will row in the west lane.

Because of tide conditions the varsity race will not be started until 7 p. m., Eastern standard time, and in the event of unfavorable weather or rough water the contest will be immediately postponed for 24 hours.

Bobby Jones Joins Firm Of Spalding & Bros.

New York, June 18 (A.P.).—Bobby Jones, who announced his retirement from competitive golf following upon the winning of the four major titles of 1930, today became a member of the firm of A. G. Spalding & Bros.

In making the announcement, Julian W. Curtiss, president of the company, said Jones had purchased a block of stock and would be directly associated with the research laboratories at Chicopee, Mass. His job will consist of working on designs for clubs and testing products on courses throughout the country.

Jones stated that his new position did not in any way affect his retirement from competitive golf, but simply affords him an opportunity to exercise and display such knowledge as he may have acquired from fifteen years of tournament experience.

Cards Beat Braves, 5-4, On 5 Hits Off Brandt

Boston, June 18 (A.P.).—The St. Louis Cardinals made four runs in the seventh off Ed Brandt to defeat the Braves today, 5 to 4, in the opening game of their series.

The Cards' four runs were made on a double by Mancuso, three bases on balls and two Boston errors. Boston had the bases full with one out in the ninth after they had put one run across, but Neun struck out and Frisch threw out Moore. Hafey hit a homer off Haid with none on in the eighth. Three double plays helped the Cards, who were outhit, 11 to 5.

HARVARD IN FINALS.

Rockaway Hunt Club, Woodmere, L. I., June 18 (A.P.).—Harvard's polo team reached the final round of the intercollegiate handicap tournament today by overwhelming Pennsylvania Military College, 8 to 3. The victory qualified the Crimson to meet Army with a tournament final.

68 by Hagen Tops Field in Western

By PAUL MICKELSON.

MIAMI VALLEY CLUB, Dayton, Ohio, June 18 (A.P.).—Walter Hagen found the range of the rolling fairways of the Miami Valley Course today and shelled it with a record smashing 68 that shoved him one shot in front of a closely bunched field in the Western Open Golf championship fight.

Flashing the same form that made him one of golf's immortals a decade ago, the Haig just about made the first 18-hole round of the 72-hole struggle a one-man show until Ed Dudley, of Wilmington, Del., came in late with a 69 to do some crowing.

Sir Walter, who promised his friends that he won't go through another year like he did in 1930 without winning a major golf title, had just about everything in golf's category today. He had brilliancy and hard luck as he circled the first nine with a 36, one over par, and he had nothing but his old-time genius on his way back as he ripped the court apart with a 31.

Dudley Shoots Consistent Form.

Dudley, almost overlooked by the gallery when word went around that Hagen was tearing up the course, slipped in with rounds of 35-34, one of the most consistent of the day. Olin Dutra, the Spanish caballero from Long Beach, Calif., and Charles Garringer, of Indianapolis, landed third with 70's, the only other par shattering performances turned in by the field of more than 100 entries.

Dutra scored two 35s, while Garringer carded 36-34. One shot away from them and three away from Hagen came Gene Sarazen, of Fresh Meadow, N. Y., the champion they must beat, and Gene Marchi, assistant professional on Miami Valley championship course.

Sarazen scored 36, 35, while Marchi, one of the darkest of the dark-horse contingent carded 34, 37. Six stayed close up with 72s, 1 over par. They were J. B. Rooney, Columbus; Clem Weichman, Portsmouth, Ohio; George Von Elm, of Detroit, who blew up with a 39 after burning up the course with a 33 going out; Bob MacDonald, Chicago; Emmett French, Southern Pines, N. C., and Densmore Shute, of Hudson, Ohio. Charles (Chick) Evans, of Chicago, had a 73, as did Mortie Dutra, of Long Beach, Calif.

Today's performance indicated it would take at least 156 strokes to remain among the low 64 who will battle it out over 36 holes Saturday for the title. Exactly 64 scored 78 or better today.

Hagen Plays Brilliant Golf.

Dudley was more consistent than Hagen today, but not quite as brilliant. Sir Walter scored 5 birdies and 1 eagle to gain 7 strokes on par and then tossed 4 of them away by taking an extra stroke on as many holes. His best hole was the 495-yard tenth, which he tamed with an eagle 3 when his spoon second landed his ball within putting distance. On the final green he sank a 20-foot put for a birdie and the lead. Except for an excited spectator he might have done better. On the first hole a spectator got out of line and Walter's tee shot hit him, subsequently costing an extra stroke on the hole.

Dudley bagged 4 birdies and had but one bad hole—the 415-yard third, where he got into trouble and required a 6, 2 over par.

Hunt and Corri Matched For Laurel Ring Opening

WORD was received here last night of the signing of Babe Hunt and Pietro Corri, a pair of seasoned heavyweights, as the principals in the 12-round main bout of the opening fight program of the new Midcity Arena at Laurel, Md., scheduled for the night of July 1.

Announcement of the match was made by a representative of the Midcity Boxing Club, Inc., backers of the arena, following receipt of a telegram from General Manager Angy Gerrin, who is in New York.

The fighters, who met once before with Hunt winning on decision in 10 rounds, were signed only after days of negotiations during which Gerrin was forced to outbid Chicago interests for the services of Corri, it was stated. Gerrin has been out of the city for the past week endeavoring to line up the principals of three of the six bouts planned for the inaugural show.

Hunt defeated Corri at Birmingham, Ala., in March, 1930, according to the records.

Both Hunt and Corri have met Young Stribling, who meets Max Schmeling for the world's heavyweight championship in Cleveland on July 3.

Hunt, the better known of the pair, defeated Stribling on a foul in six rounds and fought him to no decision on another occasion, both in 1929. Corri, while losing to the Georgia star last winter, twice knocked him down

Harvard-Yale Boat Race Saturated With Swank and Steeped in Exclusiveness

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.
Special to The Washington Post.

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 18. Tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock, on the Thmaes River, at this place, those two ever-loving enemies, Harvard and Yale, are having their sixty-ninth exclusive rowboat race—exclusive that is by comparison with the big free-for-all at Poughkeepsie which Harvard and Yale annually have nothing to do with.

If the start is delayed as much as half an hour by any of the little maladjustments which often contrive to delay the starting of boat races, the boys will be given mandolins and paddles and the race will be turned into a moonlight canoeing party. The reason for delaying the start until 8 o'clock is something to do with the tide, but I hope I will not be pressed for details about this because the decision was made by the committee, and the committee can ont be pressed.

Crowd Not Compelled To Wait.

Any and all persons not wishing to wait around until 8 p. m. for the start of the rowboating have the committee's permission to go away, but I do not think anybody will go away because the crowd generally is composed exclusively of young and old Harvards and Yales and their sisters and the cousins and their guests.

There is a noticeable tendency to pass cutting remarks about the exclusiveness of the Harvard and Yale race, but Harvard and Yale do not pay any attention to this, their theory being that a couple of gentlemen ought to be allowed to go out and row themselves some boat race if they want to, without any obligation to invite everybody else who happens to own a boat. If Harvard and Yale were to do this, the race would not be the Harvard-Yale race any more. And, furthermore, with the exception of the big polo shows down on Long Island, there is more swank to the Harvard-Yale boat race at New Londond than there is to any ohter sport event in this country, and certainly more of what the English call tradition.

River Thames always is chok-a-block with big, private steamboats whose very work boats, hanging modestly on the davits, are as big as yachts to the common run of citizens and the natural presumption that all this fleet belongs to old graduates of Harvard and Yale plainly suggests that the boys of Harvard and Yale make good.

Burden of Proof On Poughkeepsie.

Perhaps, with the aid of a Lloyds register and a Who's Who I could prove that one of these big boats belongs to some old graduate of Southwestern Oklahoma Normal, or Long Island Dental College, but just offhand, the event being what it is and all these custom-built steamboats being present in such profusion at no other occasion, the burden of proof is on Poughkeepsie.

Mrs. Hill in Semifinal Of Women's Golf Play

St. Louis Country Club, June 17 (A.P.).—Mrs. O. S. Hill, of Kansas City, beat par again today and advanced to the semifinals of the fifth annual women's transmississippi golf tournament along with the Oklahoma State champion and two St. Louis women.

The Kansas City golfer, winner of the transmississippi title in 1928 and 1929 and twice a semifinalist in the national women's tourney, stroked the first nine holes one under par figures in defeating Mrs. Rossmore Kohn, St. Louis, 9 and 7, in the third round.

A tournament favorite, Lucille Robinson, of Des Moines, faltered today and slipped out of the tournament the victim of Mrs. I. S. Hynes, St. Louis. The St. Louisian will meet Mrs. J. Walter Beyer, of Tulsa, tomorrow. Mrs. Beyer defeated Ann Webster, Kansas State champion, who plays conservatively, 1 up.

Mrs. Hill tomorrow will oppose Mrs. Mahlon B. Wallace, of St. Louis, who defeated Elizabeth Douglas, also of St. Louis, 4-3, in the quarter finals.

Rainville and Bowman In Western Semifinal

Chicago, June 18 (A.P.).—Victories in singles matches of the Western tennis tournament today sent Marcel Rainville, of Montreal, of the Canadian Davis Cup team, and Herbert L. Bowman, of New York, to the semifinals round, to be played Saturday. Bowman, holder of thirteen Eastern titles, had little difficulty in disposing of Charles Lejeck, Chicago, in the last quarter finals match of the day, 6—1, 6—1. Scott Rexinger, Chicago big ten singles champion, gave the Canadian a battle in their first set, winning 1—6, but Rainville turned to form, taking the next two sets, 6—1, 6—1.

Singer Beats Massey In Come-Back Bount

Madison Square Garden, N. Y., June 18 (U.P.).—Al Singer, of New York, opened his "comeback" campaign tonight with a 10-round victory over Lew Massey, of Philadelphia, but the 21-year-old former world's lightweight champion showed nothing to warrant the belief that he has a chance to regain the title.

Singer, outweighing his opponent 134½ to 132¼, and enjoying every physical advantage, earned the decision by a clear margin but showed nothing like championship form.

Goodman in Semifinal Of Transmissippi Play

Golden Valley Golf Club, Minneapolis, Minn., June 18 (A.P.).—Gaining his advantage on the difficult first nine holes of morning and afternoon rounds, Johnny Goodman, Omaha, today qualified for semifinal play in the transmissippi golf tournament by eliminating Earl Larson, Minneapolis, 7—6.

Goodman's opponent in the 36-hole semifinals Friday is Fred Dold, Wichita, Kans., who eliminated Bill Fowler, Fargo, N. Dak., 4 and 2. Dr. Paul Barton, Davenport, Iowa, victor over Rodney Bliss, jr., of Omaha, 2—1, and Lester Bolstad, St. Paul, meet in the other match. Bolstad won from Earl Berryhill, Colorado Springs, 6—5.

Howell Bows In Southern Tourney

Richmond Boy Loses; Boyd, Spicer, Sitz, Oaks Survive.

Spicer Wins Last Two Holes to Triumph Over Walkins.

By DILLON GRAHAM.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., June 18 (A.P.).—Polly Boyd, of Chattanooga, several times Tennessee champion, but never a winner in the Southern amateur golf championship, today halted the title hopes of Sam Perry, of Birmingham, in the first round of the 1931 tournament here and established himself as a real contender.

Boyd won, three and one, shortly after Emmett Spicer, the 1930 victor from Memphis, has finally conquered Ewing Watkins, of Chattanooga, to triumph, two up, on the eighteenth green.

After being two down through the fifth, Boyd, a familiar figure in Dixie tournaments for years, won three out of the next four holes to round the turn one up. He was three over par on the eight holes of the back nine before he eliminated Perry. Several of Polly's shots on the first nine were off line, but he managed to score without penalty.

Over the same Riverview course where they both have battled before, Spicer and Watkins went the full eighteen holes before Spicer could win. He won the last two holes after they had reached the seventeenth tee all square.

Spicer's birdie on the seventeenth put him one up and Watkins conceded the eighteenth and the match after he had taken three strokes and was not in the cup. Spicer was on in one and near the cup with his putt.

Smith and Sitz in Hard Battle.

Two youngsters, Alan Smith, Asheville, and Frank Sitz, Gadsden, Ala., had the closest match of the day with Sitz winning on the nineteenth hole. They were square through the ninth and the eighteenth, Smith sinking a long putt to stay in the fight. Smith stymied himself on the nineteenth and took three putts while Sitz went down in par four.

Darden Hampton, Chattanooga, probably shot the best golf of the day to defeat Billy Howell, Richmond, three and two. Darden closed the match on the sixteenth and needed only par four and par three on the next two holes for a 70. He was out in 35 and had the Virginia youth three down. Howell fired a deuce and a birdie on the eleventh and twelfth, but Hampton's lead was too large.

Jack Toomer, Jacksonville, the Florida champion, put out Billy McWilliams, Rome, Ga., three and one, and Chasteen Harris, Memphis, downed Charles Dannels, Atlanta, five and four.

Charles Yates, Atlanta's 17-year-old champion, defeated Erwin Laxton, Charlotte, four and two, while Wilbur Oakes, jr., Chattanooga, won from Bill Voigt, also Chattanooga, by the same score. It was Oakes who yesterday upset the medalist, Scudday Horner, of Nashville.

In tomorrow morning's quarter-final matches, Spicer meets Yates, Hampton faces Toomer, Oakes is pitted against Sitz and Boyd battles Harris. The semifinals, also at 18 holes, are set for tomorrow afternoon, with the 36-hole final Saturday.

Hubbell Allows 6 Hits In Defeating Pirates

New York, June 18 (A.P.).—Timely hitting behind Carl Hubbell's six-hit pitching enabled the Giants to down Pittsburgh, 3 to 1, in their series opener today and run their winning streak to six straight.

The slender Giant southpaw had the Pirates puzzled all the way and would have scored a shutout but for successive errors by Jackson and Terry in the first inning. Lloyd Waner was credited with three of the six hits off him.

Larry French, who had scored two previous victories over the McGrawmen, yielded nine hits, seven of which were bunched in three innings.

VANCE FANS 11, TIES 1931 RECORD

Cubs Beaten, 7-5, in Opener; Malone 8-0 Victor in Final.

BROOKLYN, June 18 (A.P.).—Speed ball pitchers dominated the proceedings at Ebbets Field today as the Robins divided a double-header with the Chicago Cubs.

Dazzy Vance hurled the Robins to a 7-to-5 victory in the opener, striking out eleven batters to tie season record of Derringer, St. Louis; but Pat Malone stopped the locals dead in the night-cap while his mates pounded out an 8 to 0 triumph. Malone allowed only five scattered hits, three of them by Babe Herman.

Hack Wilson, last year's National League home run king, hit his seventh homer of the season off Vance in the first game, and Manager Rogers Hornsby hit his ninth circuit drive in the second.

Vance struck out six batters in the first three innings of his game, but lost some of his effectiveness thereafter and was touched for eleven hits.

Nats Aiming to Keep on A's Heels Until Break Comes.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.
(Post Staff Correspondent).

CLEVELAND, O., June 18—Manager Walter Johnson and his charges breezed into the Forest City this morning and are marking time today ready to open their second Western invasion against the Indians tomorrow. In view of the manner in which the clubs from this sector have been beaten in previous meetings, the Nationals figure to turn in more than their share of victories and at least to hold their own in the first place race with the Mackmen.

After dropping two out of three to the Yankees in the first series of their home stay just ended, the Johnsons suddenly took the bit in their teeth and cleaned up in three successive four game sets with the Chisox, Indians and Tigers as their victims. They lost but one game to Western club

CONSIDINE AND MITCHELL TO RENEW NET FEUD TOMORROW

Tennis Stars Will Clash In League

Match at Tidal Basin Is Feature of Week-End on Courts.

A COMPOSITE replica of several of last season's choice tennis strifes will be enacted tomorrow afternoon when Bob Considine and Dooly Mitchell, first and second ranking players in the District, hook up in a two-out-of-three singles encounter as Henry Park and Montrose clash in the interpark net league. The match will be played at the Tidal Basin courts.

Mitchell, recent winner of the City of Washington championship and an improved player over last year, is expected to come out the winner in his match against the player who holds the District championship, and whose appearances this year have been comparatively few. Mitchell's game has increased in caginess over his last year's showings, when Considine defeated him in three out of four tournaments.

While Public Parks League matches do not carry the weight of scheduled tournaments with the local tennis association's ranking committee, they go a long way toward untangling the status of many local players. Mitchell and Considine each could use tomorrow's victory about the time the lists are being made up.

Busiest Week-End Of Local Season.

It promises to be the feature of the busiest week-end that local tennis has witnessed this year. Four leagues will be in operation during the period commencing this afternoon and ending Sunday morning. Besides the Public Parks League, the Departmental, Suburban and Capital City circuits all have listed important clashes.

In the crack Public Parks League tomorrow, other than the Henry-Montrose match, Monument and Potomac are listed to meet at Monument, while Rock Creek is meeting Taft, at Taft. Real battles should crop up in these matches since they promise to bring together on the same court such exponents as Bud Markey, of Henry Park, and Frederico Sendel, of Montrose; Barney Walsh, of Monument, and Bob Elliott, of Potomac, and Frank Shore, of Rock Creek, and Kay Blanchard, of Taft.

Montrose will be out to increase its lead in the league when it tackles Henry. With a record of fourteen wins and four losses the Georgetowners are tied with Potomac and comfortably ahead of Henry, whose record is ten victories and eight defeats. Rock Creek trails in fourth place with seven wins and eleven losses, followed by Monument, with six wins and twelve losses and Taft, with three wins and fifteen losses.

Today Postoffice-Agriculture and Patent Office meet in the venerable Departmental League at the Monment Grounds, and while neither team is seriously rated as capable of routing War and Treasury, the leaders, more than tolerable tennis is anticipated. War and Treasury are on the books to meet each other Monday.

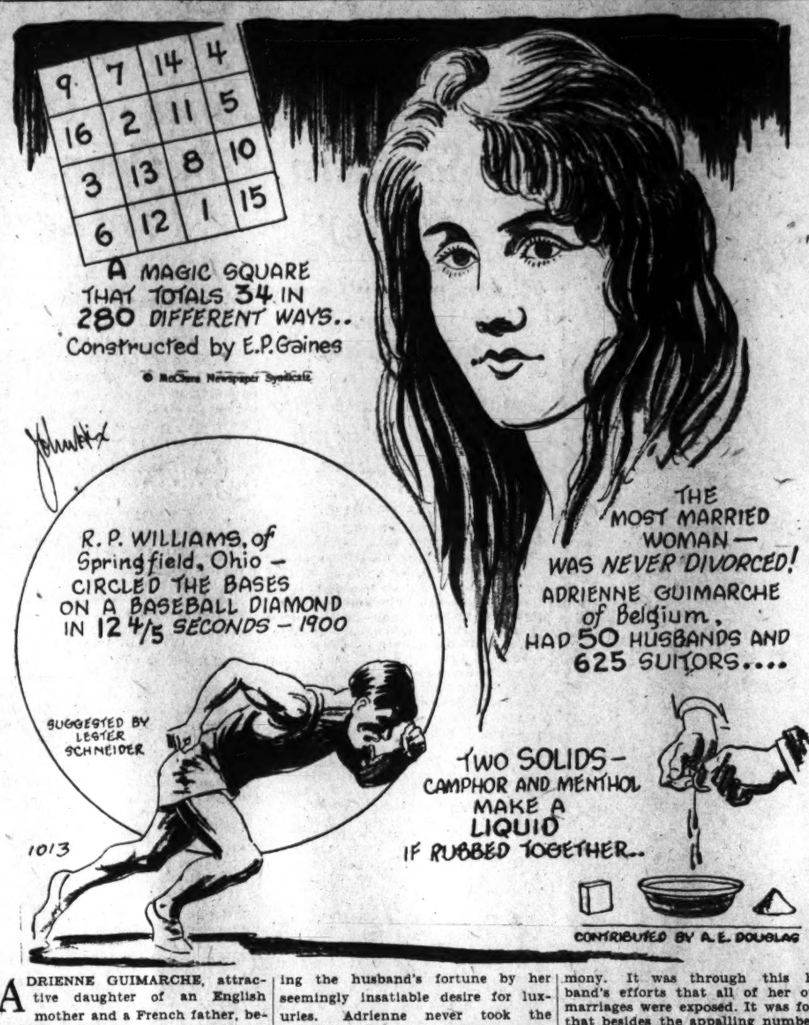
Bureau of Standards Has Easy Match.

Bureau of Standards has its best chance to assume a prohibitive lead in the Suburban League tomorrow when Wesley Heights will be met at Standards in the customary two singles matches and five doubles encounters. The other Suburban match brackets Argyle and Lakeview, both tied for second place with a record of six wins and eight losses. Standards is comfortably on top with eleven wins and three setbacks, while Wesley Heights has a total of five wins and nine defeats.

Best of the Suburban matches tomorrow should be the singles test between Dean Judd, of Standards, and John Ladd, of Wesley. Standards' superiority, however, does not stop with Judd, the team being evenly graduated to the last doubles team, while Ladd stands a bit above any of his colleagues.

The Capital City League matches will break out Sunday morning with Commonwealth, league leaders, meeting the Filipinos, Claremont meeting Pan-American and Washington Grove playing Edgewood, winners in the circuit last year. The Veterans' Bureau, the seventh team in the league, will idle.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix



ADRIENNE GUIMARCHE, attractive daughter of an English mother and a French father, began her marriage activities twelve years ago in Belgium.

While in her 'teens she was married for the first time to M. Guyot, a fairly wealthy Belgian. Guyot's wealth did not last long under the burden of his wife's expensive indulgences, and Adrienne left him for another.

Fifty times in all did Adrienne Guimarche marry, each time reducing the husband's fortune by her seemingly insatiable desire for luxuries. Adrienne never took the trouble to obtain a divorce. She merely left her spouse and cast about for another man in a different town. If he was wealthy she married, if not, she passed him up. She had husbands in various parts of the world.

As she was about to take husband No. 51, in Brussels, she was recognized by a former husband, who immediately halted the wedding ceremony. It was through this husband's efforts that all of her other marriages were exposed. It was found that besides the appalling number of husbands, she had left behind something like 650 disappointed suitors.

POLO EVENT HERE DRAWS 6 TEAMS

THE annual War Department invitation polo tournament will begin Monday afternoon at Potomac Park Polo Field, with six teams slated to see service during the week.

The first day's play will bring together Fort Humphreys and the Third Cavalry, of Fort Myer. Tuesday afternoon the War Department Blues meet the Sixth Field Artillery, of Fort Hoyle, Md., while on Wednesday Middleburg and the War Department Whites will have it out.

The luck of the draw will send the winner of Wednesday's match to the final round in one jump, while the winners of Monday's and Tuesday's games tangle Thursday to decide the finalist. The final match will be staged Saturday.

Argentine Cup Play Soon.

This tournament will be followed by the play for the Argentine Cup, usually emblematic of some of the greatest plays of the year. Last year the Argentine Ambassador presented the bowl to the crack Cavalry Yellow Polo Club, victors by the margin of 11 to 7 over the War Department Blues in the final contest.

It was a final marked by stirring play on the part of Lieut. Makinney in eradicating a 2-to-0 disadvantage shortly after the start of the game, and Maj. Eager's great stand near the finish in an effort to right the sinking of the ship of the Blues. Eager, among other things, took the ball the length of the field, single-handedly, in the dying moments of the exciting game.

—Washington Park Selections—

By J. B. SNODGRASS

WASHINGTON PARK, Chicago, June 18.—Racing fans are anticipating the forthcoming battle in the $50,000 American Stakes, which will be decided at Washington Park Saturday. It is possible that sixteen of the leading 3-year-olds will face the barrier for the rich purse. The fixture should prove an open contest, since Twenty Grand, Derby and Belmont Stakes winner, declined the issue.

The program tomorrow has been arranged to attract the cheapest platers quartered at the Homewood course. With the exception of the third and fourth events, allowance affairs for juveniles and 3-year-olds and upward, respectively, the remainder of the card has little to offer.

In the fourth, named the Grand Crossing, a field of sixteen sprinters will match strides over the 6-furlong distance, which will serve as the feature. CELTIC PRINCE, from the Jones Stock Farm, displayed consistent form in his Aurora campaign. With a brief rest, the Prince Pal gelding figures to gain the honors. PORTMANTEAU, carrying the Rose Home Stable silks, should force the pace, with PANCHIO, a recent winner at this track, as the show selection.

The juvenile allowance affair, third on the card, brings together nine evenly matched 2-year-old fillies in the 5½-furlong dash of the secondary feature. AT SUNRISE, in the J. F. Schorr string, scored impressively in her last start and with several speedy trials to her credit, should show the way to her rivals. The Leiter entry of PRINCESS NANCY and PRINCESS IVRE, are highly regarded and either is capable of extending the top one. The show is reserved for PORTER'S DREAM.

FIRST RACE—PLAYING has the speed of the maiden 2-year-olds which will contest the issue in the 5½-furlong sprint. The Schorr racer just missed the winner's circle last start and figures to graduate. DELVEN rates the place call, with DAD MEINERS best of the others.

SECOND RACE—Seventeen 3-year-olds and upward will battle it out over the three-quarter mile distance in the second event, under allowance conditions. UP ABOVE has shown several smart efforts at this track and under an energetic ride is favored for the major portion of the purse. OPIOPIO disappointed in his last start. His morning trials have been on the speedy side and may upset the calculations. ANNAPOLITAN raced forwardly against better company and should be close up.

FIFTH RACE—A limit field of platers has been entered in the mile gallop of the fifth event, which will be contested under claiming conditions. BELGIAN LASS has trained briskly for his return after a brief rest and appears a standout in this group. TRY IT is favored to furnish the opposition. CAMP PRINCE, from the J. Marsch Stable would appreciate a slow track but nevertheless is given the show call.

SIXTH RACE—Another limit field will be dispatched over the mile and eighth route of the sixth number, with BRUSH favored to show the way to this large band of platers. The Etowah Stable's fleet 7-year-old was blocked in his last effort and with better racing luck should romp home. COUSIN DOLL is selected to finish in the runner-up position, with Brockale as the show possibility.

SEVENTH RACE—In the concluding event at a mile and an eighth, twenty 3-year-olds and upward will contest the purse. BOB ROGERS faltered in the heavy going last start but on a fast track should experience little difficulty in taking the measure of these platers. BUNCH OF LILLIES has raced consistently in recent races and is given the place call. CHUM is nicely weighted with 112 pounds and will favor the nine-furlong route.

PITT, WOOTEN, STEVINSON, BURROWS SURVIVE AT MANOR

Twenty-Hole Battles Are Feature

Pitt Beats Holzberg, Burnett; Downey Downs Hunter.

Shorey Eliminated by Yeatman; Semi-finals Today.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST.

HARRY G. PITT, medalist in the Manor Club invitation golf tournament, yesterday survived through two matches to continue in the semifinal round of the first sixteen this morning, when he will meet Thomas B. Wooten, of Atlantic City, and the holder of many golf titles in his own city and in the Philadelphia district.

In the lower half of the bracket Miller B. Stevinson, Columbia, will meet Bradley H. Burrows, the District public links champion and a golfer who has been cutting a wide swath in all recent golf events. Two good contests are thus assured.

Pitt had no trouble in disposing of John C. Holzberg, Columbia, in the morning round by the margin of 5 up and 4 to play, but in the afternoon he met a determined opponent in Volney Burnett, unattached, who recently won the medal in the Columbia Club qualification round, when he led Pitt by two strokes. At the turn Pitt was 2 up, but lost the tenth and eleventh holes. Burnett scoring a birdie on the latter hole.

Beginning at the twlefth tee, Pitt shot three successive 4s and then captured an eagle 3 on the fifteenth, although Burnett scored a birdie 4, and this practically ended the match, which Pitt won, 4 and 2. Wooten's two matches were won from Herbert L. Lacey, Indian Spring, 2 up, in the forenoon, and George F. Miller, Manor Club champion, 2 and 1, in the afternoon.

Downey and Yeatman Bow to Stevinson.

Stevinson won his matches against J. M. Downey, unattached, and J. K. Yeatman, Columbia, by the same margin, 4 and 3. Burrows, who will be his opponent this morning, eliminated two leading golfers in the younger set, J. Monro Hunter, jr., Indian Spring, 3 and 2, in the afternoon and John C. Shorey, Kenwood, in the morning. The latter match was something out of the ordinary for although Shorey shot the first nine in 40 he was five down at the turn, for Burrows played the nine holes in 35 strokes.

This was too hot a pace for Shorey and he was beaten, 4 and 3. Hunter had won his morning match against John G. Biggs, jr., Argyle, with a fine 71 as against Biggs' 73, but in the afternoon Biggs, playing against Shorey in the consolation, eliminated the former Bannockburn star. Shorey was 2 down at the fourth hole and became 3 down when Biggs scored a birdie on the ninth hole. Thereafter every hole was halved, Biggs winning 3 and 2.

The feature of the day was the unusual number of extended struggles, no less than three going to the twentieth hole and six being carried to the nineteenth. Walter R. McCallum, playing against Burnett, was never less than 1 up until the fifteenth tee was reached, when Burnett captured two birdies in succession and forged ahead. McCallum evened the match on the seventeenth and then lost the twentieth by taking three putts.

Lewis Beaten in 20-Hole Match.

R. E. Lewis, Beaver Dam, was 3 down and 5 to play against R. L. Burgdorf, Bannockburn, but squared the match only to lose on the twentieth hole. Warren L. Heap, Manor, who was 2 down and 2 to play and who squared the match against Lindsay Stott, Beaver Dam, on the eighteenth green, had a happier experience, for he won on the nineteenth hole, after Stott had driven into the woods and landed his ball in a trap on his third shot. The last match of the afternoon went to the nineteenth hole, Melvin Kraft, unattached, defeating Maj. P. L. Ransom, Army-Navy.

Not only were Shorey and Hunter completely eliminated but McCallum and Burnett have passed out of the picture. In the consolation flight of the first sixteen not one commanding figure remains; for while Holzberg, who plays against Charles D. Evans, and Downey, who will be opposed by Biggs, are all good golfers, they have never figured in any major victory. The results of yesterday and today's pairings follow:

PAIRINGS FOR TODAY.

MIRACLES OF SPORTS. —By Robert Edgren

MIDDIES LIST SUMMER SPORTS

Baseball and Tennis for 2d Classmen and Plebes.

Special to The Washington Post.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 18.—The summer months will not be without some athletic diversion for members of the second class of Midshipmen who are undergoing instruction in aviation, and the new fourth, or "plebe" class, now being recruited.

The second class has a roll of 450, and there will be approximately 600 plebes when the class is completely organized.

Athletic authorities of the Naval Academy have arranged a baseball and tennis schedule for both classes. The second classmen will have nine diamond engagements and the plebes four, including one between themselves, and the former will have four tennis matches to three for the plebes.

2d Class Includes Varsity Players.

As the second class contains a number of ball tossers who played with the regular varsity squad during the spring formation of a strong team is expected. The team will play its first game here Saturday with the Shamrocks, of Baltimore. The rest of the schedule follows:

July 1, Baltimore Athletic Club; 8, Cloverland Farms Dairy, of Baltimore; 18, Washington Terminal Co.; 22, Classified Municipal Employes, of Baltimore; 29, Plebes; August 1, Baltimore Fire Department; 5, Union Trust Co., of Baltimore; 15, Stein Brothers & Boyce, of Baltimore.

The dates for the Plebes are: July 25, Maryland Trust Co., of Baltimore; August 8, Sun Life Insurance Co., of Baltimore; 12, Baltimore Athletic Club.

The tennis dates are: Second class—June 27, Clifton Club, of Baltimore; July 11, Homeland Racquet Club, of Baltimore; 25, Pan-American team, of Washington; August 8, Gwynn's Falls Club, of Baltimore.

Plebes: August 1, Interpark junior team, of Baltimore; 8, Racquet Club, of Baltimore; 15, American Legion, of Baltimore.

Fisherville Wins Meet Of Future Farmers

Special to The Washington Post.

Blacksburg, Va., June 18.—By winning three seconds and a fourth, R. Coiner, Fisherville, gave his team the track meet held at Virginia Poly Institute this afternoon as part of the sixth annual future farmers of America rally. Coiner won fourteen of the seventeen points obtained by Fisherville. The other three points came from winning third in the relay, in which Coiner had a part.

The meet records were broken this afternoon. Wallo, Varina, set a new mark in the shot put by throwing the shot 44 feet 11¼ inches, breaking his own mark of 44 feet 1¾ inches, set in preliminaries held last Tuesday. His throw broke the previous record of 43 feet 5 inches. Johnson Strasburg set a new record jump mark when he made 20 feet 10 inches.

Mica and Varina High Schools tied for second place, 15 points each. Winchester was third with 14½ points; Herndon fourth, with 13½ points; Mount Jackson fifth, with 12 points. Other teams which scored follow:

Boyce, Achilles, Smithfield, Holland and Strasburg, Cope, Turbeville, Attlee-Gloucester, South Hill, Elk Creek.

Colston, Boyce, was second individual high scorer with two firsts and a fifth. Flickenger, Winchester, and Cross, Herndon, were tied for third individual honors with 10½ points each.

40 Rounds of Boxing At Quantico's Smoker

Special to The Washington Post.

Quantico, Va., June 18.—Forty rounds of boxing will feature the smoker tonight at the Marine Post. The program arranged by First Lieut. George W. McHenry provides nine bouts, with Coast Guardsmen and sailors furnishing the opposition for pugilistically inclined Marines.

The commandant of the U. S. Marines, Maj. Gen. B. H. Fuller, will be guest of honor at the smoker.

Maj. Heinie Miller, popular Washington referee, will handle the bouts.

PRELIMINARIES (four rounds)—Lavish (Hq. and Hq. Co.) vs. Edwards (Tenth Marines), lightweights; Schmidt (Maintenance Co.) vs. Willoughby (Signal Bn.), middleweights; Hill (Seventy-fourth Co.) vs. Smith (Signal Bn.), heavyweights; Hodge (Field Hospital) vs. Weitzell (Service Co.), featherweights; Clark (Field Hospital) vs. Devine (Maintenance Co.), welterweights; Mayer (Seventy-fourth Co.) vs. Moran (Service Co.), welterweights; Anderson (Signal Bn.) vs. Reid (Coast Guard), featherweights.

ED YEOMANS BEATEN BY ALLISON

Capital Boy Extends Ex-Davis Cup Star at Washington.

Special to The Washington Post.

WILMINGTON, Del., June 18.—Wilmer Allison, former Davis Cup star and third ranking U. S. player, advanced to the quarter-final round of the twenty-third annual men's grass court championship of Delaware today defeating Eddie Yeomans, Washington, D. C., and University of North Carolina ace, 8—6, 6—2.

The tall dark Capital City player pressed his more favored opponent to the limit in the first set before yielding, but fell a prey to Allison's hard-hit shots in the second.

Another University of North Carolina player, Bryant Grant, national clay court champion, entered the fourth round by beating Gabriel Lavine, Philadelphia, 8—6, 6—4. Other seeded players, including Berkeley Bell, Bruce Barnes and Junior Coen, all advanced a round without undue trouble.

Third round—Earl Taylor, Texas, defeated William Bascom, Yale, 3—6, 6—0, 6—2; Edward Jacobs, Pittsburgh, defeated E. M. Easton, Stanford, 6—4, 6—2.

Fourth round—Wilmer Allison, Texas, defeated Edwrd Yeomans, University of North Carolina, 8—6, 6—2; Bryan M. Grant, jr., University of North Carolina, defeated Gabriel Lavine, Philadelphia, 8—6, 6—4; Wilbur F. Coen, University of Kansas, defeated Lucien Lacoste, University of Texas, 6—1, 6—1; Bruce Barnes, University of Texas, defeated Armand L. Bruneau, Brooklyn, N. Y., 6—1, 6—2; Ted Burwell, Sewanee, defeated Jake Hess, Rice University, 6—0, 6—4.

Fauquier-Loudoun Polo Team Plays in Final

Special to The Washington Post.

Baltimore, Md., June 18.—By defeating the War Department, of Washington, 8 to 5, today, the Fauquier-Loudoun riders will compete in the finals against the Maryland Polo Club Whites Sunday at Stevenson for the first leg on the Riggs Cup.

Each the War Department and the Fauquier-Loudoun entered their match as nine-goal teams, so each started at scratch. The Middleburg, Va., four always was in the lead, but the battle was close and virtually anybody's until after the fourth chukker had been played.

Maj. J. M. Eager, riding at No. 1 for the service, was the high individual scorer. He tallied the first four goals for his side, one in each of the first three chukkers and the other in the sixth. Richard Kirkpatrick, No. 1 for the Virginians, tallied in each the second, third and fourth chukkers, John Hay ("Jock") Whitney added a pair and so did Baldwin Spilman. Bill Hulbert and Maj. J. L. Devers registered once each.

War Department lacked the team work, the placement of shots, the long back-handers and the frequent long drives as exhibited by Fauquier-Loudoun. Then, too, the Virginians were better mounted, although War Department brought over a splendid squad of mounts.

DIXIE PIGS IN ACTION.

The Dixie Pigs will cross bats with the Tile and Marble Setters Team Saturday at 3 p. m. at Berwyn. The latter nine won the pennant in the Industrial League last season and have high hopes of winning from the leaders of the Capital City League.

YALE FACES HARVARD IN BOAT

the Corsair, which is supposed to run up a bill of $8,000 a day even when she is tied to a dock, belongs to a Harvard graduate by the name of J. P. Morgan. In fact, Mr. Morgan seems to have overbuilt this last time for his present Corsair is so big that she can't go through the drawbridge at the south boundary of the 4-mile racing course.

His son, Harry Morgan, who was captain of the Harvard boat in nineteen-something, was out there on the tide this evening, tugging at a sweep and blowing a bit with the exertion in an informal race called, if you please, the annual gentlemen's race. So, you see, Harvard and Yale are so well along in tradition by now that they have gentlemen, even as Oxford and Cambridge. I draw no inferences, but this sems to present a pretty good chance to infer that the young men of the current varsity crews are no gentlemen.

Nobody Remembers An Oarsman.

Strictly speaking, the members of a varsity crew should remain inconspicuous because the minute any man in a boat crew makes himself noticeable for his excellence he disturbs the smooth sameness of the whole, like a tap-dancer who outdances the rest of his team. That is why nobody ever remembers any oarsmen, although plenty of mediocre half backs and heavy-hitting outfielders are able to go out and sell bonds on their athletic reputations in after years. But I must mention three of the Harvards, all sons of Harvard varsity oarsmen who were sons of Harvard varsity oarsmen by names, Saltonstall, Bacon and Bancroft. You would hardly be knowing them, though.

The loyal peasantry of the New England countryside always make a holiday of boat-race day at New London and they were toiling along the road on the eastern bank of the course this evening, ogling the private yachts again and pointing them out from memory. There was the Aztec, for example. One had heard tell that she had a pipe organ and even a swimming pool aboard of her. Was that a fact? My, my!

Grandeur of Occasion Is the Thing.

And the lights blinked and the white coats of the stewards flitted hither and yon about the decks and the scene was fraught with an air of social grandeur and security. The American royalty had gathered again to play, and the occasion was a boat race between the two universities which have more millionaires among their alumni than any other two schools in the country. Human nature being what it is, it is reasonable to suspect that it is not so much the race as the splendor of the occasion which evokes those twitting remarks every year about the exclusiveness of the Harvard-Yale regatta. And the race began, in the version of some historians, as a ballyhoo for an undernourished railroad running up to a New England lake resort in 1852, when a Harvard alumnus working for the line hit upo na boat race against Yale as a drawing card to bring some customers.

Harvard has won only one race in the last ten years and none since 1927, but the Harvards are a patient lot and Mr. Will Bingham, their athletic director, may merely be pursuing a twenty-year plan. This year Harvard beat the Navy, and as the Navy bedt Columbia, which had beaten Yale, maybe Harvard should now tell Yale to go and get a reputation.

But that isn't the way they do at Harvard and Yale. Harvard would rather be licked by Yale than to win from every other school in the U. S. A., and though they don't reciprocate the feeling in full down at New Haven, nevertheless they do take more pleasure from licking Harvard when they do, than they would, if they could, from licking al lthe rest of the world.

District Women Win In Gibson Island Golf

Specialto The Washington Post.

Baltimore, Md., June 18.—Two Washington women, Mrs. Betty P. Mackley, of Indian Spring, and Mrs. Alma Von Steinner, Beaver Dam, turned in victories today and advanced to the semifinals in the invitation golf tournament at Gibson Island.

Mrs. Meckley, the medalist and District champion for two years, was carried to the twentieth hole by the youthful and skillful Anne Cochran, of Elkridge, in order to win by 1 up. Miss Cochran, who was 3 down at the turn, even the match at the fifteenth. The next four holes were halved. With a mashie-niblick, Miss Cochran overshot the green to lose the match.

Mrs. Von Steinner conquered Miss Elizabeth Janney, Green Spring Valley Hunt Club, 2 and 1. Mrs. Meckley and Mrs. Von Steinner will oppose each other tomorrow.

In the other semifinals contest Mrs. W. Fairfield Peterson, the defending champion, will meet Mrs. M. Louise Bell. Miss Cochran dominated the approaching and putting contest by winning with an 8, after playing off a tie with Mrs. Meckley, Mrs. Peterson and Mrs. D. C. Wharton Smith. Mrs. Peterson was second. Each of the four scored an 8 the first time.

Mrs. Frank R. Keefer, Chevy Chase, down Miss Katherine Heulsler, Rodgers Forge, 2 and 1, in the second sixteen.

OLD COLONY DRILLS.

Sergt. Burdine has called a special practice session for his Old Colony Team Saturday at 5 p. m. at Takoma Park. The drill will be in preparation for Sunday's game with the D. C. Grocers at Garrett Park.

GRAYS VS. EAGLES.

The Chevy Chase Grays have booked the strong Anacostia Eagles for a game to be played Saturday at 3:30 p. m. on the Chevy Chase diamond. Sanford Ross will probably twirl for the Grays, with Henry Glohner doing the receiving.

Montgomery Nines Extend Series for League Crown

AT a meeting of the officials of the Capital City League held last night it was decided that the teams entered in the Montgomery County section would be permitted to meet each opponent three times provided the schedule is completed by Sunday, July 19.

This action followed close on the heels of protests of the Montgomery County teams against limiting competition to two games with each opponent. The managers of all of the teams agreed to play the games within the allotted time by playing double-headers beginning with the games scheduled for June 28.

The schedule for the District of Columbia teams will be completed on JJunJe 28, with the exception of postponed games, which will be played the Sunday following. At this rate these clubs would finish the three-game series for the city title by the third week in July, or about the time the last games in the Montgomery County section would finish the three-game series for the city title by the third week in July, or about the time the last games in the Montgomery County section would be played. This would permit the scheduling of the first of a three-game series for the Metropolitan title on the fourth Sunday in the month, with the winner being decided early in August.

The officers of the league are anxious to have the new champion crowned, if there is to be a new champion, as soon as possible to permit the playing of an intercity series with teams representing Baltimore and Richmond.

Deadline on Protests In City League Nears

Next week will mark the deadline for protests on eligibility of players entered in the midget and insect sections of the Capital City League. Managers of teams entered in these divisions will meet and approve, or disapprove, as the case may be, players listed on the rosters of opposing teams.

The managers of teams playing for the championship of the insect section will meet Monday night at 8 o'clock in room 2 of the District Building. The pilots will be required to present a birth certificate for each boy listed on his team, or if such a certificate is not available, the next best record of the player's age.

On Wednesday night at the same time the midget chieftains will convene. Each player on every team entered in the league will be required to furnish his birth certificate the same as the smaller players.

SWANS DEFEAT NATIONALS.

The Swann's Shop Insects, entrants in The Post's Capital City League, bowled over the Nationals yesterday by a 6-to-3 score on the Monument Grounds. Each team was able to get but four hits, but the Swann aggregation bunched theirs in the fifth inning to drive over five runs and clinch the honors.

Huttick Beats Edell In Slow Garden Bout

New York, June 18 (U.P.).—Arthur Huttick, 180, New York, defeated Benny Edell, 198½, Brooklyn in a slow four round preliminary to the Singer-Massey bout at Madison Square Garden tonight.

The fight was the poorest on the program with the rotund Edell content to let Huttick do all the forcing. Huttick was cautious, evidently fearing Edell's reputed hitting ability and the bout prolonged "Bronx cheers" from the crowd.

Huttick is matched to fight Jack Denning, All-Navy heavyweight champion, in the 10-round feature bout of the Fort Washington show next Monday night. This card was postponed last Monday on account of rain.

Eddie Buell, Washington featherweight, will meet Sailor Landers, Virginia National Guard champion, in the semifinal of eight rounds, it was announced last night.

Bucky Harris Failure In Debut As Pitcher

Grand Rapids, Mich., June 18 (A.P.).—The Detroit Tigers defeated the Grand Rapids Ramonas, 9 to 7, in an exhibition game here today, but Harris and Mark Koenig all but threw the pitching of Manager "Bucky" the game away in the last four innings.

Saks Clothiers have booked the revamped Ballston A. C. for two games Sunday on the Virginians' diamond. Dick Mothershead, pilot of the local aggregation, plans to use Payne and McGuire against the fast stepping team from over the Potomac.

The Woodridge A. C. is angling for games with strong unlimited nines. Manager Frank can be reached at Potomac 4773-J.

The Nehi Midgets, that redoubtable collection of sandlot players, took the measure of the Potomac Electric Midgets in a well-played game yesterday, by a 9-8 score. Art Sweeney's home run with the bases fully occupied with two men out in the final inning turned the tide in the Nehi's favor. Long hurled well for the winners.

The Clifton Barbers will meet at the Barber shop Sunday at 1:30 p. m. before proceeding to Camp Meiga for their game with the Swann's Service in the Capital City League.

The Acme Printers will engage the Lionel Seniors today in a practice game at 5 p. m. on No. 4 diamond. All members of the Acmes are requested to report on time.

D. C. Pistol Club Wins From Fort Humphreys

The Washington Pistol Club yesterday defeated the Engineer School detachment of Fort Humphreys by the margin of 2,516 to 2,149, out of a possible 3,000. The match was the first ever held at Fort Humphreys featuring a fort team and an outside aggregation.

STOCK PRICES CLOSE GENERALLY LOWER

New York, June 18 (A.P.).—Stocks and commodities found the easiest way was downward today. Trading in the share market paralleled the Wednesday turnover until the last hour, when activity quickened, presumably because professionals sensed that the list was more susceptible to pressure. Many favorites lost one to two points net, with a few weaker spots evident. Sales of approximately 1,100,000 shares compared with yesterday's total of not more than 900,000.

Wheat and corn were affected by favorable weather news. Railroad stocks were inactive, but still heavy, with the exception of St. Louis Southwestern which rose 3 on news of Southern Pacific's conditional offer to the minority holders. The latter road, however, was off 2 points.

The cut in Great Northern's dividend from a $5 to a $4 annual basis brought up the question of Northern Pacific's declaration next week and both issues reacted a couple of points. There were more nominal losses in New York Central, Pennsylvania, Baltimore & Ohio and Union Pacific.

Utility Groups Drop.

The chemical and utility groups dropped rather readily. U. S. Industrial Alcohol, Allied Chemical, Du Pont, Consolidated Gas, Western Union, American Telephone, American & Foreign Power and Lambert were unable to show much resistance. Johns-Manville, Case and Youngstown suffered more than average losses, while Transamerica sagged on the dividend reduction to a 40-cent annual basis from $1. Westinghouse uncovered a new low but rallied.

U. S. Steel, Chrysler, Sears Roebuck, Paramount, Loew's Radio and General Motors were off in the neighborhood of a point. American Can closed under 100, off 2½.

The weekly statements of the banks of England and France revealed additions to their gold stocks, reflecting transfers from Germany. About $6,700,000 in gold was released from earmark at the New York Federal Reserve, while more than $2,000,000 was received from Canada. The mounting supply of the metal in this country is becoming somewhat embarrassing and many bankers anticipate that further steps will be taken to check the accumulation.

Sheet Steel Higher.

News from trade was not of particular moment. Sheet steel prices are undergoing a general upward revision, perhaps on the theory that since a lowering of quotations had been unable to draw out buying reverse action might be helpful. The St. Louis San Francisco Railway's new financing with which it will meet its July 1 maturities, together with the Southern Pacific-Cotton Belt development, were interpreted constructively.

July and September wheat broke to 55¾ cents, the lowest board of trade quotation since 1895. Both moved up a little from the bottom and the range of net losses was ¾ to 1¾. Beneficial rains in Canada, increased receipts of the new crop from the Southwest and good harvesting weather encouraged professional selling and liquidation. July corn lost 1 5-8, but the September and December deliveries received support. Cotton dropped $1.25 to $1.40 a bale, largely in sympathy with stocks.

The German mark relinquished Wednesday's gain of a point. Sterling was firm, but the French franc eased. Brazil's milreis lost about a quarter of a cent. The Montreal rate in New York was lower.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, June 18 (A.P.).—Big rainfalls in Canada and Federal Farm Board refusal to pledge the withholding of surplus stocks of old wheat from the market tumbled gains down hard today. July and September wheat dropped beyond the season's previous bottom prices. Reports from the Southwest indicated that the movement of newly harvested domestic winter wheat was increasing rapidly.

Wheat closed unsettled, ¾ to 1¾ cents lower, corn unchanged to 1⅜ down; oats ⅞ to ¾ off, and provisions unchanged to 10 cents up.

Canadian rains came in the nick of time when most needed by the spring wheat belt, long suffering from severe drought. Some reports said the Canadian downpours were the best the prairie provinces had received in years. Emphasizing the market effect of the Canadian drenching were advices that crop conditions in domestic spring wheat States had been noticeably improved by recent rains and seasonable temperature, except the western third of North Dakota and the eastern third of Montana.

Stop-loss selling accompanied the downward swing of wheat, and the market closed at almost the day's bottom figures. Advices that Russia had unexpectedly chartered vessels for the export of 100,000 tons of grain, about 3,750,000 bushels, was a disturbing factor not offset by word of a fair amount of export business overnight in United States old crop winter wheat. Widespread notice was taken of a statement by a Chicago trade authority that the market was burdened by the fact that 200,000,000 bushels of wheat in the United States were held in the hands of one asency under what might be termed a unified control.

Provisions averaged higher, responsive to upturns in hog values.

GERMAN BONDS LOSE PART OF LATE GAINS

Rail Issues Turn Downward as Other Loans Join Gradual Slump.

Foreign obligations provided more activity than most other groups, but the trend of the more representative issues was mixed. Some of the German loans lost part of their recent gains. Varying degrees of strength appeared in the issues of Argentina, Brisbane, Province of Buenos Aires, Norway, Rio de Janeiro, Brazil and Rio Grande do Sul. High grade foreign loans such as those of Belgium, France and the United Kingdom were generally steady, but declines were numerous elsewhere.

Among the domestic corporate issues the rail obligations were the only ones to turn definitely downward. Average prices for industrial and public utility bonds were unchanged, but the rail average dropped three-tenths of a point to 99.1. The breadth of the movement may be realized from the fact that such issues as Baltimore & Ohio series D 5s, Rock Island refunding 4s, Delaware & Hudson 5½s of 1937 and the refunding 4s, Erie refunding and improvement 5s and the general lien 4s, Great Northern 7s, New York Central 4½s of 2013, Missouri Pacific series H and I 5s and Pennsylvania series D 4½s closed lower after active trading.

A sharp advance in Interborough Rapid Transit obligations featured the public utilities. The stamped 5s of 1966 were the most active and scored a net gain of 1⅝ points. The 6s of 1932 jumped 2½ points. Negotiations for the unification of New York's Rapid Transit facilities were resumed today. Other utilities fluctuated narrowly and divided their changes about evenly between gains and declines. As a group industrial loans were steady also.

The State of New Jersey today accepted the bid of the New Jersey National Bank & Trust Co. and the Merchants & Newark Trust Co. for $3,000,000 of 3½ per cent bonds at 100.029 and rejected all bids for $20,000,000 of highway bonds.

REALTY RULES GIVEN TO CAPITAL BANKERS

District Body Opens Session With Law Discussion at Hot Springs.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Hot Springs, Va., June 18.—Pending enactment of suitable legislation for the District, important corrective measures were recommended to Washington bankers and realty dealers by the law and legislation committee of the District of Columbia Bankers Association at opening of its convention here today.

Reporting for this committee, its chairman, President Francis G. Addison, jr., Security Savings & Commercial Bank, stated that while remedial law was awaited, in the committee's opinion, much good can be done if banks will require and have responsible realty dealers adopt as policy the following practices tending to eliminate some past abuses.

Banks were advised to recommend to real estate firms, clients or inquiring customers that title be ordered for any and all kinds of real property being purchased; that any property being sold should be sold with the seller's recommendation of title examination to the purchaser, that all real estate loans to be offered for sale or hypothecation and all real estate sales be settled through a title company.

Further recommendations were that all first trust real estate notes be certified by a title company and that title papers should be required by banks where loans are made or bought with real estate notes as security, even if the real estate notes are junior liens left primarily with banks for collection and afterwards used as a basis for credit. Exercise of more care in selection of trustees was advised and it was suggested that all lenders on real estate security perfect a system for a more prompt and effective method of keeping track of delinquent taxes.

In the discussion of his report, Mr. Addison said he had no objection to including bank or trust companies handling real estate loans with title companies as mediums for transactions.

The committee also recommended the association vote as soon as practicable on a special assessment as a retainer's fee for counsel needed to prepare a satisfactory securities law for the District in time for introduction to the next Congress.

In his farewell address President Lanier P. McLachlen, McLachlen Banking Corporation, whose term as president of the association expires Saturday, submitted the following legislation for consideration of the incoming administration: House resolution No. 10560 to amend section 22 of the Federal Reserve act, making it unlawful to circulate false rumors concerning financial institutions and a law punishing the making or use of false statements to obtain property or credit. The latter is similar to the bill recommended by the National Association of Credit Men.

Attention of the association was again invited to the bill limiting liability for wrongful dishonoring of a negotiable instrument by banks and to a uniform collection code being sought by the American Bankers Association.

Gravitation of bank deposits toward savings was depicted by the guest speaker, W. Espey Albig, deputy manager, savings bank division, American Bankers Association. Savings accounts have been increasing much more rapidly than commercial deposits for a good many years, and since 1927, he revealed, commercial deposits have decreased approximately $1,000,000,000 and in the same period savings deposits increased more than $2,000,000,000.

This basic change has been caused in part by the people becoming "interest-minded," he said. They are no longer willing to have their money lie idle. It must work as hard as its owners. Another reason cited is that the United States, no longer a pioneer country, is piling up a surplus of earnings from funds plowed back into industry since the Civil War.

In following the trend of deposits in savings, he concluded, banks are not only promoting their own interest, but those of the country, preparing for a future growth of industry and a stabilized civilization.

Regarding the presentation of the subject of employment of a private agency to serve as investment counsel for association member banks, President John Poole, Federal-American National Bank & Trust Co., heading a special committee intrusted with the matter, asked for further time to make a more detailed report.

Thirty of the 38 member banks of the association are represented at the convention by 53 delegates. Regrets of President Rome C. Stephenson, American Eankers Association, at not being able to attend were received. He was to have been a speaker at today's session. The assembly sent messages to him and the other notables prevented from coming here. Resolutions of respect to the memory of the late I. A. "Pop" Fleming, veteran financial writer, were passed and resolutions and nominations committees appointed.

Failures in May Drop Over Losses for April

New York, June 18 (A.P.).—Commercial failures in the United States in May, as reported to Bradstreet's, showed a substantial drop in the amount of liabilities from April, although larger than in March or February of this year and May, 1930. The total number of defaults, while larger than in May a year ago, showed the smallest total since November, 1930.

The total reported last month to Bradstreet's was 2,096, compared with 2,189 in April and 1,991 in May, 1930. Total liabilities were $120,317,711, against $161,820,528 in April, $83,-996,069 in March, and $81,274,329 in May a year ago.

Bank of France.

Paris, June 18 (A.P.).—The weekly statement of the Bank of France shows the following changes in francs: Gold increased 205,000,000; sight balances abroad increased 109,-000,000; bills discounted at home decreased 17,000,000; bills bought abroad decreased 111,000,000; advances decreased 3,000,000; circulation decreased 791,000,000; current accounts increased 678,000,000.

Rate of discount, 2 per cent.

Georgia Central Elects Pollard.

Savannah, Ga., June 18 (A.P.).—Henry B. Pollard, for six years vice president and general manager, was elected president of the Central of Georgia Railway at a meeting of the directors here today. Directors of the Ocean Steamship Co., meeting after the railway board, elected E. B. Richardson, vice president and general manager for several years, as its president.

World's Hugest X-Ray Tube Built of Paper and Rubber

Scientific Society Amazed at Report of 2,600,000-Volt Instrument, Whose Immense Power Promises to Solve Mystery of Cosmic Rays.

Pasadena, Calif., June 18 (A.P.).—A 2,600,000 volt X-ray tube, built of paper, rubber and aluminum and reported by two German professors, proved a shock today to America's leading scientists.

The announcement was made in a paper by Profs. F. Lange and A. Brasch, of the University of Berlin, presented to the American Association for the Advancement of Science in session here.

The story presented from the report was the most fascinating and romantic of the strange mysteries of science. It grew out of the spectacular work started by the two Germans in 1927, when they went to the Swiss Alps to follow out Benjamin Franklin's idea of getting power from thunderbolts. Science has been told years ago of their 18,000,000-volt natural laboratory, in which among other things they found that impregnated hemp rope was a better insulator than scores of the best modern porcelain insulators.

From this they went into construction of X-ray tubes. Dr. Alexander Goetz, of the California Institute of Technology, revealed the story in interpreting their paper today.

This sensational tube, Goetz reported, is only 3 feet long, and operates at 2,600,000 volts, and produces hard gamma rays equal to 100,000 grams of radium, more than all in use today throughout the world.

Out of this, it was reported a solution may be expected of the mystery of the cosmic ray, and tremendous new advances in medical use of the X-ray. Power is furnished by a surge generator of condenser type, and tubes may be constructed up to 7,-000,000 volts, the paper set forth.

The gamma ray is so powerful it drills a hole an inch deep in the anticathode, and can penetrate a foot of lead.

The largest X-ray tubes in use today are the 900,000 volt cascaded tube at Memorial Hospital, New York, and the 750,000 volt Lauritsen tube here. The California Institute of Technology is building a 1,200,000 volt tube here.

80 Boys to Leave For Y Camp Today

Many Improvements Have Been Made on Summer Haven of Capital Boys.

Turning from school to vacation, more than 80 boys will pile into buses at the Central Y. M. C. A. today bound for Camp Letts, the "Y" summer haven for Washington boys on the Rhodes River, near Annapolis. The big camp, located on a 200-acre peninsula near Chesapeake Bay, opens its silver anniversary year today. Thousands of local boys have enjoyed the camp in its 25 years of existence.

An enlarged staff of nearly 30 trained leaders will welcome the first contingent of young campers. The staff is headed by J. C. Ingram, director of the boys department of the Y. M. C. A., and includes 18 college men experienced in sports, crafts and other activities featured by Camp Letts.

The camp has been completely reconditioned and a number of improvements have been added since last year. The big dining hall has been reconstructed so as to provide more space. The kitchen, also, has been rebuilt. Other improvements planned include an amphitheater for the athletic campus funds for which were donated by the Lions Club.

The campers are from 10 to 18 years old. Additional groups will leave for camp every two weeks during the season, which ends August 28.

Cities Service Refines More Oil for Gasoline

New York, June 18 (A.P.).—Cities Service Co. reports that as result of new gasoline refining units installed in the past two years, it is now refining 100 per cent more crude oil than in 1930.

The new refineries, it says, are obtaining a gasoline yield of 54 per cent, compared to 42 per cent a year ago, and at a reduced cost. Crude oil pipe line runs for May were 12 per cent above April and the largest in history of the company. "Oil drilling operations," however, "are being restricted insofar as is possible and cooperation practiced in accordance with the proration laws of oil producing States."

Burlington Will Run Train to Dude Ranches

Chicago, June 18 (A.P.).—New lures for the westbound tourist: "The Burlington Railroad announced today a special train will be run every Saturday night from June 20 to August 22 to the dude ranch country," carrying sleeping cars only and operating between Chicago and Sheridan, Wyo., four hours faster than regular trains. Eighty per cent of the "dudes" come from New York and the rest from the Chicago area, said Albert Cotsworth, jr., passenger traffic manager.

The Chicago & Northwestern Railway announced a 20 per cent reduction in charges.

Reserve Bank Rate Unchanged.

New York, June 18 (A.P.).—The Federal Reserve Bank of New York today announced no change in its rediscount rate of 1½ per cent.

Glaciers Shaved By Ship's Whistles

Seattle, June 18 (A.P.).—Four whistles made to roar with a vibration that will shake ice masses off the face of Taku Glacier, Alaska, have been installed by Pacific Steamship Co. boats here. "Shaving" the face of this glacier with their whistle vibrations has been a summer tourist sport of passenger steamers for years.

But it remained for J. D. Gilmour, Seattle port engineer for the Pacific Steamship Co., to discover that the roar of the liner Dorothy Alexander seemed to have the most destructive effect.

So four other boats of this line have been equipped with similar whistles. During fogs steamers have corrected their distance off shore by noting the time required for the whistle echo to arrive from high Alaskan shore linees.

Silence Contest Is Held in Milan

Penalty for Noise and Violation of Traffic Rules Are Improved.

Milan, June 17 (A.P.).—A "meeting of silence and discipline" at the street intersection here was held recently by the Royal Automobile Club to demonstrate that the way to eliminate noise is to cease making it.

The "meeting" was a contest of club members for "silence" and traffic prizes. Drivers went through traffic under the eyes of judges who marked them according to a schedule of penalties for noise and violation of traffic rules.

The noise was judged both as concerned the car itself and the tooting of horns.

Radio Is Asked For Wedding Music

Schedule Network Program Alone Prevents Grant of Request.

San Francisco, Calif., June 18 (A.P.).—It would have been a brand-new stunt if it had worked. A woman telephoned a local broadcast station for help in getting her daughter married. She had engaged a violinist and a cellist, but was unable to get a piano into her house.

Would it be possible for her, she asked, to buy a half-hour's time on radio, getting the piano's part in the trio via ether and letting the other instruments join in as the music emerged from the loud speaker?

It would, she was told, except that network programs were scheduled for that time.

Will Rewarded Pallbearers.

Davenport, Iowa, June 18 (U.P.).—When Victor Torok's will was filed for probate here it was discovered he had provided $10 for each pallbearer at his funeral.

New York, June 18 (A.P.).—Delivery has just been made to the New Haven Railroad by the General Electric Co. of the first of the ten new electric locomotives of the latest design, costing nearly $2,000,000, which will be used in the railroad's high speed passenger service between New York and New Haven. Delivery of the remaining nine, which will be made during the summer, will bring the road's fleet of electric locomotives to a total of 154.

Charles R. McMillen, who has resigned as president of the Union Bag & Paper Corporation to become chairman of the board of that company, has been elected vice president and a director of St. Regis Paper Co. He succeeds M. L. Wallace as chairman of Union Bag & Paper. Alexander Calder has been elected executive vice president of Union Bag in charge of operations.

Stockholders in General Foods Corporation increased 38 per cent since February of last year and now total 44,400, an announcement by the company today said. Nearly half the total are women, who own the stock individually or jointly with their husbands. The percentage of women stockholders has increased each year since 1928.

John Mortimer Schiff, a partner in Kuhn, Loeb & Co., has been elected a director of Chemical Bank & Trust Co., of New York, to succeed his father, the late Mortimer L. Schiff.

The Annalist's monthly index of business activity, as reported today for May, shows a decrease after its January-to-April rise. The preliminary index for May is 77.5, as reduced from 80.8 for April and 77.9 for March. Figures for February and January were 76.2 and 74.4, respectively. All components of the index for May were lower than April. Notable, however, was the drop in the adjusted index of freight car loadings to a new low for the depression and a setback in the index for cotton consumption. The Annalist index is adjusted to allow for normal seasonal variation, as well as for the normal average rate of growth from year to year.

Directors of Michigan Steel Products Co. declared a dividend of 10 cents a share, payable July 1 to stockholders of record June 25. Three months ago a dividend of 20 cents was paid.

Sidney Z. Mitchell, chairman of the board of United Gas Corporation, said at the annual meeting he believed the reserves and output of the corporation were the largest of any single group in the world, while production costs and prices were the lowest.

Pennsylvania Sugar Co. has purchased the name, good-will, trademark and other assets of Pineart Foods, Inc., a manufacturer, refiner and distributor of concentrates of tea and coffee and a producer of fruit and vegetable juices.

The meeting of stockholders of International Utilities Corporation to vote on the reclassification of the preferred and class "B" issue has been postponed until June 24 because of lack of a quorum.

The directors meeting of International Paper & Power Corporation, scheduled for June 17, has been postponed until June 24.

Gardner Motor Co. has notified the New York Stock Exchange that the proposed distribution of 25 cents a share in cash and one share of Detroit Aircraft Corporation for each ten shares of Gardner has not been approved by stockholders and will not be effected.

American & Foreign Power has obtained controlling interest in the company operating electric and gas properties in the City of Bucharest, Roumania.

DEFICIT CUT BY TAX AND DEBT PAYMENTS

(Associated Press.)

Federal finances still floundered in red ink yesterday to the extent of more than $1,000,000,000, although the total had dropped sharply from Wednesday's high figure.

Income tax collections joined foreign debt payments to bring the deficit $82,000,000 nearer President Hoover's estimate of $950,000,000, a figure Treasury officials now believe will prove excessive when the books close June 30.

Reports on the second quarter installments on 1930 income taxes closely approximated previous Treasury estimates which forecast June collections of $290,000,000. Payments on June 16 of $29,368,152 brought the total for the month to $75,897,122, as compared with $186,173,071 in the corresponding 1930 period.

Tax Receipts Cut Deficit.

Although the deficit stood at $1,017,241,877, as compared with $1,099,903,063 the preceding day, tax receipts for June 17, available today, were expected to reach a high point for the month which already shows a $23,216,215 surplus of receipts over expenditures.

Foreign debt payments exceeding $111,000,000, of which $93,068,642 was applied to operating expenses, provided the other major entry on the credit page of the ledger.

Meanwhile, the Internal Revenue Bureau, in an analysis of receipts for the first eleven months of the fiscal year showed total collections of $2,082,365,969, a reduction of $377,-164,171 from the corresponding period of a year previous.

Corporation taxes dropped $135,-340,900 to $852,848,861 and individual income taxes fell $185,988,300 to $713,-354,300 for a drop in all income taxes over the eleven months of $321,-329,200.

Tobacco Taxes Drop Slightly.

Tobacco taxes maintained a comparatively high level, showing a decline of only $5,162,800 for an eleven months' total of $402,467,600. Cigarettes provided $324,388,700 for a decrease of $175,200. May cigarette payments showed an increase of $440,500 over that month last year, for a total of $31,343,500.

Chewing and smoking tobacco payments dropped $1,891,000 in the eleven months to a total of $53,380,-600. While cigar taxes paid $16,455,-800, or $2,971,600 less than last year. Levies on snuff brought in $6,590,100, a decline of $208,900.

The relatively high tobacco taxes kept the total of miscellaneous internal revenue collections up to $516,-526,700, a drop of $55,834,800 in eleven months.

Other Tax Receipts Decline.

In the miscellaneous classification, documentary stamps and excise taxes showed the largest loss dropping $30,-342,400 to $57,357,200. The capital stock sales tax came to $23,842,600, a decrease of $19,284,800 and the tax on bonds and capital stock issues fell to $13,936,300, a decline of $6,764,500.

Theater admission taxes dropped $1,386,700 to $2,541,200 and those on club dues $929,100 to $10,387,400.

Estate taxes brought in $44,146,200 in the eleven months for a decline of $15,100,100. Collections on distilled spirits dropped $1,272,300 to $9,486,000.

Steel Sheets Higher In Mahoning Valley

New York, June 18 (A.P.).—Price increases on steel sheets, ranging from $1 to $5 a ton, are being quoted by makers in the Mahoning Valley for the third quarter.

Sentiment against price shading in that area was reported apparently stronger than at any time this year, following a long period in which constantly declining prices have failed to bring out new business of any consequence. District interests expect an increase in sheet mill activity, which is now below 40 per cent of capacity.

Bank of England.

London, June 18 (A.P.). — The weekly statement of the Bank of England shows the following changes in pounds: Total reserve increased 7,684,000; circulation decreased 1,985,000; bullion increased 5,699,-000; other securities increased 2,216,-000; public deposits increased 5,390,-000; other deposits increased 2,298,-000; notes reserve increased 7,656,-000; government securities decreased 2,275,000.

The proportion of the bank's reserve to liability is 58.03 per cent compared with 55.16 last week.

FRIDAY MORNING — The Washington Post. — JUNE 19, 1931

NEWS OF LATEST HAPPENINGS IN MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA

REV. JOHN A. CURRAN TO OBSERVE JUBILEE

Clarendon Catholic Pastor to Celebrate 25 Years in Pulpit Sunday.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

The Rev. John A. Curran, pastor of the St. Charles Catholic Church, will celebrate his silver jubilee on Sunday.

The ceremonies will begin with the celebration of solemn high mass at 10:15 o'clock, at which Mgr. Alfred Smith, of Baltimore, Md., will be the celebrant. The Right Rev. Andrew J. Brennan, Bishop of Richmond, Va., will attend.

In the evening there will be a reception in the auditorium of St. Charles School at 8 o'clock.

Among the speakers will be Mgr. Smith, who is editor of the Baltimore Catholic Review; State Senator Frank L. Ball and Louis C. Carl, president of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce.

The program will conclude with a number of musical selections by radio artists of Washington.

The committee announces that a large delegation from Harpers Ferry, West Va., where Father Curran was pastor for more than 18 years, will attend the services.

With the announcement yesterday by C. H. Bowbeer, of Glebewood, that he would be a candidate for membership on the county board of five, which, in accordance with the new form of county government effective January 1, 1932, replaces the present three members of the board of supervisors, the list of candidates has reached a total of twenty persons.

Never in the history of Arlington County, according to old-line politicians, has there been such an effort made to gain a county office as is being shown by the number of candidates already in the field for the county board.

Indications are that long before the time limit of filing as a candidate the total number of persons seeking this office will exceed 30.

In an effort to control, in a way, the selection of candidates for this office, the Better Government League of Arlington County has been formed. This organization, composed at present of seven voters from each of the eleven voting precincts of the county will, during the present campaign, devote its attention exclusively to recommending to the voters from the candidates the five believed to best meet the requirements for the county board.

The ten requisites for membership on the board, as adopted by the league, follow:

1. Of unquestionable integrity.
2. Unfailing courtesy in dealing with the public.
3. One who has made or is making a success of his own life work.
4. One having such grasp of business affairs and financial matters as to be able to understand and analyze the county's financial problems and contracts of various kinds.
5. One who will deal justly with all sections of the county and all factions of the people.
6. One who is progressive, of broad vision and having a full appreciation of the county's future possibilities.
7. One with a mind to yield a maximum of cooperation with authorities of adjacent jurisdictions and with the representatives of the Federal Government in the development of the metropolitan area, subject to a realization of the limitations of the county's resources.
8. All other things being equal, educational qualifications should be given weight in the selection of candidates.
9. One who will see that the taxpayers receive full value for their money and resist the creation of unnecessary offices and expenditures.
10. One who will place public welfare ahead of private interests.

Meeting last night the Rosslyn Business Men's Association considered the question of a legal way in which owners of vacant property can be made to cut the high weeds and otherwise make their property presentable.

Commonwealth's Attorney William C. Gloth, attending the meeting, stated that the county board of supervisors had been informed by Arthur Orr, president of the Arlington County Bicentennial Council, that there is at present an act of the Legislature, permitting an ordinance that would give the county the right to clean up vacant property and charge the cost to the owner.

Mr. Gloth further stated that he has already been authorized by the board of supervisors to make a study of the question with County Engineer C. L. Kinnier and submit recommendations at the next meeting of the board.

It being claimed that Rosslyn is the poorest lighted business section in Arlington County, a special committee composed of Allan B. Prosise, N. R. Pond and J. V. Davis was appointed with instructions to appear before the next meeting of the board of supervisors and request that consideration be given for an adequate street lighting system in the Rosslyn area.

Guests who attended the meeting were Representative Howard W. Smith, B. M. Hedrick, E. C. Turnburke and Edward Duncan, members of the board of supervisors; Sheriff Howard B. Fields, Commonwealth's Attorney William C. Gloth and County Engineer C. L. Kinnier.

More than 300 persons attended the children's classical dancing revue by the pupils of Miss Betty Hammond, presented in the auditorium of the Cherrydale Firemen's Hall last night.

The program included a group of fancy dances in which more than twenty pupils took part.

Among the features of the program was the Wooden Soldier Dance, by Elizabeth Schutt, Jeanne Hammond, Mary Pickins, Reba Thomas and Mildred Topley, and "A Little Girl's Dream," by a cast including more than 25 pupils.

Amos C. Crounse filed his intentions with the county clerk, William H. Duncan, yesterday that he will be a candidate for the office of Commonwealth's attorney at the county election, to be held Tuesday, November 3. Crounse is opposing Commonwealth's Attorney William C. Gloth, incumbent.

R. W. Dudley, of Clarendon, who some time ago announced that he would be a candidate for the office of trial justice of the new county court, yesterday filed his official intention of becoming a candidate at the November election. This is a new office, created by an act of the last General Assembly, and abolishes all justices of the peace in the county and the county police court.

The Alexandria, Arlington and Fairfax Real Estate Board will hold its last dinner meeting tonight at 6:30 o'clock at the Washington Golf and Country Club.

The members of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Clarendon Volunteer Fire Department will attend the annual carnival in a body tomorrow night.

30 FARM BOYS WIN HONOR AT MEETING

Degree of State Farmers Is Conferred on Group at V. P. I. Convention.

Special to The Washington Post.

Blacksburg, Va., June 18.—Among other awards and prizes presented at the banquet tonight which concluded the three-day rally of more than 700 boys of the Virginia Association of Future Farmers of America at Virginia Polytechnic Institute, were certificates to 30 boys who were made State farmers, the third and highest degree of the organization. Four others were given the honorary third degree.

In order to win this honor, a boy must obtain high grades in class work, have successfully completed vocational agricultural projects, shown leadership by holding offices in the chapter or other organizations, have invested at least $200. In several cases the investments represented several thousand dollars.

The ceremony raising the specially selected boys to the degree of State farmer was held this morning, but the certificates were not awarded until tonight's banquet. Those honored represent less than 1 per cent of the organization's membership.

Honorary membership was conferred upon H. A. Glenn, Kenbridge, this year's master teacher of vocational agriculture in Virginia and the South; F. B. Cale, district supervisor middle Virginia; H. W. Sanders, associate professor of agricultural education at V. P. I., and W. H. Byrne, extension agronomist at V. P. I.

The 30 boys are: Fred Bunting, Temperanceville; John W. Beard, Herndon; B. A. Rucker, Upperville; George C. Wright, Stephens City; Ashly Brumback, Middletown; Blake T. Newton, jr., Cople; Elbert Womble, Whaleyville; Clyde Fearnow, Atlee; Richard Thornton, Temperanceville; Orrin Stickley, Woodstock; Hershel Richardson, Sugar Grove; Ray Rotenizer, Hillsville; Robert Snodgrass, Liberty Hall; Blaine Blackburg, Grassy Creek, N. C.; Carcey Carson, Appomattox; Haswell Jackson, Woodlawn; Harvey Loving, Atlee; Braden Miller, Mount Jackson; William Ross, Sugar Grove; Mason Hicks, Hillsville; Harold Decker, Clarke Crosby, Botetourt; Aylor Harper, Whitmell; Carroll Wampler, Howard Showalter, Broadway; Woodrow Bratton, Castlewood; Jack Harmon, Willis; Bennie Towler, Climax; Carroll McKenney, Mica; Noel Trent, Chase City.

Manassas to Fete Bull Run Bankers

New Association Promotes Better Business Status in Three Counties.

Special to The Washington Post.

Manassas, Va., June 18.—Manassas bankers will entertain the Bull Run Bankers Association on Tuesday next, according to announcement tonight by G. Raymond Ratcliffe, secretary, following a meeting of the executive committee in Leesburg.

The Bull Run Bankers Association was organized last month for the purpose of promoting close business acquaintances among the banks of Prince William, Fauquier and Loudoun Counties, and monthly meetings will be held by the entire membership, while frequent meetings will be held by the executive council.

Officers of the association are: C. E. Tiffany, Fauquier National Bank, Warrenton, president; P. W. Anderson, Fauquier National Branch, Marshall, vice president for Fauquier County; Bruce McIntosh, Peoples National Bank, Leesburg, vice president for Loudoun County; H. Ewing Wall, First National Bank, Quantico, vice president for Prince William County; G. Raymond Ratcliffe, Peoples National Bank, Manassas, secretary-treasurer.

Danville Veterans to Attend Reunion.

Danville, Va., June 18 (Special).—Not more than two Danville Confederate veterans will attend the State reunion, which is to open in Charlottesville next Monday. Mayor Harry Wooding, a past commander of the Virginia Camp, is planning to go, as is also R. R. Moore. The city will pay their railway expenses.

JUDGE FOR JUVENILE CASES IS ADVOCATED

Women in Prince Georges Will Discuss Plan at Monday Meeting.

A campaign to take advantage of the law allowing Maryland counties to appoint a justice of the peace to handle juvenile cases will be inaugurated at the meeting next Monday of the Prince Georges County Federation of Women's Clubs, it was announced by Mrs. Rudolph S. Allen, president, yesterday.

Federation leaders are said to believe that a woman magistrate could handle juvenile criminal cases better than a man. Political leaders, however, are said to favor the present method of having the police court judge take care of all such cases. At present there is one woman justice of the peace, Retta D. Morris, of Hyattsville, in the county. The police court judge, however, is a man, J. Chew Sheriff.

Miss Lavinia Engle, a member of the House of Delegates from Montgomery County and an active social service worker, has been asked to address the meeting Monday, which will be held in the Hyattsville Methodist Church. It will be the last meeting of the federation until September.

Other features of the program Monday include the drawing of booths by the various clubs for space at the Marlboro fair and introduction of several newly elected presidents of member clubs.

It also was announced that a new woman's club was being formed in Hyattsville, to be known as the Hyattsville Women's Community Club. The temporary president is Mrs. H. H. Lyons, with Mrs. James E. Steele temporary secretary. Mrs. O. M. Eaton, State chairman of extension, was named chairman of a committee to draw up a constitution. Other members of the committee are Mrs. W. W. Cole, Mrs. Edwin Kelley, Mrs. Ferdinand Coburn and Mrs. Steele.

Annual elections of the Exchange Club of the county resulted in the choice of Dr. William Burton Spire as president for the next year. At the same meeting the report of the club for last year was read.

Other officers chosen were A. H. Seidenspinner, first vice president; B. L. Anspon, second vice president; Daniel C. Fahey, jr., third vice president; Raymond Czarra, secretary, and Dr. R. A. Vawter, treasurer. The Rev. Clyde Brown, Harry C. Fleming, and W. D. Porter were elected to the board of control.

The report of the retiring secretary, the Rev. Brown, cited the milk fund, the industrial show, the introduction of traffic lights and elimination of the Johnson avenue intersection as the four most important works of the club during the last year.

The milk fund, for supplying milk to undernourished children in the schools, now amounts to $117, having been increased by the revenue from the industrial show. Traffic lights have been installed on the Baltimore boulevard in Riverdale, and are planned for Hyattsville and Mount Rainier. The industrial show was given in the Hyattsville Armory early this month. The State Roads Commission has already purchased a part of the store at the corner of Johnson avenue and the boulevard, which will be razed to improve the corner.

A committee was formed to try to eliminate the poison oak and poison ivy which is causing some suffering among the younger generation. It is composed of W. D. Porter, Daniel C. Fahey, jr., A. H. Seidenspinner, B. L. Anspon and Charles G. Burton.

The club will hold an all-day outing on July 15 at the summer home of Mr. Porter on the Patuxent River. Members and their families are invited. Final arrangements were left to the entertainment committee, which is headed by Mr. Anspon.

Langhorne S. Rorer, proprietor of the Lone Star Inn, near Meadows, Md., yesterday was assaulted by five men who broke into the building and took Rorer's gun from him, he told county police. After he left the building, he said, they fired a number of shots at the walls and ceilings.

Rorer said he knew the men, who had often visited his place. On this occasion, he said, they were drunk, so he refused them admittance. They broke his door down and chased him from the building after disarming him.

Three persons were hurt, one seriously, when a taxicab struck a truck loaded with sheep on the Baltimore boulevard yesterday morning. One of the sheep was killed.

The most badly injured man was Isadore Kubala, 17, of New Briton, Conn., who has possible internal injuries. Kubala was a passenger in the cab, with Bernard M. Jones, of 209 Rhode Island avenue northwest. Mr. Jones and Bernard M. Cady, of 1262 Twenty-first street northwest, said to be the driver of the cab, were released from Providence Hospital after treatment for minor injuries. According to police, Curtis Vann, of Strassburg, Va., was the driver of the truck.

Alleging that sparks from a locomotive set fire to a tract of woodland near Bowie, Marion R. Malone has sued the Philadelphia, Baltimore & Washington Railroad for $800 damages.

Attorneys T. Van Clagett and S. Marvin Peace represented Mr. Malone, who claims that he lost timber valued at $800 by the fire.

Town officials of Mount Rainier have authorized a standing reward of $10 for information leading to the conviction of persons turning in false fire alarms. The town fire marshal recommended the reward, pointing out that there have been two false alarms in two weeks.

The council also has bought a piece of ground in the rear of the town hall to eliminate a sharp turn at that point. The price of the land was reported at $50.

Rock Kills Shepherdstown Man.

Martinsburg, W. Va., June 18 (Special).—Walter Snyder, 20, died at a local hospital today of injuries suffered earlier at a local quarry, where he was employed, when a boulder rolled upon him. He suffered multiple injuries, including fractured skull and back. The remains were taken to his home in Shepherdstown, W. Va., for burial. He formerly lived here.

Textile Affiliation Called Big Advance

Gaston, N. C., Plant Will Be Given Over to Finished Yarns.

Gastonia, N. C., June 18. A. M. G. Myers, president, and J. H. Separk, secretary and treasurer of Textiles, Inc., recently formed $17,000,000 textile organization, today issued a statement explaining the relation between their company and Hampton Textiles, Inc., a mercerizing and finishing plant owned jointly by Textiles, Inc., and the Hamptoh Mills of East Hampton, Mass.

"This development is of great importance to the textile industry," the statement said. "It represents an affiliation of interests which, in a large, modern plant located in Gaston County, N. C., will be devoted to manufactured and finished yarns and other materials for the textile trade.

"The plant will operate under the combined supervision of the present Hampton Co. executives and those of Textiles, Inc., who will bring to it the advantages of long experience and high reputation, the former in the finishing of yarn and the latter in the spinning of it. The Hampton Co. will continue to operate its present Eastern plant at East Hampton, Mass., which is reported running at normal capacity."

FAIRFAX DAIRY COWS BEAT APRIL RECORDS

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Clarendon 2324-W-2.

Report of Fairfax County Dairy Herd Improvement Association No. 2 for the last month shows that 843 cows were tested, of which 85 were dry. Forty-seven cows made the honor roll by producing 50 or more pounds of butter fat. One hundred forty-four cows produced 40 pounds or more of butter fat. Average for the association was 745.2 pounds of milk and 29.25 pounds of butter fat.

High herd honors were awarded to C. T. Rice, of Oakton. His herd averaged 983.9 pounds of milk and 38.78 pounds of butter fat. Individual honors were won by a cow owned by Sunset Hills Farm, which produced 1,246 pounds of milk and 71 pounds of butter fat.

Cows making the honor roll for the month were owned by the following: Wheeler & Crippen, 7; Jenkins & Wilson, 6; Kenilworth Farms, 5; Sunset Hills Farm, 4; J. S. Barbour, C. T. Rice, B. F. Salisbury and C. T. Wright, 3 each; T. B. Mason, J. L. Bristow, A. M. Schuerman, Mrs. S. Uifelder and O. K. Miller, 2 each, and R. R. Farr, J. C. Storm and Mark Turner, 1 each.

Average production of this association for the month of April was 712.1 pounds of milk and 28.07 pounds of butter fat. Only 41 cows made the honor roll that month.

Monthly benefit bridge party of the Little Aid Society of Crossman Methodist Church of Falls Church will be held this afternoon at home of Mrs. Joseph Allison at West Falls Church.

Women of the Southern Methodist Church of Falls Church will give a lawn party this evening on the grounds in front of the building on Broad street.

Women's Christian Temperance Union of Herndon will meet this afternoon at home of Mrs. Robert Lowe. A picnic luncheon will be served preceding the meeting.

Epworth League Union of Fairfax and Loudoun Counties will meet in Herndon this evening. Following a business session a social hour will be held.

Mount Vernon Grange will meet this evening in Sherwood Hall at Woodlawn. An old-fashioned spelling bee will be held to select the local participants in the county-wide spelling contest sponsored by Fairfax County Pomona Grange.

Harmony Chapter, No. 60, Order of the Eastern Star, will serve a chicken dinner this evening in the parish hall at Vienna for benefit of the order.

Miss Sara E. Thomas, Fairfax County home demonstration agent, will attend meetings of 4-H clubs at Woodlawn this morning and at Burke this afternoon, where she will give practical demonstrations on canning of fruits and vegetables and making of preserves. This afternoon at a meeting of the Fort Humphreys Club Mrs. Florence E. James, club leader, will give a demonstration on making of cakes and cookies.

Fairfax County authorities and relatives of Roy Lancaster, 26, living near Merrifield, are making a search for him. It is stated he has been subject to melancholia caused by lack of work and money and that Sunday afternoon he wandered away from the home of M. S. Goode, where he had been staying for the last few months and apprehension is felt for his safety.

It was said that when he left he was clad in a striped pair of unionalls. He is described as being about 6 feet tall and having sandy-colored hair and blue eyes. His mother lives in Atlanta, Ga.

Women's Auxiliary of the Volunteer Fire Department of McLean will serve a chicken dinner tomorrow evening in the engine house on the Chain Bridge road in McLean. Mrs. Fred Magarity is general chairman.

There are eight entries in the event for saddle ponies, 12 hands and under, to be ridden by a child not over 12 years old. Billy Garth 2d, will ride his two gray mares, Spot and Gray Girl, while Mrs. Woods Garth will enter Moon Shine. Other entries include James Keith's Sinbad; Billie, a black gelding owned by Barny Dieziecelatis, of the University; Ellis Wood Keith's Gee Whiz; Buddy Rogers, a gray gelding exhibited by George and Anthony Rives, and Mary Vandevender's Billy. The first prize is a silver cup donated by the Retail Merchants Association, of this city.

15 Entered in Hunters Event.

The class for 3-year-old hunters has a sterling field of fifteen entries, the trophy to be presented by the banks of Charlottesville. Mrs. Cary Jackson will pilot her chestnut geldings, Nobody and San Den, while Mrs. Allen Potts, the former Gertrude Rives, sister of Princess Troubetzkoy, will ride her brown gelding, Silk Socks, and the chestnut gelding, Berridon Flash. Mrs. William Luke, of Covington, Va., has entered her chestnut mare, Golden Slippers. Grover Vandevender, of Ivy, will introduce his brown geldings, Little Brown Jug and Big Brown Jug.

The class for mares suitable to produce hunters has fourteen entries; that for yearling colts, fifteen entries, and the one for 2-year-old colts, sixteen entries.

The show's time table calls for the first class to enter the ring at 9:30 o'clock, and a dozen classes will be shown before the recess hour at 2 o'clock. Nine events are listed for the afternoon. The final class, that for heavy and middleweight hunters, is scheduled to be called at 6 o'clock.

VirginiaCommerce Body Issues Education Book

Richmond, Va., June 18 (A.P.).—"Colleges and Schools in Virginia" is the title of a new booklet just issued by the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce for distribution to every part of the United States and abroad.

The booklet was planned to increase the attendance at Virginia's institutions of higher learning. All colleges and schools accredited by the State board of education are included in the book. Eighty-one are listed for white and fifteen for Negro pupils.

City Heads Asked To Join Institute

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., June 18.—City managers and mayors of the municipalities of Virginia, West Virginia and North Carolina have been invited by Morton L. Wallerstein, executive secretary of the League of Virginia Municipalities, to join the round table on problems of municipal administration, to be held during the first week of the Institute of Public Affairs at the University of Virginia.

Dr. Thomas H. Reed, professor of political science in the University of Michigan, will direct the round table, which meets from June 30 through July 3. He will be assisted by Mr. Wallerstein and by Rowland A. Egger, technical consultant of the New Jersey commission on county and municipal taxation and expenditures, recently selected associate professor of political science at the University of Virginia and head of the bureau of municipal research.

Police administration, relation of State to municipal taxation, interesting the taxpayer in government, budgeting, city planning and public welfare are some of the topics to be discussed by this group.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

IMA DODO IN RENO.

DEAR EDITOR: Well, I have just had the most awful experience out here in Reno against which I think all tourists should be warned. I am on an automobile trip across the country with my boy friend and all goes fine and dandy until we pulls into this city, when you would be surprised what happens.

* * * *

He gets a flat tire and while he is in a garage getting it fixed I takes a stroll around the city, not even knowing what town it is, and I loses my bearings and has to ask aid from a policeman. "Can you tell me where I can?" I begins. But gets no further before he smiles, squeezes my elbow and says: "Certainly; you go two blocks down, turn left, and you'll see a sign Swimpson, Swumpson & Swimpson." I don't know what he's talking about, but I goes where he say and I bumps into another man when I turns the corner and I asks: "I wonder if you could——" But he don't let me finish and says: "Positively, and it won't delay you no time at all." It is all Greek to me, but he whisks me into a sedan, not letting me get a word in edgeways and insisting that all I've got to do is leave everything to him.

* * * *

We gets out in front of a big building in front of which a coupla hundred women are standing in line and he tells me to hold my place and just be a little patient and he will see me upstairs. I am all muddled up and I tells a lady in front of me that I lost my boy friend somewhere in the city and she laughs and says it is just as well not to bring him here, although they are not very fussy, except now and then for appearances sake.

* * * *

I REALIZES it is not getting me any where to ask questions and pretty soon I find myself in a big courtroom in front of a nice old gentleman who grins at me ear to ear and asks: "What name, please?" But before I can even answer him he shouts: "Decree granted with the custody of the children," and I am out in the street again before I know what's happened.

* * * *

Then I goes into a huddle with some other tourists and discovers that I have just been granted a divorce. I explains that I ain't even married and they say that don't make any difference, as they give everybody one anyhow, married or single. In fact, I discovers that six other unmarried girls, who just happened to be asking directions about seeing the city, had been rushed into court and divorced also.

* * * *

After that I asks no more questions, but keeps poking around town until I finally sees my boy friend driving around in the car looking for me. I gets him to drive right on across country with no further delays.

* * * *

A girl has to live and learn.

Yours, IMA DODO.

MOBY STALIN GOES A-WHALING.

MORE bad news for business! Russia is going after the whaling industry in a big way. There is to be a Five Year Whale Plan (two and a half years for each end).

* * * *

The outlook for small whalers is pretty dark. In the past Russia has lacked any whaling system. Under the czars, indeed, the Russian masses were lucky to get horsefish. Everything larger than a walrus in the fish line went to the old aristocracy. All whaling was done by the czar and the Grand Duke Nicholas who, when the mood struck them, would drag out the royal harpoons and throw a whaling party for the best people only.

* * * *

"Let them eat cake!" she cried, throwing them codfish.

* * * *

But good-by to all that. Now that the masses have come into their own they are determined to have all the whales they want.

* * * *

UNDER the Five Year Plan, Stalin hopes to corner the whale market. The best whalers of the world have been summoned to Leningrad and Moscow for advice and leadership.

* * * *

If the plan succeeds it will kill the whaling industry in America, particularly in the interior cities like Chillicothe. An American with a whale won't know what to do with it. His only chance will be to hold it for the long pull.

* * * *

Whale trappers, skinners, stuffers and distributors will be laid off everywhere. The American whale industry will be paralyzed. Widows and orphans with their inheritances all invested in the best whaling securities will be wiped out. Harpoon factories on all sides will suspend.

* * * *

* * * *

And there is very little reason to think that Russia will fail in its whaling ambitions.

In fact, once the whales hear Stalin is after them, they may give themselves up.

HIT-AND-RUN DRIVER HELD TO GRAND JURY

Derby, Who Confesses His Car Killed Boy, Attends Coroner's Hearing.

A coroner's jury yesterday held Charles E. Derby, 53-year-old confessed hit-and-run driver, for action of the grand jury in connection with the death of William Robert Settle, jr., 7, of Silver Hill, Md., whose body was found late Tuesday in a clump of bushes off Naylor road southeast.

Derby will go before the grand jury Tuesday morning to tell his story. His statement, relating the details of how he struck the Settle child who was walking home from school with a 7-year-old companion, was read to the coroner's jury by Detective William Wright, of the Eleventh Precinct.

Meanwhile arrangements were completed for the funeral today of the schoolboy victim. Services will be held at the funeral home of William J. Nalley, 522 Eighth street southeast, at 11:30 o'clock this morning. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery, Minnieville, Va.

Chum Unable to Testify.

William Von Garrel, classmate of the Settle boy, in the first grade of the Stanton School, whose story of the tragedy led to the discovery of his chum's body and the apprehension of Derby, was too frightened to testify when placed on the stand at yesterday's hearing.

Policeman Chester Smith, of the Eleventh Precinct, to whom William Von Garrel sobbed his story Tuesday night, took the stand and gave a brief rehearsal of the child's account.

Smith said the child told him the two boys were on their way home from school when a car approached at high speed, on the wrong side of the road. The Von Garrel boy said he leaped aside, but his companion was caught on the fender of the car. He said Settle was flung from the road and he was unable to find him after the accident.

Derby said he did not care to elaborate on the statement read by Detective Wright. The confession stated that the two children separated when his car approached, the Von Garrel child running to the right of the road. Derby swung to the left to avoid hitting him, the statement read, striking the Settle youth. It continued that he "was too scared to think about anything" afterward.

Arrest Is Related.

Policeman Thomas Hayes, who later intercepted Derby for speeding, before the accident became known, testified he overtook the man on Alabama avenue after chasing him several blocks from Naylor road. He said he took him to the precinct when he observed that he "was too nervous and excited to drive his car."

Another witness, Irving Lumpkins, 125 Atlantic street southeast, owner of the car, told the jury there were no dents on the machine before he lent it to Derby. A dent was found in the left fender of the car Tuesday night, police said.

Establish Office for Dredging.

Salisbury, Md., June 18 (A.P.).—In order to have proper Federal supervision of eight Government dredging projects now under way on the Eastern Shore, a subdistrict of the United States engineer's office in Baltimore has been established here, with C. C. Warner in charge.

COTTON CROP LESS IN NORTH CAROLINA

Reduction Reported as 15 Per Cent; Average in Nation Lower.

Raleigh, N. C., June 18 (A.P.).—The estimated cotton reduction in North Carolina will be 15 per cent less this year than last and use of commercial fertilizers will be reduced 26 per cent. The estimate was made by the board of directors of the North Carolina Cotton Growers Cooperative Association.

Each of the twelve members of the board has given the estimated reduction in his district and these figures were averaged to get the basis for the announcement. Every cotton growing district in the State is represented on the board.

Jute Bagging Abandoned.

The board has adopted a resolution pledging support to the movement launched by Cason J. Callaway, president of the American Cotton Manufacturers Association, to bale lint in cotton bagging instead of jute. The directors also plan to work through Congress for the passage of an act to sell cotton on a net weight instead of a gross weight basis.

Reports from field men of the State cooperative indicate that considering dry weather this year's crop is making satisfactory progress, it was said.

"With the exception of the western part, Texas is dry and needing rain," reports the American Cotton Association. "The crop is late and rain needed in Arkansas and Tennessee. Drought is becoming acute in most of Georgia. It is getting dry in all sections of Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama."

1930 Cotton to Be Held.

U. S. Bialock, of Raleigh, general manager of the State cooperative, said directors of the American Association estimate a reduction of from 10 to 12 per cent in the American cotton acreage this year as compared to last year and a decline in the use of commercial fertilizers ranging from 25 per cent in the Eastern States to 60 per cent in Mississippi.

The directors of the American Association, Mr. Bialock said, have unanimously decided that, since present holdings are financed for a three-year period if necessary no 1930 cotton will be sold at present prices.

Halifax County Farmer Held in Fatal Shooting

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., June 18.—Garland Moore, Halifax County farmer, was held today for the fatal shooting of Jefferson Owen at Crystal Hill. Moore surrendered after the shooting, which took place, according to investigating officers, at the home of Mrs. W. C. Wrenn, the accused man's sister.

Arriving at the home, officers said they were told, Moore became involved in a family quarrel which resulted in his drawing a revolver and shooting Owen three times. Owen fled from the house and his dead body, with three wounds, was found later 100 yards from the house.

WINCHESTER MECCA TO WORLD WAR BODY

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., June 18.—Committees were whipping plans into shape today for ninth annual encampment of the Virginia Department of Veterans of Foreign Wars, to be held here June 21-25. Reports reaching headquarters from different sections of the State indicated an attendance of approximately 600 delegates, according to A. Lee Coble, chairman of the local committee.

Winchester Post, Capt. George H. Grim, commander, will be official host. Headquarters will be established at the George Washington Hotel.

Capt. A. O. Lynch, Norfolk, State commander, will preside over meetings of the veterans' organization, and Mrs. C. B. Nerren, Roanoke, president of the Women's Auxiliary, will conduct sessions of that branch at Handley Library. Numerous social functions have been arranged for both branches, including smokers, baseball games, luncheons, dances and sight-seeing tours.

Local committees say attendance is expected to set a record for Virginia encampments of the organization. Largest delegations are to come from lower Virginia, due to friendly rivalry, it was said, over the State commandership, and posts from around Portsmouth, Norfolk, Newport News and other Tidewater sections have arranged to bring impressive delegations to boost their particular candidates.

Many will be accompanied by drum and bugle corps. In addition, points in nearby sections of Maryland, West Virginia, southeastern Pennsylvania and the District of Columbia will be represented.

National figures are scheduled for addresses. They include Col. Fred Stover, Butler, Pa., past commander in chief; Mrs. Joseph H. Harken, Ravere, Mass., past national auxiliary president; James E. Van Zandt, Altoona, Pa., national chief of staff; Capt. Edwin S. Betelheim, jr., Washington, national legislative chairman, and Capt. James W. Boyer, Washington, national citizens' military training camp chairman.

Memorial service Sunday afternoon is to be addressed by Capt. Carleton Penn, Roanoke, past State commander. A sightseeing tour will be followed by a reception for auxiliary officers. Mayor F. A. Shryock will officially welcome delegates Monday morning. The Overseas Drum and Bugle Corps, Washington, will lead the annual department parade Monday afternoon. A banquet and dance will be held in the evening. Business sessions will be held Tuesday.

The Virginia department, formed in 1923, now has 26 posts and 9 auxiliaries, with a total membership exceeding 2,000. New posts have been formed in the last week or two at Staunton, Shenandoah and Bedford.

Roanoke Driver Held On Drunkenness Charge

Special to The Washington Post.

Lynchburg, Va., June 18.—Joseph Louvane, of Roanoke, was fined $122 and given 30 days at the city farm here today on charges of driving an automobile while drinking. Two plain clothes policemen tried to stop him in front of the city hall about midnight, but instead he speeded up his car, trying to escape, it was charged. At the end of Church street he ran into a barrier, damaging his car. He was not hurt.

Children Will Get Vacations.

Chestertown, Md., June 18 (A.P.).—The first of 400 to 500 underprivileged children from New York City are expected to start vacations July 1 on the Delmarva Eastern Shore under direction of the Fresh Air Fund of New York, aided by voluntary hostesses of the fourteen-county area.
